Anna Nelson Borasch of Des Moines Iowa is the murdered girl whose bleaching bones were found on the slopes of Mt Tamalpais and Joseph Lynn is the murderer according to an inspiration that came to Mrs Minnie Beems a sympathetic telepathist whose home is in Alameda She says it came to her when she was crossing an empty lot at San Antonio avenue and Park street on February 11th She notified the San Francisco police A telegram was sent to Des Moines and the police received the response today that a Swedish woman by the name of Anna Nelson Borasch had disappeared from there several years ago Mrs Beems also has a picture of the murdered girl which she says she found among the bushes in the lot where the grewsome murder was revealed to her

The girl was 27 years old She came to this country when 3 years old according to the psychic Joseph Lynn murdered the woman on September 9th when the two made a trip up the mountain she says A small hand satchel containing $300 which the woman carried was the motive for the deed

TRIED TO ROB HER

Mrs Borasch and the man went into a long shed on Mount Tamalpais and the man attempted to rob her She ran outside and was followed to the spot where her body was found She was dealt a vicious blow on the head which killed her almost instantly

Mrs Beems says the murderer is 5 feet 10 inches in heighth smooth shaven has a heavy set jaw mouse brown hair and the color of his eyes are blue He has a peculiar walk due to an injury to one of his legs in his youth His weight is 160 pounds After the murder he took passage on a steamer bound for the Orient but went to Australia and has since remained there According to the telegram received by the San Francisco police Mrs Borasch deserted her husband and came to San Francisco Mrs Beems has never been in Des Moines and did not know that the woman was missing

Cruisers Boom Salute When Admiral Retires

Giles B Harber Hoists Flag On California in Place of Uriel Sebree.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 19—Amid the roar of the guns of the armored cruisers anchored in the bay and an answering salute from the naval training station on Yerba Buena Island the flag of Rear Admiral Giles B Harber as commander of the Pacific fleet, was raised on the flagship California today and Rear Admiral Uriel Sebree retired after forty seven years of active service

According to present orders the cruisers will leave here in two weeks for target practice in southern waters.

Mayor Mott at the Meeting of Lincoln-Roosevelt League Today.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 19—The Lincoln-Roosevelt League held their adjourned meeting this morning in their offices in the Metropolis Bank building but the important question of who is to be their candidate for governor was not considered during the session It was considerably after 11 o clock before the meeting was called to order Twenty one of the thirty members were present and seven of the absentees were represented by proxy Former Governor Pardee held the proxy for Mayor Mott of Oakland and several others

The principal business of the morning was appointment of committees on publicity and registration The former included M J Kuhl A J Pillsbury and E A Dixon The meeting will be resumed at 2 p m

MOTT AT MEETING

Just before the adjournment for noon Mayor Mott left the committee room He would not state whether or not his name was under consideration as a candidate for governor Many of his friends joked with him as he left the place, asking if the reason for his retiring was his modesty, intimating that perhaps his name was before the committee for consideration The mayor explained further that what action the committee did take would not be in the nature of a nomination or endorsement of any candidate He seemed anxious to have his friends understand that his presence in the committee room was the result of an invitation to confer with the members of the party

DELEGATES PRESENT

First district—Harold T Powers second district Colonel E A Forbes, Marysville third district F K Mott, Frank Devlin Vallejo C T Young Berkeley, fourth district Thomas C Haven San Francisco Ralph Hathorn San Francisco, Charles E Bentley San Francisco, Arthur Greenebaum and Daniel Ryan fifth district G T Radcliffe, Watsonville Irving Martin, sixth district M C Zumwalt Tulare seventh district Lee T Gaten A. Appeal to Mayor Mott and City Attorney Stetson

TO HAVE EIGHTH-STREET BRIDGE IMMEDIATELY REPAIRED FOR TRAFFIC

To Hon. Frank K. Mott, Mayor of Oakland, and Hon. John W. Stetson, City Attorney:

We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Oakland, respectfully appeal to you, as official head and chief law officer of the city respectively, to exert all your official power and influence to have the Eighth street bridge placed in condition for traffic as promptly as the work can be done. Eight street has been blockaded for more than a year, to the great inconvenience and financial injury of a large body of citizens. The closing of one of the main thoroughfares of the city for so long a period is a reproach to the city government and a shame to the municipality. We appeal to you to remedy the condition, to give us relief, and remove a barrier to trade and development in the southern section of the city. The condition has become intolerable.

BRIBE OFFERED CHARGED IN TRIAL FOR MURDER

Juror in Tong War Case Against Gee Gong Makes Startling Accusation.

SUM OF HUNDRED DOLLARS IS TENDERED FOR VOTE

Talesman George V. Draeger Causes Sensation in Superior Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 19 — Sensational charges of an attempt to corruptly influence a talesman in the recent highbinder trial of Gee Gong, the first of the tong war murder cases was revealed this morning when George V. Draeger, a hardware merchant, of 799 McAllister street, testified that he had practically been offered $100 for his vote in that case

This startling disclosure was revealed during a special session before the trial jurist Judge Dunne this morning His honor had left the bench at 11 15 o clock and court had ostensibly adjourned for the day He returned five minutes later and the inquiry was conducted by Prosecutor William Hoff Cook who appeared together with Assistant District Attorney McNutt when the hearing was had.

10 TO 2 FOR ACQUITTAL

Gong was accused of the murder of Yee Yup Woo, who was killed during the hostilities between the On Yik Tong and Yee family The jury stood 10 to 2 for acquittal, jurors Sloe and Baker holding out in favor of the Chinese

Draeger, who's on the panel, requested Judge Dunne to release him for business reasons but the real aspect of the case was not revealed until today

TALK OF PASSING MONEY.

"It was about 7 15 in the evening," said the hardware merchant beginning his story, "when a man about five feet ten inches tall, 45 years old, came into my place I was waiting on a customer and pretty soon another man came in and engaged the first in conversation I got through with my customer and noticed that the two men were talking about Chinese highbinder cases I had seen the taller man before The other was about five feet six inches tall and of a stout build and florid complexion The taller man said to me 'You're on the Chinese case' I said 'yes Then another party came in and I went and waited on him and after that I heard the tall man say 'well, I know there's $100 in it for somebody in this case' I saw what way the tide was drifting and I didn t want to get into any complication, but I said 'if the evidence were sufficient to convict him I'd hang him'"

SPECTATOR ASKED TO RISE.

Joseph Brockman who was in the audience, was here asked to rise, but Draeger could not identify him as the short man

"You knew the men were testing you out as to whether you would take $100 didn't you?" asked Attorney Cook

"That is the way I put it," was the reply.

"You were satisfied after thinking it over that they were trying to bribe you?"

"I think that if I d had said 'I guess we can fix it up I d have got the $100"

The witness declared that he did not know that he had been in contempt of court in failing to report it to the judge, but thought that he had better be excused from the case

"I didn't have anything on which to substantiate my belief in the matter." he concluded

MAY TRACE SEQUENCE.

"What you have told us, said Judge Dunne "is very instructive not to say illuminative This was tried just before the Conboy case and I think perhaps we can trace out the sequence

When you asked to be excused did you have the idea that the jury was being tampered with?" inquired Cook.

"Yes, I felt they could fix somebody else, and I didn t want to sit here and waste a week s time,' was the answer.

BROCKMAN QUESTIONED

Joseph Brockman a tailor, of 1062 McAllister street, was next summoned forward, and put through the traces He became quite confused on the witness stand, could not tell when he had been

ONE BOY ESCAPES MURDER BY FLEEING FROM HOUSE

Father Leaves Note Saying He Is to Blame for All of Troubles.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 19.--George Stevens, son of a prominent mine operator, shot and killed three of his little children, shot and dangerously wounded their colored nurse and then shot and killed himself.

The ending of his own life followed a chase through three rooms in an effort to kill his eldest child a 10 year old son, who escaped

The lad ran screaming from the house and told passing neighbors of the carnage he had just witnessed Four men entered the house and while they were reaching to stay the hand of the man he turned the revolver upon himself

In a search of the rooms the following note was found on a desk used by the dead man

"I'm to blame for it all."

Stephens was one of the best known men in this city He was 45 years old and highly esteemed Up to the time of the death of his wife a year ago the family was prominent in society, and the death of Mrs Stephens was a shock to the community.

Stephens at once retired into seclusion, and has brooded over his loneliness until friends recently expressed the fear that his melancholy would destroy his reason, and efforts were made to aid him in many ways For a few months he seemed to have shaken off his condition and to have been somewhat restored to cheerfulness, but a week ago he returned to his former hermit style of life.

More Bodies Found in St. Paul Coal Mine

Top Boss Who was Shot Is Reported in a Dying Condition.

CHERRY, Ill, Feb 19—Four more bodies were taken out of the St. Paul coal mine today This makes a total of 126 bodies recovered since the disaster of November 3 It is estimated that 173 bodies are yet to be found.

Charles L Atherton, known as the "top boss," who was shot while at his post of duty by Metas Mancitch, yesterday, was reported today to be dying.

Find Former Banker Dead in Wabash River

He Had Served Term for Embezzlement and Thought to Have Killed Himself.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Feb 19 — The body of John F Johnson former president of the State National Bank of this city, was found floating in the Wabash river today

Johnson served six years in prison following his confession that he had embezzled $556,000 of the bank's funds. Recently he had been a grain broker.

CANDIDATES IN PRIMARIES CANNOT REGISTER VOTERS

County Clerk Cook Announces Decision and Says He Intends to Have Alameda Roll Best in History of District

All requests made upon him by candidates for office to appoint as deputy registration clerks the persons who will circulate their respective petitions for places on the ballots to be used at the coming primary election will be refused by County Clerk John P Cook This he decided upon today A number of candidates for both state and county offices have earnestly urged the county clerk to confer registration authority upon their petition circulators in order that they might register a voter if this was the only obstacle to his signing the nomination petition but to all he has refused to comply In this connection County Clerk Cook gave out the following statement this forenoon

I have decided to courteously but firmly refuse to appoint any petition circulators as deputy registration clerks This determination is based upon my desire to prevent any possible negligence in the work of registering the voters of the county

The registration bureau of my office is now registering several hundred voters daily and it will not be long ere there are plenty of voters enrolled and therefore eligible to sign the petitions of the respective candidates

WOULD AVOID MISTAKES

If I were to appoint petition canvassers as deputy registration clerks it might lead to all sorts of mistakes entanglements and confusion and result in losses of the registration sheets by careless men To avoid this it is my intention to exercise the utmost care in safeguarding the interests of all voters who register for the coming primary and fall elections After the field work which is not well under way is finished it is my intention to appoint special registration deputies in all parts of the county to gather up the odds and ends of the registration as it were These deputies will be chosen from among the most responsible and reliable citizens and as far as possible they will be merchants and other business men upon whom I know I can depend to do their work well and faithfully

"I confidently expect that the new registration system that has been inaugurated will result in the heaviest enrollment of voters in the political history of the county And this will mean that at the forthcoming primaries and election the vote polled will be the largest ever cast in Alameda county Every voter who chooses to exercise his franchise will have an opportunity to register

TRAVELING REGISTRATION BUREAU

The registration bureau of the county clerk's office is now a touring department It consists of Registrar Harry E Magill and seven clerks and is holding remarkable and unique registration meetings in the outlying towns and districts almost every evening At these meetings hundreds of voters are placing their names upon the Great Register of the county The itinerant bureau was in Pleasanton last night and registered more than 75 per cent of the voters there Tonight the registrar and his field force will hold a meeting at Livermore and secure as many registrations as possible

The supreme court decision that there must be a new registration upon which candidates may base their petitions has resulted in great activity among the voters to get their names upon the Great Register as soon as possible This rush is being efficiently handled under County Clerk Cook's system of field registration and is a speedy solution of the enrollment problem which otherwise would have been a great annoyance to candidates and voters alike The schedule of registration meetings for next week is as follows

Wednesday night, February 23—Sunol
Thursday night, February 24—Warm Springs
Friday night, February 25—Irvington
Saturday night February 26—Centerville

INJUNCTION TO KEEP HIM AWAY

Celia Fleming Invokes Law to Get Rid of Her Husband.

Celia Fleming obtained an injunction this forenoon in the Superior Court restraining her husband Adelbert Fleming a planing mill turner, from annoying her during the pendency of her suit for a divorce which was instituted several days ago

After Mrs Fleming left her husband on account of his alleged brutalities, she opened a boarding house at 1212 Jefferson street and in her petition for an injunction she told the court that since beginning her divorce suit Fleming persisted in annoying her by hanging around her house until she had to leave home to escape him that he kicked up such a fuss among the boarders as to drive many of them away and that in other ways he had been making life miserable for her

"Colonial Dessert"

We always celebrate Washington's birthday by making an extra fine dessert and this year to cap the climax we are going to offer the Colonial dessert for four days—Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

In the days of the colonists ice cream was probably an unknown luxury Most of their fancy desserts were made of fruits and nuts and of all the hazel nut is mentioned most frequently

The rich sweet hazel nut meat lends itself well to the flavoring of desserts and we considered it most appropriate for the basis of our annual Colonial Dessert

In order to give variety we have added to the hazel nut ice cream a layer of Apricot Water Ice and a layer of Vanilla Ice Cream which makes a perfectly ideal combination

If you're going to have your big dinner tomorrow you'd better order tonight It is one of the best bricks we ever made and you'll all like it

HOYT CALLED AND GLAVIS LEAVES STAND

Is Questioned Regarding the Efficiency of First Witness.

WASHINGTON Feb 19 — The cross examination of Louis R Glavis was unexpectedly announced as finished when the Ballinger Pinchot investigation committee met today and Henry M Hoyt attorney for Porto Rico was called to the stand

Hoyt's testimony corroborated that given by Glavis as to taking the Alaska coal cases up with Attorney General Wickersham and had to do with the stipulation omitting the name of R A Ballinger as attorney from the Wilson coal land case Hoyt said it was his own suggestion that the stipulation was made but that a [illegible] Ballinger's names does appear in the record many times

When adjournment was taken until 2 p m it was expected that Gifford Pinchot would take the stand late this afternoon

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE

Vertress introduced documentary evidence containing denials by the interested parties that there ever was an escrow agreement in the Wilson case Glavis has charged that Ballinger's action in drawing up this alleged agreement was a criminal act but that the statute of limitations prevented action on it

Hoyt said the only evidence of this agreement was an informal statement made by Watson Allen which was taken down by a stenographer who could not read her notes correctly To clear all the matters however the committee has sent to Seattle for the entire court records in the Wilson coal cases

Gifford Pinchot could not be located during the luncheon adjournment and his testimony could not be taken today

The inquiry was adjourned at 1 30 p m until Friday February [illegible] at 10 a m

WASHINGTON Feb 19 — Attorney Vertrees sprang a surprise this morning at the Ballinger Pinchot hearing by announcing that he did not care to cross examine Louis R Glavis any further Henry M Hoyt, Attorney General of Porto Rico, was called as the second witness for the 'prosecution"

When the committee adjourned late yesterday there was no indication that the examination of Glavis was approaching an end He had not been questioned as to his many conversations with Mr Ballinger and especially the one in which Glavis declared Ballinger asked him not to press the investigation of certain coal claimants until after the campaign in 1908

When Mr Vertrees announced the close of the cross examination, Attorney Brandeis said he desired to make no re-direct examination Mr Hoyt then was called He said he had been United States Attorney at Nome Alaska from 1904 to 1907 After that he was a special assistant in the Department of Justice until he was appointed attorney general of Porto Rico

Mr Brandeis first questioned the witness as to his knowledge of Glavis service to the government

"His work always was of a very high order," replied the witness.

THE WICKERSHAM VISIT

The witness was next questioned as to the circumstances leading up to his visit to Attorney General Wickersham at the request of Glavis to protest against the Pierce interpretation of the coal land act of 1908

Hoyt said he and Glavis felt that Mr Wickersham would reach conclusions different from those of Mr Pierce

I told the attorney general he went on that I knew Glavis to be an honorable and upright young man I also said that Glavis knew he was doing an unusual thing in going over the heads of his superiors but that he would let the matter drop if Mr Wickersham agreed with Mr Pierce

"I said I did not think that lands of the value of the Alaska coal fields should be allowed to pass from the government on the opinion of any less official than that of the attorney general that otherwise there would be a big scandal Wickersham agreed that he should act on the matter and said he would fix it up with Mr Ballinger

"He said he would also say something for Glavis that the inspector had been over zealous perhaps

The witness was asked about his knowledge of the stipulation in the Wilson coal cases wherein it was agreed that Mr Ballinger's name as attorney in drawing up an escrow agreement was to be left out of the record Hoyt was counsel for the government in this case He said that Watson Allen an old man was the witness who said an agreement had been drawn up in Mr Ballinger's office

After getting his statement said Hoyle I suggested counsel on the other side that Ballinger's name be left out of the record I said that Ballinger at that time was commissioner of the land office and if his name appeared uninformed people might draw the conclusion that Judge Ballinger had been mixed up in some fraudulent deal The attorney for the other side Murphy agreed with me but Watson Allen in his testimony did mention Ballinger's name several times

This ended the direct examination

On cross examination Hoyt said the suggestion as to leaving out Ballinger's name was entirely his own He said from the conversation with Glavis he had drawn the conclusion that the Cunningham claims were much more extensive than he afterward learned The escrow agreement was never produced in the Wilson case Mr Hoyt said his recollection of the incidents was hazy that the court record would be the best evidence

When Glavis first came to him about the Pierce decision Hoyt said he had suggested that Horace D Taft a brother of the President was an old friend of his and he thought that through him the matter could be got to the President For one reason or another it was decided to go direct to the attorney general

FIELD AGENTS REPORTS

Hoyt was on the stand a little more than an hour When he was excused Brandeis began to offer in evidence a number of papers including field agents daily reports recently received from the Interior Department

In one of the letters read Special Agent H K Love under date of April 16 1908 took issue with the land office as to the clear listing of the Cunningham claims Love said his report of August [illegible] 1907 did not clear list the claims but raised a question as to their regularity although I had previously clear listed them

Hoyt was recalled to identify records in the Wilson case He read an original memorandum written by himself as to the stipulation for leaving out Mr Ballinger's name As a matter of fact he said Ballinger's name appeared 15 or 20 times

DENY THE AGREEMENT

Vertrees introduced in evidence the testimony of Watson Allen and two Wilson girls in the Wilson cases in which all three deny that there ever was an escrow agreement

Mr Hoyt here was released

Chief Clerk Leaves Postoffice Department

WASHINGTON, Feb 19—Richard P Covert today tendered to Postmaster General Hitchcock his resignation as chief clerk of the Postoffice Department to accept the position of assistant superintendent of the division of salaries and allowances of the [illegible] departments with headquarters on the Pacific Coast probably Los Angeles

He will be succeeded as chief clerk by Theodore M Weed now chief clerk of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who was closely associated with Mr Hitchcock during the last national campaign

BRIBE OFFERED IN MURDER CASE

up and when downstairs during the trial but maintained stoutly that he had never been in the court room

He answered in the affirmative when questioned as to whether he knew Attorney Frank J Murphy Attorney F P Carpenter and Attorney Douglass but denied being in their office at 331 Kearny street He admitted that he might have offered to bet $20 that the jury would disagree with a Mr Tierney a Chinatown guide He was interrogated as to his friendship for various persons and finally Judge Dunne wanted to know why he did not stay and tend to his business He explained that he was a sufferer from stomach trouble and declared that he had been away five or six weeks in the country

FOR GOOD OF COMMUNITY

It would be a mighty good thing for this community if you'd go away and stay away indefinitely declared Judge Dunne after he had learned that Brockman spent a great deal of his time in and about the court

Juror David Baker was called and questioned as to whether he had been approached He was one of those who voted for acquittal and in reply to the query answered

The only occurrence that happened in that matter occurred on the sidewalk in front of the court room I was talking with one of the jurors when two men began speaking of the Chinese case saying I understand this Chinaman got the best of the others I stepped back and noticed them walk towards where Deputy Sheriff Ryan had Gee Gong in custody The shorter man shook hands with the defendant

Baker's description of the tall and short man tallied with Draeger's

IN CONBOY TRIAL

Francis Leroy Cook one of the jurors who stood for acquittal in the Conboy case was next interrogated but other than rehearsing a meeting with John Lagan a cousin of the stricken man he gave little of importance

At the conclusion of the session Attorney Cook announced to the court that it was evident to him that there had been tampering with the jury panel in his department

There is no doubt about it said the jurist

CHARGES FILED

Cook then stated that he believed Brockman had been in contempt of court and should be sent to jail for that if not for a more serious charge He next filed two affidavits in which he charged John Doe and Richard Roe with an attempt to bribe George A Draeger and the case was continued for one week when more evidence will be heard

Will purchase a homesite in the garden spot of East Oakland, on the East 14th-Street car line and on the Southern Pacific's new electric loop trains from the Alameda Mole. This choice new residence section is

fact no. 8

Iveywood is today the best real estate investment in the bay district There is going to be some big improvements in this section this summer, improvements that will make values jump

And the people who are back of this movement are none other than the Southern Pacific Company, through their subsidiary company, the Peninsular Railway Company.

They are going to electricize the Alameda mole trains and build a loop out around Iveywood. This is no idle fancy, the track is laid within a block of Iveywood now.

When these trains start running every dollar you have put into Iveywood will double and treble

How to Reach IVEYWOOD

In Oakland all cars transfer you to San Leandro or Hayward cars Tell the conductor to let you off at IVEYWOOD

From San Francisco take either ferry and then take Horseshoe train which connects with Iveywood train at Fruitvale, or take Melrose local and transfer to East Fourteenth street cars; take Key Route to Twelfth and Broadway, Oakland, and transfer to San Leandro and Hayward cars.

Bring the folks and come out to IVEYWOOD. When you see the property our low prices will appeal to you; lots are selling for from $365.00 upwards; 10% down and the balance in monthly payments. And, remember, no taxes and no interest for two years. Or, we will build a home to your plans on the lot you select for an initial payment of $300 00, and the balance monthly. Now is the time to own a home in the warm, even temperatured district at IVEYWOOD. Come and see this choice district

Mail us this coupon for our new booklet

Please tell me how I can own a homesite in IVEYWOOD by paying only 12c a day. Also, kindly send me full information regarding this choice property.

SENATOR TILLMAN HAS A SLIGHT CHANCE

Condition of the South Carolina Statesman Still Grave.

WILL LOSE SPEECH IF HE SHOULD RECOVER

Children Gather at Bedside of the Unconscious Father.

WASHINGTON Feb 19—The condition of Senator Tillman of South Carolina who is ill with paralysis continues extremely grave He passed a fairly quiet night and the only unfavorable symptom which developed was the loss of consciousness shortly before midnight The change in his condition in this respect ocurred with the break of day He was unable to recognize anyone this morning and this increased the sorrowful burden of the loved ones surrounding him

Dr Pickford said today that the Senator had a chance of recovery but that was about all It is not believed there is any immediate danger of a fatal turn in his condition But even should he recover the inability to articulate will be the saddest feature of his illness In all probability it is said he will not completely regain the power of speech and will never again be able to [illegible] his [illegible] convictions by the [illegible] for which he has been noted throughout the land

CHILDREN AT BEDSIDE

Henry C and Sallie May Tillman son and daughter of the Senator traveled their father's bedside early today They were summoned by telegraph yesterday from Greenwood S C The Senator's wife and their eldest son Benjamin R Tillman Jr have been with him since the inception of his illness

The apartments of the popular Southerner are being besieged by inquiries delivered in person by telegraph and telephone No sooner had word of the Senator's serious condition gone forth than messages of sympathy began to pour in Always a worthy opponent he possessed the happy faculty of maintaining the respect and love of those who differed with him in political faith and Republicans and Democrats alike are among the anxious inquirers

At 11 o'clock Dr Pickford issued the following bulletin on Senator Tillman's condition

Senator Tillman is resting comfortably this morning passed a most satisfactory night Paralysis and aphasia unchanged Temperature pulse and respiration normal Prognosis favorable if present condition can be maintained a few days longer

LOOKS LIKE FRISCO FOR THE BIG FIGHT, SAYS TEX RICKARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 19—"It looks now as if the big fight would come to San Francisco" said Tex Rickard today as, accompanied by Jack Gleason he started on a trip of inspection of the various arena sites offered to the promoters of the Jeffries Johnson match

After a short conference with Gleason Rickard declared that he had no feeling against holding the fight here and was only waiting to be met half way by the municipal authorities from whom a permit must be procured The only admission made by Jeffries in the controversy as to the location of the fight was the assertion that he could train better here than any other place where he has ever prepared for a match

Gleason announced that a conference between himself and Rickard tonight would definitely decide the location of the fight

FIRES AT WOMAN IN PULLMAN CAR

Mrs. Louis J. Salomon Has Close Call While Passing Through New Mexico.

LOS ANGELES Feb 19—Louis J Salomon a retired New York banker and his wife who arrived here to spend the balance of the winter tell a remarkable story of an attempt to shoot Mrs Salomon while they were crossing New Mexico three days ago

"As the train was pulling out of Gallup" said Mr Salomon today, "I was looking out of the window just before dusk and was horrified to see a man standing by the track pointing a revolver at the window of our compartment My wife was resting on a pillow opposite me and when I saw him about to pull the trigger I shouted at her The bullet went about a foot above her head and imbedded itself in the woodwork of the ceiling

At the next stop sixteen miles from Gallup the conductor telegraphed back a description of the man and the outrage Whether or not he was captured I do not know

Coin Is Stolen From Sailor on Estuary

While Robert McLey a member of the crew of the steamer Prentoss at anchor in the Oakland harbor at the foot of Sixth avenue was ashore yesterday some one on the ship stole a purse containing $4 from the pocket of a pair of trousers hanging in his berth After reporting his loss to the captain of the vessel McLey complained to the police who believe that some one aboard the ship is responsible for the theft The matter is under investigation.

INCOMPETENCY OF CITY ENGINEER F. C. TURNER

Such Is the Charge Which Protestants Declare Is the Cause of Closing the Eighth-Street Bridge

Skilled workers in the building trades are among the later protestants against the long closing of the Eighth-street bridge to traffic and the failure of City Engineer Turner to provide a temporary roadway at least whereby traffic may be resumed and the inconvenience of being compelled to take the roundabout route across the Twelfth-street dam which is being congested almost to the limit of its capacity.

The skilled workers in the building trades have a clear and practical knowledge of engineering and they freely charge that Turner is displaying incompetency in his failure to devise a remedy for the present conditions and a quick and effective means of applying them.

Prominent business men—merchants, contractors, hotel-keepers, realty men and dealers in structural supplies—are aroused to the highest pitch of indignation and find difficulty in commanding fitting language to express their denunciation of the incompetency of the City Engineer and the unwarranted delay in putting the roadway in passable condition.

The newly annexed district is also up in arms against the closing of the Eighth-street bridge and at a meeting of the civic league, an organization representing the various improvement clubs in the annexed district, held last evening resolutions strongly denouncing its closure to traffic were unanimously adopted. Here are more protests recorded today:

TURNER NEARLY RUINED THE CITY.

City Engineer Turner's inability to cope with the greater problems of engineering is best shown in the citation that it is J. T. Flynn who holds the laurels for having devised the system of docks projected for the Oakland harbor. Had the Turner plans been accepted by Mayor Mott, Oakland would have been shorn of its position as a port for deep sea vessels. As told in an interview with W. E. Gibson of the Polytechnic College of Engineering, who is also secretary of the California Rivers and Harbor League, Turner's plans for the improvement of the south water front would have, if adopted, sounded the death knell of the city's commercial future. "Engineer Turner's plans," said Mr. Gibson, "contemplated a row of toothpick piers extending out from the shore line in a manner that would have obstructed the harbor and rendered it unfit for any other purpose than a port for the small coasting vessels. The government fixes a pier head line beyond which obstructions are not permitted. In Mr. Turner's plans he designed that the docks should extend out to the fixed lines of the government. One of his docks was to be 420 feet in length. This would not have accommodated the vessels that are 600 feet in length for the reason that there would not have been room enough in the harbor for them to turn about, and furthermore, such a craft could not have docked at the wharf for the reason that 180 feet of its length would have projected beyond the pier head line.

"As will be remembered it was through the agitation of the Harbor League that the Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organizations had their attention drawn to the utter futility of the plans submitted by Turner to benefit Oakland commercially, and that they would be a disaster if adopted. He had Mayor Mott converted to his ideas and it was only after considerable agitation had been aroused that the Mayor appointed an engineering commission, which, as is well known, rejected the Turner plans and accepted the bulkhead method as proposed by J. T. Flynn.

"During the meetings of the commission the City Engineer showed but little interest in the problem that was of such vital interest to the future welfare of Oakland, and to my recollection he only attended one sitting of the commission of engineers. Other men would have grasped at the opportunity to earn laurels for themselves, but he evidently did not care for the glory that might have been his. Instead he had nothing to suggest after submitting the plans which the layman can now appreciate would have spelled commercial disaster to this city's future commercial greatness had they been adopted."

PROTEST OF THE CIVIC LEAGUE.

The Civic League of Greater Oakland, representing manq allied improvement clubs of the annexed territory, held a largely attended meeting last night in Old Masonic hall on East Fourteenth street, near Fruitvale avenue, and discussed many matters of importance to the new districts of the city. Frank J. Gordon, president of the league, was chairman, and the secretary, A. A. Leonard, read the communications.

The condition of the Eighth street bridge at Lake Merritt was denounced in vigorous terms by many of the members. Following the addresses the league unanimously adopted the following resolution

"Whereas, the Eighth street bridge has now been closed for more than a year, leaving only one avenue of communication between the central part of Oakland and the eastern section of Alameda county, thereby greatly discommoding merchants and citizens owning vehicles, and

"Whereas, reports are current to the effect that the bridge roadway repairs will not be completed until certain basements under new buildings are excavated to furnish earth to use in filling in the Eighth street bridge; and

"Whereas, the great delay shown in restoring this important thoroughfare to the traffic of thousands of drivers of all kinds of vehicles has proved detrimenetal to the welfare of the residents of the annexed territory of the city of Oakland; therefore be it

"Resolved, that the Civic League of Greater Oakland, assembled in regular session, hereby courteously and firmly protests against the apparent negligence of the city authorities in maintaining for many months this barrier to the traffic of the municipality and makes urgent request on his honor, Mayor Mott, and the Board of Public Works to adopt measures immediately which will result in the resumption of traffic across the bridge at the earliest possible date.

"(Signed) F J. GORDON, President

A. A. LEONARD, Secretary"

LET TURNER EXPLAIN.

Editor TRIBUNE: We are very much in the dark as to why the Eighth street bridge is closed and so to remain for some time. We do not care whether Turner apologizes or not. We want his reason for keeping back such an important work as the opening of this much needed throughfare. If our styled City Engineer Turner can not see his way clear to do his whole duty for his friends, voters and the public at large who have kept him in office, perhaps beyond the time of his usefulness, it is due them from him at least an explanation I believe we have a very competent mayor, one who is able to handle this dilemma of Turner's, Board of Works and City Council who are more than able to give this undertaking the right send-off The business men and the public of the new and old Oakland expect their interests attended to rightly and without unnecessary delay The old man, Healy, purchasing agent of the Central Pacific, is dead long since, but the public still lives and are not as we know of as yet be d——n'd, as he put it Again, I repeat, we do not wish Turner to apologize, we wish him to explain; we want to see that he earns his salary; we need this thoroughfare built at once. Whether he builds it or not it will be built. Our Mayor, Board of Public Works and City Council, all acting in unison, will have our much needed thoroughfare built and opened. We will then take time to hear what Mr. Turner has to say. One who worked hard to place Turner where he is

"With many thanks for the efforts of the 'HOME TRIBUNE.'

GEORGE H LEE,

1 Orange avenue, East Twenty-fourth street, East Oakland, Cal.

OPEN BRIDGE AT ONCE.

JAMES A. JOHNSON, Attorney-at-Law—The Eighth street causeway should be completed and opened for traffic without further delay. It has been closed too long. The condition of affairs there, if applied to either of the numerous arteries between Oakland and Berkeley, would not be tolerated for twenty-four hours. The traffic to the East from Central Oakland is immense, and two main streets, if both were open for use, are hardly suffcient to accommodate it. The return traffic is equal to that outgoing, making continuous and dangerous congestion on Twelfth street down.

I do not charge any particular official with the responsibility for existing conditions because I do not believe any one official is to blame. It is a task for the whole city administration to assume. The Board of Public Works, in conjunction with the city Council and the Mayor, should at once take up the subject and act vigorously and effectively.

OPEN WITHOUT DELAY.

WILLIAM CLUFF COMPANY—As regards the Eighth street bridge agitation, our opinion is that one road such as Twelfth street is not sufficient to bear all the traffic the necessities of a city the size of Oakland requires and we are heartily in favor of a substantial crossing being opened at Eighth street without delay.

ONLY ONE THOROUGHFARE.

D. O. STEGMAN, Manager Isleton Creamery—The tying up of Eighth street leaves but one thoroughfare connecting East Oakland with the business part of the city, and it is only a question of time when the heavy traffic will put the Twelfth street crossing out of business. The foundations are very unstable at the best and can not stand the continuous hard usage.

STREET SHOULD HAVE BEEN OPENED.

BURNS & HOWARD COMPANY—We are not thoroughly acquainted with the facts of the situation but from what we do know it is evident that the street should have been opened up some time ago.

IT IS A SHAME.

G. W. HATCH, of Hunt-Hatch Company—The great population of East Oakland demands a more adqeuate means of transportation to and from that district which is growing very rapidly. For a matter of a few dollars' outlay it is a shame that something has not been done long before this. Traffic on Twelfth street is often congested by heavy teams and the people should not be forced to rely upon that route exclusively in going to and from East Oakland.

ENGINEER TURNER IS ASLEEP.

C. C. BORTON, Secretary I. V. Ralph & Company, Tenth and Webster streets—Turner is asleep. There should be no question of expense in the matter whatsoever. That is the smallest consideration. There are so many reasons why the bridge should be opened that THE TRIBUNE would be unable to print them all

IS THERE GRAFT IN THE DEAL?

A. DECKER, Secretary Oakland Pioneer Soda Water Company, Tenth and Webster streets—There seems to be some graft in this proposition. Otherwise a street which is of such self-evident importance would be opened at once. I can see no reason in the world why the bridge should not be opened. The sooner this is done the better for this section of the city and all sections for that matter as the Twelfth street dam is bearing entirely too much of the traffic.

DETRIMENT TO TRADE.

R. M. KINNEY, Wholesale Plumber, Ninth and Franklin streets—Undoubtedly the Eighth street bridge should be opened as soon as possible There is at present only one passage to East Oakland and there is no reason in the world why there should not be two It is a great inconvenience to business houses in this section of the city and a detriment to trade.

ENGINEER TURNER'S MISTAKE.

F. B. HOUGH, Real Estate, 952 Broadway—I believe that it is an outrage that the Eighth street bridge is closed now or ever was closed. If the matter had been handled properly the excavations from the Bankers' Hotel should have been put in there. It is due to the taxpayers that it be opened regardless of the expense. If Turner has any desire to show any considration to that section of the city he should open that bridge immediately.

AN EMERGENCY CASE.

W. S. HARLOW, 952 Broadway—I believe just as little delay in the opening of the Eighth street bridge as possible should be permitted. As it is such an important avenue to East Oakland I should consider it an emergency case City Engineer Turner should do something about the matter at once.

IN A DEPLORABLE CONDITION.

D. W. HATCH, Commission Merchant, 324 Eleventh street—The Eighth street bridge should be opened. There is no question of a doubt about that. City Engineer Turner is surely in error in the matter and something should be done at once. The Eighth street artery is of entirely too great importance to be allowed to remain in the deplorable condition it is today.

SHOULD NOT BE TOLERATED.

F. A. OSBORN, Osborn Hardware Company—It is a disgrace to have the bridge in the condition it is at present. It is a breeding place for disease and should not be tolerated longer by the citizens of Oakland.

ATTEND TO THE WORK.

F. R. GRAY, S. & F. R. Gray, Real Estate—The only thing that I have to say is that the work on the bridge should be pushed as rapidly as possible. Personalities should not be indulged in but I do think that as long as the city engineer has that work in his charge he should see that it is attended to and not leave it for two years more.

ROTTEN PIECE OF BUSINESS.

F. S. COWEN, Cowen Coffee Company, 365 Twelfth street—It is a disgrace to the city and a rotten piece of business to have tolerated such an affair as has existed on the Eighth street bridge for so long. For a town of this size, all necessary improvements should be attended to the instant they are needed. This is a case where attention is urgent and that fact should be recognized by Mr. Turner.

TAKING UP A GOOD FIGHT.

J. C. MARRE, E. C. Marre & Brothers—Although I am not personally familiar with the condition of the bridge, I can state that THE TRIBUNE is taking up a good fight and that from all appearances the publicity it is giving to the question has been needed for a long time.

INJURES HIS BUSINESS.

A. F. GIMBAL, Manager, Pacific Woodenware and Paper Company—We have felt the effects of the closing of the Eighth street bridge in the falling-off of the orders that we were accustomed to receive from the stores in lower Broadway and the fact is that this loss is not balanced in the increase of business from the establishments at this end of the city. With only Twelfth street open it imposes too much travel on one thoroughfare and it is not convenient to all sections. THE TRIBUNE has struck a popular chord in its crusade for the opening of Eighth street and it is a move that is appreciated by every business man seeking to develop local trade. It was THE TRIBUNE that compelled the authorities to rush the completion of Twelfth street last winter and as long as it keeps on in those lines it will have the united support of the trade interests of Oakland.

CALLS ON MAYOR TO ACT.

A. M. SALINGER—The prolonged blockade of Eighth street has been a big detriment to the trade of this city and finds no justification in any excuse that the officials charged with the maintainence of public highways may have to offer Not only is it injurious to the shops on the lower part of Broadway but to the entire street. The fact is it will be found that much of the trade that under normal conditions came to Oakland from the towns of San Leandro and Hayward has decreased for the reason that the Twelfth street car lines have been so crowded with passengers during shopping hours that it is inconvenient and uncomfortable to travel in them Trade must be cultivated and to get people to come to the center of the city and make purchases it is necessary that every facility for comfort and convenience must be offered them to do so It is important that the street should be opened at once and the fact of expense connected with the opening of it is only an incident compared with the injury it is inflicting upon the stores and trade of the city. I am surprised that Mayor Mott has not taken the matter in hand before this and had the barricades taken down and the bridge opened. Now that the cry has become so general any further delay in the matter would reflect ill credit upon the Mayor if he has the power to order the work done and there is no doubt in my mind that his wishes in the matter woul be promptly considered.

TIME TO DO SOMETHING.

B. E. BONNELL, Foreman, Prauneder's Iron & Wire Works—I know that it is time that something be done to put the Eighth street bridge in condition to take care of the traffic. According to my personal opinion, it is absolutely up to Mr. Turner that the work be done as quickly as possible.

OPEN THE BRIDGE.

F. C. STRATFORD, Manager Zellerbach Paper Company, 836 Franklin street—As every true citizen of Oakland should be, I am very much interested in the present and future welfare of Oakland. I feel that the bridge, as it is now, is a great detriment to the progress of the city In fact, it seems to me that, considering the size of Oakland, matters such as that should be expedited as much as possible

TURNER'S DUTY SET FORTH.

DR. M. A. RYAN, Veterinary Surgeon, Eighth and Clay streets—I feel as every one must feel that the time for action has come. We have played with this question for so long that it is time all who have the good of the community at heart should band together and work for the repairing of this highway of the city. It is Mr. Turner's duty as an official of the city and a representative of the people to further his constituents' interests as much as possible

INJURES HIS BUSINESS.

A. F. WALLACE, Proprietor, Harbor Planing Mills on East Eighth street—For every trip our teams make to the center of town we lose on the average of thirty minutes a day. At present we have to go down by way of Twelfth street. I am anxious to see the bridge fixed as soon as possible for it affects my business a great deal.

BURKE WAITS FOR ACTION OF GRAND JURY

Developments in Dynamite Case to Be Delayed Until Meeting.

PROSECUTION SAYS EVIDENCE IS STRONG

Hiram Johnson Is Retained to Defend Sanitarium Keeper.

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 19.—Interest in the case of Dr. Willard P. Burke, held in connection with the dynamiting of the tent of Luella Smith on the grounds of his sanitorium, is unabated, but no further developments are expected until the resumption next Wednesday of the grand jury's investigation. District Attorney Clarence Lea expresses himself as satisfied with the progress made by the prosecution in the presentation of evidence and says that the case of the State is exceptionally strong. On the other hand Dr. Burke and his friends apparently are not alarmed and continue to declare the ability of the accused physician to disprove the charge against him.

The attorneys on both sides are occupied today in the examination and sifting of evidence.

SANTA ROSA, Feb. 19. — Two new phases occurred in the Burke Sanitarium dynamite explosion case yesterday. One was the announcement that Hiram Johnson had been retained on a big fee to take charge of Dr. Burke's defense, and the retaining of James Rolla Leppo of Santa Rosa as associate counsel, which gives promise of a battle royal in court in the event of Dr. Burke's indictment by the grand jury.

The other new feature in the case was the opening of the investigation by the grand jury which convened yesterday morning to take up the inquiry in response to the summons of District Attorney Lea.

WITNESSES SUMMONED.

More than twenty witnesses were subpoenaed before the grand jury yesterday, but less than half of them were called upon to testify. The identity of the witnesses and the order in which they were called, in fact, indicated that District Attorney Lea regarded the session only in the light of a preliminary investigation into the circumstances surrounding the explosion

The examination of witnesses began at 10:30 a. m. and with an interval of an hour for luncheon the inquiry was continuous until 3:30 p. m., when an adjournment was taken subject to the call of Foreman John Taylor. The inquiry will be resumed either Wednesday or Thursday.

Luella Smith, the victim of the explosion, was not present, the physicians at the County Hospital declaring that she was too ill to be removed.

DR. JOBE NON-COMMITTAL.

Dr. J. E. Jobe, a relative and employe of Dr. Burke, was the first witness called, but it is said that he proved an unwilling witness and the District Attorney intimated that he will be called again later for further examination.

Dr Jobe testified that he had been talking with Dr. Burke on the porch of the sanitarium a few minites before the explosion.

"My recollection of this conversation was that Dr. Burke talked about nothing in particular," said Dr. Jobe, "and said that he was going to his cottage on the sanitarium grounds when he left me. The explosion occurred a few minutes after he finished talking with me. I know very few details that have any bearing on it."

Cleo Osborn, nurse and masseuse employed at the bathhouse on the sanitarium grounds, was supposed to know a great deal about the explosion. When called before the jury, however, she said she knew nothing about the matter other than the noise and confusion that followed.

James Roush, teamster at the sanitarium, said he was away from the sanitarium at the time and knew nothing about the explosion.

HOSTILE WITNESSES.

Dr. H. F Dessau, a member of the house staff of the sanitarium, had an uncomfortable half hour before the jury. District Attorney Lea and Sheriff Smith have all along maintained that Dr. Dessau knows much more about the explosion than he is willing to admit. The district attorney let the members of the grand jury understand this when Dessau was testifying and framed his questions in a way that indicated he looked upon the physician as a hostile witness.

Mrs. Dessau, the wife of the foregoing witness, appeared to be as reluctant to testify as her husband had been. Asked if she had not remarked that Mrs. Aggie Burke, sister-in-law of Dr. Burke, had "looked like a red devil" when she went to the tent of Miss Smith after the explosion and glanced at the baby, Mrs. Dessau said she had been incorrectly quoted.

"I simply remarked that the tent where the explosion occurred looked like an inferno," Mrs. Dessau said. "Mrs. Aggie Burke went running to the tent in a red kimono, but I never remarked that she looked like a red devil."

Miss Eleanor Lennox, head nurse at the sanitarium, and Tom Brown Reese, bookkeeper, were among the other employes of Dr. Burke called before the jury. Reese is the man who says he heard Miss Smith make threats to kill herself. Reese is among the main witnesses aligned with Dr. Burke in proving the contention of the physician that the woman is insane. Reese also agrees with Dr. Burke in maintaining that the belief of Miss Smith that the physcian is the father of her son is a form of her insanity.

Walter Smithers, stage driver, was called before the jury and questioned on the facts surrounding his refusal to remove Miss Smith and her trunks from the sanitarium grounds. It developed that Smithers had been instructed by C. W. Meyers, stableman, not to call for Miss Smith.

Meyers followed Smithers on the witness stand and said he was told to instruct Smithers to ignore the wish of Miss Smith by D. Warren Dillard, who had received his instructions from Dr. Burke in person.

NEXT WEEK'S WITNESSES.

Dillard and Dr. A. W. Hitt came up from Berkeley to testify before the grand jury, but neither of them was called as a witness up to the time adjournment was taken in the afternoon. Both Dillard and Dr. Hitt left the sanitarium and the employ of Dr. Burke because of facts connected with the explosion. Dr Hitt had anticipated the explosion from remarks he had heard about the sanitarium and had recorded his suspicions in a letter he had addressed to Charles E. Naylor, a San Francisco attorney

This letter was mailed before the explosion to Naylor, who is to be among the witnesses called before the jury next week.

Miss Lois Clausen, a nurse at the sanitarium, who is said to be familiar with many facts relating to the explosion, was subpoenaed to testify today, but was not called. She was instructed to return at the next session of the jury.

Mrs. Aggie Burke was also subpoenaed yesterday, but was temporarily excused. Her husband, Alfred Burke, manager of the sanitarium, was among the most active persons about the witness room of the grand jury. Frank Golden, a brother of Mrs. Aggie Burke, conferred frequently with the witnesses before and after their appearance in the grand jury room. Golden has been among the silent counsel of Dr. Burke since the explosion took place at the sanitarium.

Dr. Burke had a long conference with Attorney Leppo in the morning, but was not present at the courthouse during the afternoon session of the grand jury.

MISS LOIS CLAUSEN, nurse and witness. MISS CLEO OSBORN, nurse and witness.

DR. H. H. DESSAU, member of house staff and witness.

Colonel Roosevelt Will Visit Berlin

Bwano Tumbo Will First Take Parisian Trip, According to Program.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Former President Roosevelt, replying to an official inquiry telegraphed to the foreign office from Gondokoro today, stated that he expected to be in Berlin between May 1 and May 11, coming here from Paris, which city, contrary to expectations, eh will visit first. He will be in the French capital during the last days of April.

Colonel Roosevelt has an engagement in London for May 15 and so will be obliged to leave Berlin a day or two before that date. Nothing has been decided as yet regarding the manner in which the distinguished American will be entertained here.

Special Trains to See Fight At Richmond.

On February 22d special trains will leave San Francisco commencing 10 a. m and Oakland 10 30 a. m. and run every forty minutes until 2 p. m. to the Nelson-Wolgast fight. Trains will return immediately after the fight as soon as filled. For further information see Southern Pacific Agents, Broadway and Thirteenth Sts., Oakland.

IN FOOD

What a Clergyman's Wife Found.

The wife of a Minnesota clergyman found the solution of her troubles in a simple change of food of which she says

"My case proves that proper food will cure almost any ail. For years I suffered from dyspepsia which became chronic and was treated by some of the most skillful physicians, but was not cured.

"Medicine would help for a time, but the old troubles would always return because the cause was still there, and kept me weak and sickly most of the time. I had the grippe every year for five years, always suffered from colds and my whole condition showed that I did not get the proper nourishment from food.

Finally I began eating Grape-Nuts according to directions. I may say that since that time my stomach has not troubled me at all, but a remarkable change took place. All through the long cold winter I ate nothing but a saucer of Grape-Nuts and cream in the morning and no matter how severe the cold I did not suffer and I did not have the grippe or even a cold.

"Grape-Nuts food certainly nourished me until I have a strong constitution, feel like a new person, and indeed never was healthier in my life."

MAY DRAFT KANSAN WOMEN AND CHILDREN TO FIGHT CHINTZ BUG

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 19.—An old statute of Kansas which empowered county officials with authority to call out all men, women and children from 12 to 65 years of age to fight noxious insects, may be invoked this summer when the Chintz bug, the great destroyer of growing corn makes his appearance in Kansas. The law, known as the "Warning Out" law, was passed in 1877, soon after the grasshopper raids. While its direct aim was to provide a means by which ravages of these devastators of crops could be stopped, it is not limited in its scope and can be made to apply to the raids of any insects in Kansas.

Only those people living in incorporated cities are exempt from the provisions of the law.

A Brief Sermon for Busy Readers

THE BLIGHT OF PESSIMISM

"Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God."—Hebrews 3:12.

A prevailing characteristic of our times is that of pessimism. The man who goes with the corners of his mouth pulled down and who stands ready upon the slightest pretext to make vigorous use of a little hammer that he always happens to be carrying about with him; the man who, in consequence of his personal bearing and attitude, has won for himself the unenviable distinction of being a "knocker," is a man who is much in evidence.

Rev. Thomas A. Boyer

The real ordeal of life is not an ordeal of fire, as we are wont sometimes to say. It is rather an ordeal of Arctic cold. Among the daily experiences that come to us one and all, are those that disillusion.

At one time or another we are all waylaid; taken advantage of, victimized at the hands of the "green goods" man. As a consequence the spirit of distrust and bitterness, the spirit of cynicism and superiority, the spirit that shrugs the shoulder and causes us to snicker disdainfully at the heroic enthusiasms of life is a danger to which we are all constantly exposed.

YIELD TO DISTRUST.

The tragedy of too many lives consists in the fact that they have yielded to this spirit of distrust and fault-finding. Thus, alas how often it has come to pass, not only among the multitudes who have lost their way and whose lives are filled with murmurings and complainings, but among the higher-ups in the realms of thinking as well, that high principle and humanity are mocked at, that the only things that are really worth while are pooh-poohed. In a recent book, Dr. Paul Dubois relates how, when some Catholics, Protestants and Free Thinkers of Paris recently united to work in common for the purification of the life of Paris, they were hooted and hissed and spat upon, and that not by the rabble, as might be supposed, but by the elite of the youth, by university scholars and scholars of the Ecole des Beaux Arts.

Alas, that this should be so. Alas, that the ordering of life should be such as to invite or give place to the spirit of unbelief and bitterness at all. A bullfrog in a pond may croak, in fact he is expected to do so and make all the protest that he can. But for a man sent upon this earth to be educated for the court of the King of Kings, placed in an emerald world with a hither edge of opaline shadow and a fine spray of diamond dust to set it sparkling, with millions of happy-throated birds to constitute its orchestra; with sunrise mists and sunset clouds to curtain it, and the flowers of every land to make it fragrant, and the hand of God himself to uphold it on its way among the clustering worlds, what right has he to "unpack his heart with words and fall a-cursing, like a very drab, a scullion."

MENTAL DISTEMPER.

In seeking to obviate and overcome this condition of atrophy and decay there are several things to be taken into account. First of all there is a certain priggishness of manner, an affectation of thought and life that needs correcting. Unreality of living carries with it the corrolary of mental distemper, as certainly as sepia exudes from the cuttle fish.

There is dire need also for a simplification of life, so that the things that are really of value, the things that are actually worth while, may not be completely inundated—lost sight of altogether by a vast surfeit of folderol and furbelow.

The idea of sanitation, furthermore, is an idea that is entitled to a place of recognition that it would seem we have been reluctant hitherto to accord it. Pessimism—bitterness of soul, instead of being as we have been wont to interpret it—a thing of philosophical acumen, is, I think, more often a thing of physiological atrophy. A characteristic not so much of brain as of mucous-membrane. The blues are as pathological as the measles. Pessimism is more often related to a white corpuscle that creeps into the blood than it is to the power to think clearly.

TO OVERCOME BLIGHT.

The most fruitful method, however, of overcoming this form of blight is found in rightly relating the individual to the source of all truth and harmony.

"Never," says Paul Desjardins, "have men been more universally sad than at the present," and then he adds with keen insight, "Our misery lies in feeling that we are less manly than we were sixty years ago." So it is, human life has become impoverished and bitter because we have lost the sense of a Divine voice in the story of our existence. The things we once trusted we have learned to listen to as

Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury,
Signifying nothing."

What the world needs today is a new vision of the real things of life. A new grip on God. Nothing else will satisfy, nothing else can save.

"Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God."

DIETING DOCTRINE DRIVES HER MAD

Prominent San Jose Woman, Follower of "Professor" Flynn, Goes Insane.

SAN JOSE, Feb. 19.—Following closely on the visit to this city of "Professor" Flynn, who from the pulpits of several local churches preached the doctrine of light dieting and plentiful exercise, Mrs. E. Galbraith, a prominent woman of San Jose, was yesterday committed to the Agnews asylum for the insane, having become violent through her rigid adherence to the rules laid down by the teacher.

Flynn is said to have left this city with more than $2000 to the good. He was given the support of many of the pastors of the town and gained hundreds of disciples. He suggested the elimination of breakfast as a useless meal and taught that one should not eat unless they felt the cravings of hunger. Under his direction clubs were organized and walking parties formed in the early morning. He also taught a rigid system of calisthenics and the following of these rules is said to be the cause of Mrs. Galbraith's present condition. A few days ago her family noticed that she was acting queerly, but she could not be dissuaded from following her practices. A physician was finally called and an examination as to her sanity made. As a result of this she was committed to the asylum.

UO EXHIBITS FOR FAIR AT BELGIUM

Department Thinks Trade Relations Warrant an Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the opinion of the State department the universal and international exposition of 1910, in Brussels, Belgium, affords American business firms an excellent opportunity for the stimulation of trade between Belgium and the United States.

The fact that Belgium, whose commerce with the United States in 1908, amounted to more than $81,000,000, was recently accorded the minimum tariff rates of the United States, taken in connection with the exposition, which will be formally opened April 23, and continue until the middle of November, is pointed to by officials of the department as a probable stimulant in the development of more trade.

Much disappointment is felt by State Department officials having charge of trade relations, because no appropriation has been made for representation. Most of the foreign governments have made large appropriations for buildings and applied for space in the exposition, but the United States has not yet made any application.

Neil Burgess Passes Into Great Beyond

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. — Neil Burgess, the actor who died today at his home here after a year's illness, made his greatest success on the stage in a single play, "The County Fair," which was first produced in 1888. The comedy, with Mr. Burgess as its star, had a phenomenal run of more than four years at a New York theater.

Mr. Burgess was born in Boston in 1851 and made his debut there. He retired from the stage in 1909.

POLITE ROBBERY!

Attempting to foist on the market imitations of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate, as some are doing in this city, is merely a polite form of robbery.

By using the name "Ground Chocolate," used by us exclusively since 1875, and which our product has made immensely popular, they try to give the consumer the impression that he is getting Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate.

The consumer loses by the transaction for he does not get the value of his money. He pays for the best and gets—well, what he gets.

Avoid being made a victim of this kind of business by carefully reading the label to see that you get Ghirardelli's, the original and genuine "Ground Chocolate"

Turner's Colleagues Must Act.

Since City Engineer Turner obstinately refuses to take any steps toward placing the Eighth-street bridge in condition for traffic, it becomes the duty of the other members of the Board of Public Works, Mayor Mott and City Attorney Stetson, to take the matter in hand.

They are not so indifferent to the public welfare nor so callous to public opinion as Mr. Turner has shown himself to be, and hence can be depended upon to do their duty in the premises.

At any rate, it is now up to them. Eighth street must be reopened to traffic even if Turner has to be buried with the other debris. A progressive city has no use for a stumbling block in the Board of Public Works.

The public is now waiting in expectancy for the Mayor and the City Attorney to act.

Grilling a Junket Commission.

Congressman Macon of Arkansas looks like a singed cat and occasionally gets tangled in the parts of speech, but he has scored heavily in his fight against the Immigration Commission, composed of Congressmen with a taste for travel and sight-seeing along lines of personal economy. He has stopped the "joy riding" the members of the commission have been taking at the public expense. In addition to proving that the commission was both useless and extravagant he made it ridiculous. In his speech showing up the character of the investigations conducted and the items of expense, he said:

"They had a trip to Bethlehem from Jerusalem to investigate immigration conditions; a carriage journey to Joppa to investigate immigration conditions; a carriage trip to the Ambassador's and return in London to investigate immigration conditions in that august embassy; a trip to the House of Lords. Gentlemen, do you think it necessary to go to the House of Lords to investigate immigration conditions? (Laughter.) If you do, then I do not understand why we should not throw the gates wide open and permit citizens from every country to come to our shores if we are going to permit members of the House of Lords to come. (Laughter.) They went there for the purpose of investigating these lordly gentlemen in order to benefit immigration conditions in this country, of course."

In addition to regular traveling expenses and hotel bills, including tips and fees, Mr. Macon said the commissioners, for themselves and a retinue of assistants, charged the government for wines, whiskies, cognac, mineral waters, lemonade, glace, pills, siphons, citrons, cleaning and pressing clothes, shaves, shines, hair-cuts, shampoos and rubs. The wine bills were allowed by the Auditor of the Treasury, but the hair-cuts, shampoos, rubs and other delicate attentions of the barber and masseur were cut out of the commission's expense account.

The gaunt and homely Arkansan did not succeed in having the commission abolished immediately, but the disturbance he made caused its life to be shortened and its appropriation to be cut in half. He has saved some public money from being squandered, and therefore can be said to have done the state some service.

Davis of Arkansaw.

If the people of Arkansas are not ashamed of Senator Jeff Davis they ought to be. That clamorous demagogue is a shocking example of pustular politics. His speech opposing the grant of a franchise for an oil pipe line through government land in Arkansas went to the limit of vulgarity and coarse buffoonery. It was addressed to the lowest order of intelligence and the most primitive ignorance, and was couched in terms that naturally excited loathing and disgust in the minds of his hearers.

The sins of the Standard Oil Company are no excuse for the presence in the Senate of such men as Davis, men utterly without ability to formulate constructive legislation or power to influence intelligent minds. Davis assailed the oil monopoly as an excuse for voting against giving a market outlet to the oil producers of a section of Oklahoma. Without a pipe line the producers would have to pay high rates to the railroads to transport their oil to market, hence Davis proposed to punish the Standard Oil Company by burdening a lot of innocent men with onerous and unnecessary transportation charges. He may have been merely playing to the gallery, but nevertheless he was trying to do something that would have benefited the railroads at the expense of the Oklahoma oil producers. His proposition offered no relief to the oil producers and would not have harmed the Rockefeller corporation a tittle.

The ramp and roar about wanting to see Rockefeller roasting in the fires of hell fed by oil from his pipe lines can only be regarded as outgivings indicative of a low mind attuned to crass ignorance. It was a mixture of fustian and blackguardism. It is unfortunate that a sovereign State should have to be responsible for such indecent mouthings, but it is doubly unfortunate that they should give foreigners a pretext to gibe and sneer at American statesmanship. What Thersites was to the heroes of Greece Davis is to the United States Senate.

We do not know by whose order the rotten and half-decomposed trap rock now being dumped on Webster street is being placed there, but whoever is responsible for it deserves to be kicked out of the service of the city. A man with so little knowledge has no business in the street department. The rock if hard is unfit for macadam and in the rotten and decomposed state that it is used on Webster street is worse than worthless. It merely grinds up into mud for slush in wet weather and dust in dry. The harder portions of the rock is put on in great chunks mingled with a mass of fine stuff, making an incongruous mess that speedily graduates into lumps and mud and chuck-holes. Somebody in the street department is certainly entitled to the palm for stupidity, for the Webster-street job is a triumph of imbecility.

The cotton plant is becoming wonderful for the variety of uses it is put to in this scientific age. Silken gowns, woolen blankets and linen handkerchiefs are made from the lint, paper from the fibre of the stalk, and olive oil from the seed, but an enterprising Texan has capped the climax by making graham bread with cotton seed meal. At this rate the cotton plant will soon be dedicated as the national flower.

In the mock primary held in Berkeley, Oakland candidates for Governor figured prominently. Charles M. Belshaw of Contra Costa defeated Francis J. Heney for first place, but George C. Pardee tied Austin Lewis for the position of tail-ender. It was a famous victory.

Making Good the Overdrafts

In the current issue of the Outlook Sir Horace Plunkett tells how he was shocked years ago to observe the wasteful methods of farming employed in the corn belt of Eastern Nebraska. The planting of the same crop year after year without regard to the effect on the fertility of the soil suggested to him the depositor who habitually drew out of the bank more than he put in.

It must be recognized, however, that under the conditions then existing this was the natural way to farm in order to produce the most food for the least money. Those conditions have passed. The depositor now is called on to make good his overdrafts. Scientific farm management, including the carefully planned rotation of crops to restore the exhausted fertility to the soil, must replace the older methods of hit-or-miss farming.

The scientific farmer must make out a schedule so that he may work part of his land back into grass for restorative purposes while always making sure of the necessary acreage of standard grains. He must figure on the number of animals that can be profitably fed with his resources. By means of the Babcock test he must weed out the unprofitable cows from his dairy herd. He must buy pure bred seed and must know how to prepare his ground.

This sort of scientific farming is being introduced into the middle west largely through the efforts of the state agricultural colleges and the National Department of Agriculture. The whole country, which is feeling the need in its high food prices for increased production, is concerned in the success of the movement.—Kansas City Star.

Government by Stock Gamblers

Some of the recent manipulations of stocks in Wall Street apparently was intended to have influence at Washington.

It has been shown over and over in the past that great New York banks, which ought to be in better business, loan money on speculative stocks far above their real value. If these banks now have caused prices to seek lower levels by exercising a little sound judgment in making loans they have done well. Still, in view of their past offending, some of it being in the very recent past, it is not safe to conclude that a display of prudence by them has brought about the present Wall street situation.

The public has not received the president's programme of legislation for the regulation of railroad and other corporations with the confidence that was expected a few months ago, because it has found the president's judgment faulty in some respects, notably in the corporation tax matter. However, it does not choose to take its cues as to legislation at Washington from the tremors in Wall street, where ridiculously inflated prices of stocks are cutting capers. It prefers to study the measures before congress instead of the tricks performed on the high wire of finance.

Government by stock gamblers will not do. It is to be hoped that the president's bills in congress will receive the serious attention of the members of that body and of the country at large without regard for the absurdities of Wall street's stock-gambling operations.—Chicago News.

New Idea in Hotels

The projected $8,000,000 "pay-as-you-enter" hotel promises to occupy a unique place in a field where the possibilities of novelty were thought to have been exhausted. It is not in the rathskeller, vaudeville theatre or roof-garden attachments that its peculiar appeal for patronage will lie. These are familiar features of the modern hotel. Its special attraction will be the 1500 rooms with private bath at the uniform price of $1.50 a day.

At this rate the provision for personal cleanliness which has been a distinctive characteristic of recent hotel architecture but which has usually come too high for modest purses will be within the reach of the plain people. No such attempt to popularize the morning "tub" has been made by any hotel, and success should attend its efforts.

On the serious side much is to be said in favor of this new venture in hotels. New York, while possessing the most luxurious hotels in the world has lacked houses of the inn type at which guests for a moderate charge could secure accommodations midway between bare comforts and ultra elegance of appointments. A hotel adhering to this golden mean ought to develop a profitable clientage from among the large class of patrons whose Fifth avenue tastes do not accord with their limited incomes.—New York World.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

Mrs. Martin Is Tireless Hostess

Mrs. Eleanor Martin emphasizes the informality of her Lenten entertainments, but she is an indefatigable hostess. With the impetus of her fascinating daughter-in-law, Mrs. Peter Martin, as a house guest, there is to be a succession of informal dinner parties in the Broadway home. Mrs. Martin was a dinner hostess on Tuesday night preceding the Schumann-Heink concert. This was Mrs. Peter Martin's first public appearance since her return, and she was industriously lorgnetted between numbers. Mrs. Peter's manner is as affable as ever, and in distinct contrast to the refrigerator pose of Mrs. Spencer Eddy. As Lurline Spreckels, Mrs. Eddy was a bundle of animation, but her experience abroad has given her a blase manner—which she has probably confused with the simple dignity of the real aristocrats. Her health has somewhat improved out here, but she is still looking frail. Her baby, who is brought up germ proof, antiseptic sprayed, surrounded by a coterie of trained nurses, was displayed to a few of her friends, as it is against the ethics of his nursery to give a stray microbe a chance to enter, and so he has been kept hermetically sealed at the Fairmont. Mrs. Peter Martin's small son is a sturdy lad, and comes to visit his grandmother filled with the importance of having been train bearer at the recent marriage of his aunt, Blanche Oelrichs, to Leonard Thomas. It had been rumored that Mrs. Walter Martin intended to give Mrs. Peter Martin a wide berth, but the rumor will now have to limp on crutches, for Mrs. Walter was at the train to greet Mrs. Peter. It may have been at the urgent request of Mrs. Eleanor Martin, but whatever the compelling motive, she was there.—News Letter.

Commander Peary

The Committee on Naval Affairs has reported unfavorably the bill to make Commander Peary a rear-admiral and to retire him in that rank carrying a pension of $6000 per year, and the general opinion will be that the committee has acted rightly. Commander Peary has done nothing to merit either the promotion or the pension. Indeed, for many years past he has been treated with an unaccountable partiality by the navy department. Supposed to be in the service of the United States Government and to be in the receipt of pay for performance of definite duties, he has again and again been granted long leaves of absence in order to undertake Arctic exploration work in no way related to his official duties and from which the country could expect no benefit whatever. And during these long abstentions from duty Commander Peary has received his pay just as though he had performed the corresponding duties. Clearly he is entitled to no further favors, the balance being already heavily upon his side.

The action of the committee implies no lack of appreciation of Commander Peary's feat. It may be all that his warmest admirers claim for it, but it still remains wholly outside the sphere of government rewards and distinctions, which should be reserved for those who have performed national services. The discovery of the North Pole is not a national service. There was never a likelihood that it would be one. It was a daring and creditable piece of personal adventure, and worthy of the applause that it received. To reward it with public money and promotion is to make the whole thing absurd.—Argonaut.

Mrs. Carter and a Dramatic Critic

Mrs. Leslie Carter has a tumultuous personality which involves her private career in actions as bizarre as any that she portrays behind the footlights. The unexpected flows as naturally from her restless temperament as a bromide does from the pen of her latest playwright. Mrs. Carter has a carmine disposition which flashes with emotions even as her shock of hair scintillates with color. No seer may ever hope to guess what Mrs. Carter will do next; even from herself that interesting secret is often hidden. Impulse is the breath of her nostrils; surprise is her second nature; to achieve the commonplace is beyond her power and alien to her desire. When Mrs. Carter was here recently with her laudanum melodrama of "Vasta Herne" she received the kindest consideration from the dramatic critics of the morning press. These gentlemen vouchsafed her play the compliment of serious attention, lavished their most flattering adjectives upon her acting and devoted a page in the Sunday papers to her views on art and David Belasco. The Carter-Belasco quarrel has two sides, like most quarrels, and it was fitting that Mrs. Carter should give her version of it. But at least one critic did not satisfy Mrs. Carter in his report of her self-justification. That critic is Mr. Ralph E. Renaud of the Chronicle and in consequence of his failure to please he has just been treated to a bewildering view of the Carter personality.—Town Talk.

Sandy McNaughton and the Police

Great has been the wonderment of the tenderloin over the daring displayed by Sandy McNaughton, proprietor of "The Breakers," in bidding the dance go on in his underground resort despite the interdict of the police. Time was that the caterer to the thirst of the underworld respectfully heeded the moralists of the police commission when they commanded that the giddy waltz and the insinuating two step be banished to the ocean beach and the Barbary Coast and that in all resorts within the city limits the sound of music and dancing cease at 1 in the morning. But now it is different. Sandy McNaughton has discovered that the prohibition is based, not on a city ordinance, but on a mere police order which he thinks he may with impunity disobey. It is no wonder that the contumacy of one of their number, based on a fine-drawn distinction between an ordinance an da police order, should fill the cafe proprietors with amazement. Not for them the dialectical subtlety with which Sandy McNaughton fends his novel position. Little they care whether the Supervisors or the police make the rules of the game they play; enough that the police are on the job to enforce them. Eager to preserve their standing and their liquor licenses, they frown on the gay spirits who yearn for a whirl and restrain the ardor of the musicians who would play after 1 o'clock. But Sandy is game.—Town Talk.

Our Coast Artillery

Nowhere has the work of our coast artillery been raised to so high a state of efficiency as at this port. Such is the judgment of a military authority of high rank who objects to being quoted in matters of comparison affecting this branch of the service. He says further that in personnel and equipment the coast artillery of the United States is unsurpassed. Wonderful is the progress that it has made in the past ten years. The devotion of officers and men to their work has led to constant improvements in their target practice, range finding and mine laying, and from experience vast improvements have been made in material and methods. The country, says my authority, can rest satisfied that the money spent on the improvement in the organization and administration of this branch of the army has brought in an adequate return. Target practice is the final test of coast artillery efficiency, the capacity to hit is the criterion of all its training, and in this respect there has been a gradual improvement during the last ten years, and in the last year a very marked improvement. This improvement is noticed not only in cannon of various calibers, but also in mortars, and indeed is greater in the latter than in any other, which is a very important fact, inasmuch as the mortar projectile attacks a warship in its most vulnerable part, namely, the deck, and because the accuracy of fire of mortars was at one time seriously questioned.—Town Talk.

Bruguiere Sees the Tables Turned

The bar of one of our biggest hostelries was the scene of a merry party a few nights ago and the object of general badinage was Emile Bruguiere. Many corks had popped, 'twas the hour of unstinted expression and the members of the party which was made up of various gilded scions of plutocracy, found delight in chaffing Bruguiere on his financial infelicities. The care-free heir of the wealthy house of Barron was particularly apt in flinging the barbed arrow of banter into the breast of the indifferent Bruguiere. His words were winged with wit and carefully delivered, eliciting roars of laughter from the other members of the gay party. It was great fun while it lasted, but never was the old adage that he who laughs last laughs best so admirably illustrated. In the midst of the lingual melee a stern-faced gentleman strode into the bar, called young Barron aside and whispered excitedly in his ear. The episode was too strange to escape observation, and although Barron returned to the fray with every appearance of nonchalance, he was forced to explain the mystery. With a wry face he confessed that his bank account had that day been attached by a prominent haberdashery for a long-standing bill of goodly proportions. Emile Bruguiere, chivalrous knight of the Order of St. Jacques, forebore revenge.—Town Talk.

Judge Cooper's First Case

From an attorney who is an intimate friend of Judge Cooper of the Appellate bench I heard a few days ago the story of the Judge's first clients and it is too good to be kept out of print. As an ambitious young man Judge Cooper went from his home in Santa Rosa to practice law in Ukiah. The young lawyer's shingle was up for some time before it attracted clients, so that when a message came from Willits, calling him to the defense of three young men who had been arrested for larceny, he responded with alacrity, well knowing that it would be an interesting and difficult case. For months the three youths under arrest had been the terror of Willits, and although they had long eluded detection and were now in jail only on a larceny charge, it was certain that efforts would be made to mete out to them arrears of punishment for a formidable list of transgressions. All the way from Ukiah young Cooper meditated the best policy of defense and he was in deep thought when the stage rolled over the bridge just outside of Willits. The exclamations of his fellow passengers aroused Cooper from his legal trance and with mixed feelings he realized that there was no more case for him. It was a Coroner and not an attorney that the three terrorists needed; their dead bodies were swinging from the truss of the bridge.—Town Talk.

The Carter Temper Rebuked

During Mrs. Carter's recent engagement at the Van Ness one of her audiences was treated to an exhibition of her continuously outcropping temperament—or perhaps temper is the more fitting word. It was on Wednesday night, the third of her engagement. On that occasion Mrs. Carter was visibly perturbed and her disquieted mind found solace at the expense of her luckless leading man. From time to time during the progress of the hectic melodrama she vented her dissatisfaction with his acting in despairing gestures and audible exclamations addressed to the audience. Quite plainly by word and action she let it be understood that his acting displeased her and that she pitied the audience for having to put up with it. Now even a leading man will turn on a star if the provocation be sufficient, and this leading man was indubitably provoked beyond endurance. His opportunity for revenge came in the last act when the heroine is supposed to die in his arms. Instead of adhering to the "business" the leading man held aloof and allowed Mrs. Carter to execute her death pangs in solitary agony. As she lay near the footlights Mrs. Carter cried at him, so that the audience might hear, "I'll get you for this."—Town Talk.

The Strange Story of a Pearl

The story is told that one jeweler reported the loss of a pearl valued at $2000 which he had in his repair shop. Now pearls of this value have an individuality and they are well known to all jewelers. Singularly enough the pearl that was believed by its owner to have been consumed in the flames turned up not long ago. It was sold in this city, and the news reached the ears of the owner. He went at once to the jeweler in whose custody it had been placed, and after some little discussion he was given a check for $2000. The jeweler was greatly surprised when he heard that the pearl was ornamenting the scarf of a New Yorker. Strange are the things that happen in the jewelry business.—Town Talk.

Miss Crocker's Pearls; the Last Phase

Always in the history of mysterious affairs there comes a time when the final word is spoken, when the darkness is made light and obscure unintelligible facts are ranged in an order which is so simple that it carries their explanation. Many have been the theories of the police, many the conjectures of amateur detectives as to the ultimate fate of that wonderful string of pearls belonging to Miss Jennie Crocker which disappeared on the evening of the great Alexander ball at the St. Francis. We were entertained with rumors of a social highwayman, of a feminine Raffles operating under the disguise of haughty exclusiveness and of any number of other picturesque figures variously delineated according to the imagination of their creators. Then we were told in a whisper that the pearls had not been lost at all and there were diverse reasons advanced for the continued hue and cry over baubles supposed to be resposing securely in the Crocker vault. But now the time has come when it may be frankly stated that the pearls are now in Miss Crocker's possession. They were lost by a very simple accident that might have happened to anybody, and yet one that might have inspired the pen of a Margaret of Navarre.—Town Talk.

No Cigarettes at the Ball

The energetic ladies who managed the Mardi Gras overlooked a source of considerable profit when they neglected to have cigarettes on sale at the affair. When men are dancing and drinking they must also smoke and cigarette cases were quickly emptied. The result was a cigarette famine while the ball was in full swing. There were men running about everywhere, all looking for a cigarette. Overcoats were rummaged, attendants were appealed to and there was a general scramble for anything in the form of tobacco that could be twisted into material for a few puffs. Some of the girls proved their mettle by smuggling dainty Turkish cigarettes to their escorts and there was a good deal of piquant banter when these miniature "pills" were sported between masculine lips. One millionaire borrowed a paper from one waiter and a sprinkling of tobacco of the crudest sort from another and sighed luxuriously as the smoke curled up. He never dreamed that his beautiful daughter was dispensing imported cigarettes to her men friends from a well-filled gold case. If he had, it would have spoiled the Mardi Gras for him and Lent would have been a genuinely penitential season for the vivacious young lady. Too bad the lady-managers had not taken the precaution of laying in a stock of high-priced cigarettes. If they had done so their charity would have benefited to the extent of a goodly sum.—Town Talk.

It Was a Motley Throng

Looking back to the ball and remembering some of the men and women whom I saw among the revelers I am forced to the admission that it was a very inclusive throng, to say the least. The advance announcement in one of the papers that unmasking would not be obligatory was made for the purpose of encouraging the attendance of those who have no social standing. For the cause of charity the exclusives were willing to rub elbows with the beauties whose day begins at sundown and whose capacity for buying and consuming champagne is professionally cultivated. They were there in large numbers and there was hardly any resentment of their rather wild hilarity. Only a few prudes objected; the rest of the crowd enjoyed the novelty of the contact. The situation reminded me of some piquant tales of De Maupassant which illustrate the curious bond which occasionally draws the extremes of life together in friendly intercourse. Some of the older men opened their eyes very wide when they observed the terms of friendship on which their sons met certain very gay ladies, but no doubt they remembered their own days of wild-oat sowing, for they very wisely refrained from interposing. Those who knew the name and personality of the merrymaker in pink tights found added zest in the spectacle of her popularity with married men whose behavior is usually discreet; the rest were just as happy in their ignorance. The speculations as to her identity indulged by the innocent ladies were very funny. I know of only one or two men who had the courage to tell their wives and sweethearts who she really was.—Town Talk.

Must Pay for His Negligence

According to Samuel Regensburger, the attorney, there were very few precious stones lost in our big fire. Regensburger had occasion some time ago to make inquiry about the losses suffered by jewelers, and he learned that not only the big jewelry houses but also the pawnbrokers managed to get their diamonds and pearls beyond reach of the flames. In one or two instances vaults were relied upon for the safekeeping of some articles of jewelry, and even in these instances a total loss was not suffered. John Hammersmith was one of the jewelers who placed confidence in a vault, and among his losses was that of a diamond belonging to a woman, which she valued at $300. Regensburger brought suit for her to recover that sum, and judgment was obtained, the court holding that as Hammersmith had plenty of time to remove his stock he was guilty of negligence in not removing the diamond. He admitted that he carried away about $15,000 worth of diamonds, but the lost one was left in his vault. Regensburger's client has collected her judgment.—Town Talk.

Lillian Albertson Levy a Mother

Lillian Albertson, the charming actress, now Mrs. M. S. Levy, well remembered in San Francisco for her beauty and cleverness on the stage at the Alcazar, is the mother of a very new baby. The news comes from New York, where the Levys have been living since Mrs. Levy retired from the stage after her tremendous success in "Paid in Full." Mr. Levy is very wealthy and it is reported that it was his money that obtained for the actress the opportunity for her Broadway triumph.—The Wasp.

C'est Finis pour McComas

Mrs. Francis McComas has gone East, and her girl friends, who are presumably in her confidence, say that she never intends to come back. It is the end, they say, the final chapter, of what was one of the prettiest love stories ever dramatized on San Francisco's society stage. When the young heiress, Miss Marie Louise Parrott, married Frank McComas, the artist, their marriage was the most felicitous imaginable for a long string of moons, spent in traveling abroad and in Southern California. They resided for a long time in Santa Barbara. After their return here, however, there were constant rumors that the dove of peace had departed from their chimney top, for while the artist lived in one county, painting canvasses, his wife visited her sister or her mother. Then again rumor would be silenced when Mr. and Mrs. Frank McComas appeared together at some formal dinner or luncheon. Last summer the artist was the most popular beau in the Marin county set, and did the society stunt so thoroughly that it was a wonder he had a moment to paint. Mr. McComas now makes large sums by the sale of his canvasses. Mrs. McComas is one of the two daughters of Mrs. Louis Parrott, widow of a prominent Pacific Union Club member, and cousin of John Parrott. Mrs. Parrott was a New England girl, a village belle, before she married into the powerful Parrott clan of California and became a leader in San Francisco's ton. Marie Louise and her twin sister, Daisy, made their bows to local society the same season. Shortly afterward Daisy eloped with young Parker Whitney, son of the Eastern millionaire, who owns one of the largest ranches in Placer county at Rocklin. The eloping children were forgiven by the parents on both sides. They live at Rocklin usually, and are very happy. Parker Whitney's brother, Vincent Whitney, married Miss Pearl Landers, the most adored belle in society, who had been engaged to George Whittell Jr., and near-engaged to Joe Eastland, now Mrs. Vesta Shortridge Bruguiere's admirer. Miss Beryl Whitney, the one sister, married Tom Graydon, the college athlete, and lately separated from him. She spends a good deal of time with her relatives out here.—The Wasp.

Miss Crocker Lost a Diamond

For a short time during the mad romp of the Mardi Gras it looked as though Miss Jennie Crocker was going to supply the city with another jewel mystery. There was a great deal of suppressed excitement for a few minutes among the members of her party, but before the news spread to others the missing jewel was found. The nimble feet of the frolickers had chased midnight two hours away when Miss Crocker, who was dressed like a pint of Mumm and who sparkled like a glass of that enticing beverage, noted that one of her diamond earrings was gone. Miss Crocker's diamond earrings are valued at $2000 apiece; so the loss of one of them, while not so serious as the loss of a $50,000 pearl necklace, was sufficient to cast gloom over the merriment of Miss Crocker's set. The news of the disappearance of the bit of jewelry was whispered to Miss Crocker's friends and a quiet search was immediately commenced. It was a despairing sort of a search, as such searches usually are, but it would have been continued with thoroughness had not Miss Crocker suddenly announced that the earring was recovered. There were congratulations and inquiries as to where the precious gaud had lain hidden. The felicitations Miss Crocker received with joy, but the inquiries she answered only with a blush and a smile and, in the case of the ladies, a whispered word. Strangely enough it was only a few moments before all of Miss Crocker's masculine friends knew just where the earring had been found. It had not left her person.—Town Talk.

What the Wellesley Girls Read

There is a pleasant fiction that college girls allow themselves only the most serious and uplifting literature; that their favorite authors are Maeterlinck, Ibsen and Shaw. This fiction is particularly prevalent in the effete East and is frequently applied to the fair students of Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and other noted women's colleges. To puncture it once and for all some of the Wellesley girls recently took it upon themselves to interview the 450 students of that institution on the subject of their favorite reading. Their report shows many interesting facts. Daily reading of the newspaper, generally in a superficial way, was found to exist, but very few girls pleaded guilty to perusal of editorials. Two hundred and fifty of the girls read the weeklies with some thoroughness. Every girl reads some monthly magazine, usually for the fiction. About 5 per cent read some religious magazine thoroughly. One-fifth of the 450 girls read Dickens, Scott, Thackeray and Jane Austen. About half of them read the light modern novels. Out of the 450 only thirty-two read Maeterlinck, Ibsen and Shaw. Meredith, Stevenson, Kipling and Mrs. Wharton are much more popular. The report shows that the great majority of college girls are content with the culture influence of their chosen or prescribed studies and that their extra reading is done for amusement solely. Evidently they do not find Maeterlinck, Ibsen and Shaw amusing, which, in the case of two of these authors, is by no means surprising. No more do their brothers.—Town Talk.

Naval News for San Francisco

The many friends of Captain Lucien Young in this city will be interested to learn that the former captain of the yard at Mare Island, who has been in Washington since his recent detachment from duty on this coast, has been ordered to duty as commandant of the navy yard at Pensacola, Fla. Orders have been issued assigning Rear-Admiral Giles B. Harber to duty as commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet with the armored cruiser California as his flagship. He has been recently in command of the third squadron of the fleet. Rear-Admiral Harber will relieve Rear-Admiral Uriel Sebree of supreme command and Sebree will go on the [illegible] list next week. [illegible] Harber's retirement for age will take place in September, 1911. Lieutenant Donald B. Craig and Lamar R. Leahy, who served as Harber's aides on the Charleston, will have the same position on the California.—Town Talk.

Colonel Pippy and His Gardener

Colonel George H. Pippy is laughing up his sleeve at himself, and not saying a word, but the story leaked out just the same. It seems that the genial Colonel Pippy has a gardener named John who looks after the Pippy rose garden and lawn down in San Mateo, and who has a face that is so sanctimonious, with manners according, that he has never been suspected of even thinking outside of the walls of a church, and for a time the Pippy cook was afraid to ask him to eat the good roasts and poultry of the dinner table, because it is the Lenten season. Now he is living on the fat of the land. John is so terribly agreeable that when the cook it ill, he volunteers to get the family breakfast, and perform other household duties—none of the offers, however, have been accepted. Any one who has ever said a cross "slang" word in the presence of John has gazed inquiringly at his virtuous face—and straightway apologized.

A day or so ago Colonel Pippy remarked to John that he was thinking of selling out the stable, every horse and rig in it and buying an automobile.

"Very good, sir," answered John, who, by the way, cares for the stable.

"I suppose you could learn to know something about automobiles, John?" inquired Colonel Pippy.

"Oh, sir, I know all about them," answered John. "At my last place I did nothing but tank them up and see they were in running order."

"That reminds me," said Colonel Pippy. "You have been here eight months, John. Where did you work before, that you know all about automobiles?"

"Dibble's, sir."—News Letter.

Californian Retires From the Army

The United States service lost a valuable officer last Saturday when Lieutenant-Colonel Ormond M. Lissak, retired from active duty on account of disability. Lieutenant-Colonel Lissak belongs to the old and well-known Lissak family which has been identified with San Francisco for many years and has a long record of honorable achievement. He was appointed to the Military Academy from this State in 1878, was graduated in 1882, being No. 8 in a class of thirty-seven, and was assigned as a second lieutenant in the Fourth Artillery. He was promoted to first lieutenant in January, 1889, and three months later was transferred to the ordnance department. He became a captain in 1898, major in 1904, and lieutenant-colonel in 1908. Lieutenant-Colonel Lissak was appointed chief ordnance officer of volunteers, with the rank of major, in July, 1898, and accompanied the expedition to Porto Rico. He commanded the ordnance depot at Ponce from August until December, 1898, and then went to Santiago, Cuba, where he commanded the ordnance depot at that place until February 23, 1899, also acting as chief ordnance officer of the department of Santiago. From that place Lieutenant-Colonel Lissak went to Havana, where he commanded the ordnance depot, and was also chief ordinance officer of the division of Cuba. He was honorably discharged from the volunteer service in May, 1899. Lieutenant-Colonel Lissak was graduated from the Artillery School in 1886.—Town Talk.

Greenway Makes Retort Courteous

Apropos of the alleged Alexander-Greenway controversy for supremacy as leader of San Francisco society, a good story is going the rounds of the smart set these days of a certain evening when "Ned" Greenway and Mrs. Charles O. Alexander were guests at the same affair. Now it is well known that Mrs. Alexander, in her attempt to conquer the Greenway set and wrest the social scepter from its leader, faithfully—one might say consistently—keeps away from the Greenway assemblies, and all things of emerald hue, when she is sure of a Greenway entrance. On this occasion, however, the lady who, through her cleverness and wit and a few other excellent qualities, has become a leader in a degree, did not know that the Greenway was to make an appearance. When she spied the big chief she was nothing disconcerted. With a charm of manner that characterizes her, Mrs. Alexander swept across the drawing-room and extending her right hand with au fait "Lunnon" skill, she remarked:

"Oh, Mr. Greenway, I'm so glad to see you. Can you tell me when the newspapers are going to stop talking about this awful, awful gossip about you and me being rivals?"

To which the Greenway, with a courtly bow, and a delicate impress of fingers, responded quite as wittily:

"Yes, madame. When you stop sending in articles to the newspapers."News Letter.

MacNevin Gets the Habit

The situation in the P. H. McCarthy's Business Men's Association, in which both the MacNevin and the Dorn factions declared they were the only original, home-blown-in-the-bottle brand, had a striking counterpart in William V. MacNevin's domestic life a short time ago, as the divorce court habitues will remember. MacNevin, it will be recalled, sued for divorce on the ground that he discovered his wife and some men friends at a roadhouse. Mrs. MacNevin retorted with some asperity that she went there to trace her husband. Each declared stoutly that the jaunt was for purposes of espionage, and not pleasure. Now MacNevin and his political bed-fellows have had a similar split, each side declaring that the other is the bolter. [illegible]—The Wasp.

Two Exceptions Are Taken

Friends of Mrs. Maud Treadwell McNutt Waterbury say there is absolutely no truth in the rumor that she is to wed "Ned" Irwin, the son of Mrs. [illegible] [illegible] father. "He may have been a [illegible]," writes my correspondent, "but if so it was a general farmer and planter. Mr. Irwin had a fine farm up Woodbridge way."—The Wasp.

Mrs. Atherton on Tamalpais

Those who were aware that Gertrude Atherton was engaged in the writing of her book, "Tower of Ivory," during her stay on Mount Tamalpais may be surprised to learn that the gifted novelist would never have written the book in any other place. It seems from her own statement, that it had to be Tamalpais or nowhere. Speaking to an interviewer in New York recently, Mrs. Atherton described the novel which is soon to appear as a story of Munich and England. "I had to come 7000 miles to Mount Tamalpais," she continued, "as I made up my mind I could write it nowhere else. There were long draughty corridors in the deserted hotel where I could take long walks in my heaviest coat. It was good exercise and the three leaks in the roof of my bedroom did not even give me a cold. But fine weather came before I had finished and with it people. I had to go down to San Francisco to finish." Of San Francisco also Mrs. Atherton speaks with enthusiasm, the enthusiasm of one who finds it admirably suited to her temperamental needs. "In summer it is an ideal place for work," she says; "it is cold and foggy, windy and bracing; the people go away and I have it to myself. It's very stimulating."—Town Talk.

Thomson to Marry? Can It Be?

On dit that Frank Thomson, the noted attorney of Honolulu, is paying assiduous court to one of a family of Honolulu heiresses, one of whom—a charming young matron—has been visiting in San Francisco, and has been lavishly feted by her society friends. However, the attorney's attentions are not taken very seriously, even by the heiress herself, as Thomson has been heard to say more than once that he would not marry the finest woman on earth if she knelt down and asked him. His former matrimonial experience with Miss Ella Lewis, niece of the late "Billy" Lewis, had the divorce sequel. Mr. Thomson is very popular. He owns a lot of motor cars which are always generously placed at his friends' disposal. His little boy, 6 or 7 years old, is in the father's custody. When the attorney went to Washington recently he placed the little fellow with a servant at Alexander Young's hotel. The little man, they say, is a second Frank Thomson. He orders his motor car at his sweet will, wears proper evening clothes to dinner, goes to the skating rink, and even looks in at the dancers on festival evenings.—The Wasp.

Women to Rescue of Oppenheimer

The Women's Auxiliary has come to the rescue of Jacob Oppenheimer, an involuntary inmate of the Folsom State Prison, and Warden Reilly has been closely questioned. The Oppenheimer has been cruelly treated, according to his own opinion and those of some discharged prisoners. Warden Reilly confesses to having denied the gentleman the companionship of his fellows, particularly one whom he tried to kill last summer, admits that he is locked up in a cell by himself with only one man to wait upon him, and that he is at the present moment chained to the wall by one leg, surely an undignified position, to put it with the utmost mildness. Prison Director Tirey L. Ford is reported as saying that he considers Oppenheimer "irresponsible and a moral degenerate, for whom I have the profoundest sympathy." I would direct the attention of the ladies to the fact that the latter portion of this remark does not entirely remove the possibility of its being libelous. Indeed, I am strongly of the opinion that the character of Mr Oppenheimer has moen smirched.—News Letter.

Miss Overton Now a Bride

Miss Gwendolen Overton, who was recently married to Melville Wilkinson of Fort Rosencrans, son of the late Major Wilkinson, U. S. A., in Los Angeles, is one of the best-known of California writers. She has written several successful novels, "A Heritage of Unrest," having reached the best-seller class. Miss Overton's first stories were mostly sketches of army life, with which she was familiar, her father, the late Gilbert E. Overton, being a captain in the American army. Some twenty years ago the Eastern publisher of Miss Overton's novels came West solely for the purpose, he said, of meeting the author whose novels he had published, but whom he had never seen. He found her not a myth, nor a man masquerading under a feminine pseudonym, but a very gracious charming society woman.—The Wasp.

Peter Martins Are Entertained

Mrs. Eleanor Martin still sets the pace for a large portion of society. The fact that she, a good Catholic, has not turned her social calendar to the wall during Lent was all the initiative some people wanted to start their own amusement ball a-rolling. Mrs. Martin entertained twice during the week for the Peter Martins, somewhat informally, but none the less enjoyable affairs for that. Peter and his charming New York wife will be much rushed with social attentions during their visit here, which it is understood will only cover a few weeks. Their visits to San Francisco are regarded by a very large section of the smart set as a sort of official recognition by the East of our location on the social map.—The Wasp.

Walters' Paintings Settled

It is very pleasing to the directors of the Mark Hopkins Institute of Art to know that the art collection owned by the late Emanuel Walters is to repose in the building at the corner of California and Mason streets instead of going into the park museum. There has been a controversy over the matter ever since the millionaire died six years ago, and [illegible] of San Francisco [illegible] collection was intended to [illegible] the disputed [illegible] the New York Court of Appeals has now decided. The Walters' collection, valued at $100,000, was on view at the Hopkins Institute a month or so ago.—The Wasp.

Both Judge and Prosecutor

District Attorney Fickert, elected by a majority of 10,000 votes over Spreckels' private attorney, has moved for the dismissal of the indictments against the United Railroads officials, and has explained to the court that the evidence in his possession is "wholly insufficient" to warrant him in proceeding with the case pending against Patrick Calhoun. By denying the District Attorney's motion and by insisting that he proceed with a hopeless task, Judge Lawlor to all intents and purposes usurps the place of the public prosecutor. The District Attorney and not the Judge is in possession of the evidence, and it is the District Attorney's function, and not the Judge's, to weigh the evidence in advance of trial and determine if it warrants prosecution. District Attorney Fickert declares the evidence does not warrant prosecution. Judge Lawlor inferentially declares that he has more knowledge of the evidence than the public prosecutor, and no confidence in his judgment. Hence Judge Lawlor assumes the sole responsibility for the retrial of Patrick Calhoun. Judge Lawlor in the dual role of Judge and prosecutor promises to provide an amazing spectacle indeed.

Judge Lawlor loves the limelight. Perhaps he has been loth to surrender the place in the public eye, which the first Calhoun trial gave him. It seems probable that by insisting on another trial of Calhoun in defiance of the District Attorney's investigation and judgment, Judge Lawlor will achieve more than sufficient notoriety. Certainly his dual role of Judge and prosecutor should invite public attention, and the closest scrutiny. All the limelight available should now be turned upon department 11 of the Superior Court.—News Letter.

A Remedy for Fatigue

It would be unjust to withhold from my readers the very latest remedy for "that tired feeling" which has so long commanded the attention of quacks and pill-mongers. The newest method for dealing with this disagreeable condition of the body was suggested by a Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton in a recent lecture at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York in the following words: "When you go to your room tonight first remove whatever clothing in any way impedes the freedom of your movements and then rest the tips of your fingers very lightly on the crown of your head. Fix your mind that the touch you feel is one end of a cord and that an angel is holding the other end and swinging you gently through space. This thought if sustained sufficiently long will gradually raise the body just enough to do away with all the sagging and drooping which come from overfatigue. Every organ will be elevated to its proper position and capable consequently of performing its function as nature intended it to do." When Edward Bok reads that lovely thought about the angel he will simply die of envy.—Town Talk.

Plain Living and High Thinking

Fifteen young ladies at Smith College are proving that $2 a week is sufficient for the living expenses of a girl going through college. Coming right in the middle of the agitation over the "cost of high living," as James J. Hill puts it, this is significant. No one will say that these young ladies are lacking in the finer sensibilities, nor that they can get along with coarser sorts of food and clothing than the average person. In fact, we should rather say that these girls at Smith are likely to be used to something more than the general run of luxuries. They are not leading the life of recluses. They entertain extensively. But $2 a week each is the limit of their expenditure. All of which goes to show that plain living and high thinking go hand in hand, and there is a lot of tommyrot being talked about the high cost of living. Things are more expensive than they used to be, certainly, but if a well-bred young lady can go through aristocratic Smith College on $2 a week, there is a flaw somewhere in the arguments of the agitators.—The Wasp.

Baroness Was Mrs. Wilde

The Baroness de Bazus, who arrived at the Palace the other day, was Mrs. Willie Wilde when she visited us some two decades ago. She was then on her honeymoon trip with her youthful bridegroom, the younger brother of Oscar Wilde. Willie didn't have his brother's brains, but he was a good-looking chap over six feet tall and broad in proportion. His bride led him about like a lamb, and he seemed to be the most good-natured bridegroom that ever lived. But he wasn't a good boy, and so after a not very lengthy married existence he was cast out into the cold world by a decree of the divorce court. He was too expensive a luxury, his wife declared. Mrs. Wilde did not resume her maiden name, because she had never discarded that of "Mrs Frank Leslie," hers from her first husband, and by legal adoption as the trade mark of her publishing house.—The Wasp.

Von Schroeder's Move No Surprise

The immediate hegira, thus reported, of the Von Schroeders from California to Germany for keeps is no surprise to their circle of intimates. Though the baron enjoyed his California experience, especially those connected with his proprietorship of the Hotel Rafael, the baroness has always preferred Germany as a place of residence. Baroness von Schroeder was Miss Mamie Donahue, sister of the late James Mervyn Donahue, the first husband of Mrs. Richard Sprague. Mrs. Sprague was Miss Belle Wallace, daughter of the late Judge William T. Wallace. The stepmother of the Donahues was Mrs. Eleanor Martin's sister, so our Dowager Queen is a sort of stepaunt to the Baroness von Schroeder. The baroness is an amiable woman, of gentle disposition and has a great sense of her wifely duty. She is also a devoted mother to her sons and daughters.—The Wasp.

WANT THE NAME OF FRUITVALE ON CARS

Board of Trade Makes Protest to the Oakland Traction Company.

SAYS DISTRICT IS IGNORED IN SIGNS

Cars Run Through District But Don't Bear Board "To Fruitvale."

FRUITVALE, Feb. 19.—Because the Oakland Traction Company places the names of other districts upon its cars which run through Fruitvale and ignore altogether the biggest and most thickly populated of the newly annexed districts so far as sign boards on their cars are concerned, the Fruitvale Board of Trade is on the warpath and as the result of a resolution passed at a meeting of that body last night, a committee will journey forthwith to the traction company officials and demand that Fruitvale be given her iota of free advertising on public conveyances which wend their way through this district.

NO "FRUITVALE" SIGNS.

"The company seems to studiously ignore Fruitvale in the matter of signs on their cars," declared Henry Barkmyer, real estate man, at the meeting of the club last night. "None of the cars which run out East Fourteenth street bear a sign board telling people that they reach Fruitvale. The cars which run to Elmhurst and to Melrose are both inscribed with big signs which tell where they are going. Even the Fruitvale avenue cars taboo the name 'Fruitvale—carrying a big sign on them of 'Dimond' and others 'Broadway.' The only street car line which has the name of Fruitvale on it runs far back into the residence district after a long journey through the wilds of Piedmont and northwest Oakland. Lots of people get on them expecting to come to the business section of Fruitvale and they are fooled. Every car running through this district should bear a sign telling the public that fact."

AFTER FREIGHT STATION.

The newly organized board of trade also appointed a committee at last night's meeting to take active steps in the securing of a freight station for this district. Merchants here are compelled to haul all of their freight shipments to and from Melrose. Both the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific will be asked to install freight stations in this locality. The committee which will go after both the freight station and the changing of signs on street cars is composed of F. S. Brown, P. C. Fredrickson and Henry Barkmyer. They will call upon the traction company without loss of time. At the meeting last night a committee was also named to attend the charter conference to be held February 24 in Oakland. The board also extended a vote of thanks to the Oakland city council for its installation of street ligts in this vicinity.

TO DEDICATE NEW CHURCH IN APRIL

Archbishop Reardon May Officiate in Ceremonies at Elmhurst.

ELMHURST, Feb. 19.—The dedication of the new St. Louis Catholic Church in Elmhurst will take place on April 17, the first Sunday after Easter. The announcement was made yesterday by the Rev. Father James Kiely, pastor of the church and to whose efforts the building of the new church is due. Either Archbishop Reardon or Bishop O'Connell of San Francisco will officiate at the dedication ceremonies which will be participated in by at least forty priests from various points about the bay. Archbishop Reardon has been asked to officiate and has promised to do so unless ill-health interferes. In the event he is unable to come, Bishop O'Connell will preside in the impressive ceremonies which will take place.

WITH MUCH CEREMONY.

A solemn pontifical high mass and special ceremonies which mark such events will mark the dedication. The new church cost $30,000, and was completed shortly before Christmas. Since its completion it has been used as a place of worship through a special dispensation from Archbishop Reardon. Two weeks ago new stations of the cross, costing $1600, were elevated in the church, impressive ceremonies marking the event.

Grade Lines Await The Bond Election

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Pending the outcome of the bond election, being voted in this city today, City Engineer Chapmin has deferred all action in regard to the establishment of grade lines on Page street and Taylor avenue, along the course of those thoroughfares through what is commonly known as the "cricket grounds." The reasons for this action on the part of the city engineer is that the sewers and drainage in the big tract will have to be on a slope to the north in the event of the defeat of the sewer bonds proposition.

Should the bonds carry and the south side sewer be installed, the heretofore perplexing proposition of draining the tract will be easily solved, as a straight shoot can be made down Page street to the bay shore where the sewage will flow into the big new intercepting drain pipe.

Church Guild Gives Farce on Old Maids

FITCHBURG, Feb. 18.—"The Old Maids' Association," a clever farce, was presented last night in Seminary Hall, Fitchburg, by the Mayflower Guild of the Boulevard Congregational Church. Fourteen women members of the guild were in the cast. The receipts from the entertainment will go into a fund for the purchasing of a site for a new church in Fitchburg.

Alameda Delegates For the Convention

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Mayor W. H. Noy has appointed Chaplain W. H. Scott, Dr. Tom Carpenter and Charles Metzger to represent the city of Alameda at the forty-third annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held in Oakland on April 19th. Chaplain Scott and Metzger are Grand Army veterans.

Beautiful Berkeley Belle Is To Become a Bride in March

MISS MARY E. McCLURE, who will become bride of George Robinson on Thursday, March 3d.

BERKELEY, Feb. 19. — The wedding of George Robinson and Miss Mary McClure, a daughter of W. F. McClure, commissioner of public works of Berkeley, will be celebrated on the evening of Thursday, March 3, at the McClure home in Spring street.

Dr. W. S. Matthews will officiate at the service. Only the members of the immediate families and the most intimate friends will be guests at the wedding.

The engagement of Miss McClure and George Robinson was announced about a year ago. The young people are both graduates of the University of California. Robinson is engaged in business in Merced, where he will take his bride following the honeymoon.

A DRESS REHEARSAL.

At the social meeting of the Hillside Club next Monday evening Mrs. Elinor Carlisle will preside as hostess and a very attractive program will be offered, consisting of an address by Miss H. T. Jennings, a landscape architect of Portland, Oregon, and an operetta entitled "A Dress Rehearsal," presented by a group of talented young women belonging to the families of the club members.

The cast of the operetta is as follows: Mrs. Jones, principal of young ladies' seminary, Miss Cecil Collom; Mlle. Epinard, Miss Ethyl Shultz; Mrs. Jarvey, elocution teacher, Miss Florence Doyle; Rose Jennings, Miss Portia Collom; Alice Maynard, Miss Agnes Mayo; Clara Wilkins, Miss Kathleen Collom; Amy Fibbs, Miss Dorothy Pillsbury; Miss Prudence Pinchbeck and Miss Betty Green, Miss Hazel Shay; Mabel Russell, Miss Sylvia Conklin; Carrie Jackson, Miss Ramona Allen; Martha Higgins, Miss Mabel Rice; Sarah Ann, the Hungry, Miss Florence Kelsey; Sophonisba Spivins, the Romantic, Miss Edna von Hagen.

The accompanist will be Mrs. H. H. Camper.

An event that is being looked forward to with interest is the unique entertainment to be given on All Fools' night, when features appropriate to the occasion will be introduced and the evening will close with dancing.

VISITING FROM EAST.

Mrs. O. Cole of Milwaukee is spending the winter in Berkeley. Mrs. Cole is a guest at the Berkeley Inn, but spends a great deal of the time at her son's home in the Claremont. Friday of this week Mrs. Cole will be joined in Berkeley by her daughter, Miss Julia.

Both Mrs. Cole and her daughter have spent the winter in Berkeley before, and have many friends here. Miss Julia attended the university two winters ago. She is a member of Delta Gamma. May will see their return to the east.

DANCE IN MARCH.

A pretty party dated for the coming week has been arranged by Miss Charlotte Biedenbach. It will be a dance to take place Wednesday evening at the Biedenbach home, in College avenue.

The hostess has asked members of the university set to be her guests on this occasion.

VALENTINE PARTY.

A valentine party was arranged by Mrs. C. J. Branstead in honor of Miss Mary McClure. It was an event of Monday evening at the Branstead home in Hearst avenue. Twenty guests were entertained with games and music.

Valentine emblems were used in the decorations, and appeared in the dainty menu.

SABIN COMPOSITIONS.

Compositions by Wallace Sabin will be presented at the next musical in the series which Mrs. R. W. Simonds is giving at her home in this city.

Mrs. Simonds has invited a large number of music lovers for the evening of Friday, February 26. For each of these informal gatherings the works of one of the local composers have furnished material for the program.

GARDENING CLUB.

With a nucleus of sixty members, the Berkeley Home Gardening association was formed last evening in the assembly hall of the Arts and Crafts school in Allston way. F. J. Woodward was elected president of the organization, with Professor E. B. Babcock as vice-president; Miss Franklyn Jones, secretary, and John A. Imrie, treasurer.

Following the adoption of the constitution and by-laws it was resolved by the members to put a quantity of flower seeds on sale for the school children, the packages to sell for one cent each.

It was also resolved to have the public school children fittingly celebrate Arbor Day, March 1.

The committee to arrange for the celebration consists of Professor F. H. Meyer, Professor H. W. Fairbanks and R. E. Mansell.

A committee was also appointed to take charge of the seed distribution. This consists of John A. Imrie, Professor E. B. Babcock and Professor F. H. Meyer.

The directors' board of the organization appointed at last night's meeting consists of Professor R. G. Boone, Mrs. Elinor Carlisle and Miss Mabel Weed.

VOSE BACKS UP PAVING PLANS

Councilman Favors Asphalting of East Fourteenth Street.

FRUITVALE, Feb. 19.—Councilman R. C. Vose is behind a movement to pave East Fourteenth street from the old city limits at Twenty-fifth avenue to Seminary avenue in Fitchburg. It is proposed by the councilman that in the event the property owners are favorable, to pave the street with asphalt, the same as is now between Broadway and Twenty-fifth avenue. It is proposed to hold a mass meeting of property owners from along that thoroughfare some time in the near future, and if sentiment is in favor of the proposed improvement, to immediately have council take action which will result in the street being finished before next winter. Councilman Vose says that several property owners have approached him on the project, and that because of the bad condition of the street during the past several weeks, the majority of the residents along the streets are in favor of the paving. If the same kind of asphalt paving as is now down as far as the old city limits is done as far as Seminary avenue, East Fourteenth street will become one of the widest and best streets in Oakland. Its width, commencing east of Lake Merrit, is equal to that of Broadway, and it is probable that with the paving continued to the proposed limit, it will become a speedway and boulevard.

Mr. E. A. Kelley, Belvidere, Ill., writes us: "I am an ex-engineer with 22 years active service to my credit. About three years ago my kidneys were affected so that I had to give up my engine. First I was troubled with severe, aching pains over the hips. Then followed inflammation of the bladder, and specks appeared before my eyes. A sample of Foley's Kidney Pills that I tried, so benefited me that I bought more. I continued to take them until now I can safely testify they have made me a sound and well man." CITY OFFICIALS WILL BE PRESENT

Presentation of Elmhurst Fire Lot to be Made With Ceremonies.

ELMHURST, Feb. 19.—It is planned to have Mayor Frank K. Mott, Councilmen Vose and Cobbledick and other city officials present at ceremonies to be held in Odd Fellows' Hall some time in the near future, when the fire lot purchased by residents of Elmhurst will be presented to the city. A general social session, with speches by the city's chief executive and by the two aldermanic representatives is to be a part of the evening's program.

HOLD SPECIAL MEETING.

The Board of Trade, which is handling the matter of obtaining a fire site for the promised fire department station, has called a special meeting for next Monday night, at which affairs pertaining to that project will be wound up. The special committee in charge of the work of getting funds has $760 subscribed, and the majority of this sum is already collected. One thousand dollars is necessary, however, to purchase the three lots necessary for a fire department site, and an effort will be made to raise the sum between now and Monday. Failing in this the committee will call upon members of the Board of Trade to make up the necessary amount.

ARE PROMISED DEPARTMENT.

The fire site which it is proposed to present to the city are located on Pine street, near East Fourteenth sreet. They are very near to the center of Elmhurst's business district. Chief Ball several weeks ago inspected the proposed site and promised to use his influence in having a fire department installed there. Other city officials gave their consent and the result is that in consideration of property owners of this district buying and presenting the lot, a fully equipped fire department will be installed here.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE ANNUAL DEBATE SUBJECT

Coeds of Stanford and California May Tryout for Big Contest.

UNIVERSITIES TO ARGUE THEME OF EQUAL RIGHTS

G. F. Morgan of Stanford Exonerated From Charges of Irregular Conduct.

BERKELEY, Feb. 19.—"Votes for Women" will be the subject of the annual intercollegiate debate between Stanford and California this year. It is not known which university will support the cause of the fair sex, as the question was only submitted to the Stanford debaters by the California committee yesterday. Stanford has two weeks in which to decide which side of the question of woman's suffrage it will choose. The debate will be held the evening before the intercollegiate track meet.

Because the question for debate is of such vital importance to the women, it is probable that in both universities co-eds will try out for the team. Several years ago Stanford was represented in the intercollegiate debate by Miss Anna Strunsky, afterwards co-author with Jack London of the Kempton-Wace Letters, and now Mrs. English Walling, wife of the Socialist millionaire. California, although having a large membership of women students, has not been represented on the rostrum by a woman debater in the intercollegiate societies, both the debating societies of the university being composed exclusively of male members.

MAY CHANGE THIS YEAR.

There is a possibility, however, that this year things will be different. During the past few months organizations of women students have been formed at both universities for the study of women's suffrage. The co-ed suffragettes hold monthly meetings, and a joint meeting of the Stanford and California branches will take place next month. At that time it is possible that the co-eds will make plans to enter the tryouts for the intercollegiate debating teams.

The question, as submitted by the Califorina committee, is as follows:

"Resolved, That in the United States the suffrage should be extended to women."

Stanford debaters were in Berkeley Thursday to present a general denial of the charges made by the students of the State University that G. F. Morgan, one of the Stanford Carnot debating team in the annual contest which was held here last Saturday night, had committed any irregularities in preparing for the debate. His statements and those of J. E. Sheldon, Carnot debater of the year before, who was accused of having attempted to give him assistance, that the charges were false, were substantiated by Prof. Martin C. Flaherty, of the faculty Carnot debate committee of the university, by Newton Drury, winner of the Carnot medal this year, and by D. Y. Lamont, chairman of the California student debating committee.

WANT MORE DEFINITE RULES.

California debaters, however, declare that until more definite rules are fixed upon and understood between the two universities they will not come to an agreement with Stanford. It is stated here that books of references were used by the Stanford team at the debate a year ago, which was held at Stanford. Morgan came prepared with a suit case filled with books to the contest in Berkeley here last Saturday night, and his action was the occasion of a discussion of the rules between Professor Flaherty of the State University and Professor Alden, the Stanford representative. Professor Alden stated that he had never heard of any ruling against the use of reference books by the debaters after they had been secluded in the rooms for the two hours of preparation for the forensic contest.

G. F. Morgan, when in Berkeley this week, declared that he had come with the books openly and with no idea that there would be any objection to using them. He declared that he had planned, if necessary and convenient, to lend the books to his opponents, should they be in need of assistance from this source. He stated that he had never heard the rules of the contest laid down, and that there was much confusion as to what might be allowable and what not. It is probable that before the next Carnot debate some agreement will be reached in this matter.

Alameda Personals

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19. — Mrs. L. B. Harms and her daughter Miss Helena Harms, have returned from Salinas and are domiciled at the family home, 2120 Santa Clara avenue.

Mrs. McKee Sherrard will entertain Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Elizabeth Green, the New York girl who is a guest of Mrs. Fritz Van Sicklen.

Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Pierce, Chicago residents, have purchased the Charles Gibbs home on Clinton avenue.

Mrs. John Forth is ill at the Alameda Sanitarium. She is reported improving in condition.

Letters were received from Frank Killam from Bellingham, Washington today by friends in this city. Killam spent the day with Elmer Cave, a brother member of the Elks and former resident of this city.

Well Known Woman Dead in the East

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—News of the death of Mrs. Cora Mitchell Pierce who died in Syracuse, New York, Tuesday, has just reached relatives in this city. Mrs. Pierce was the sister of Mrs. Edward B. Shaw of Alameda. She leaves a son, Thomas Mitchell Pierce. She was the wife of the late P. R. L. Pierce. Mrs. Pierce had visited the bay cities and had many friends here.

Alameda Nine to Line Up Against Berkeley

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—The Booth Crescents of this city will cross bats with the Berkeley McIvors tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Oak and Clement grounds. The speed of both teams warrants a good game.

More people are taking Foley's Kidney Remedy every year. It is considered the most effective remedy for all kidney and bladder troubles that medical science can devise. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities, builds up the system, and restores lost vitality. Wishart's Drug Store.

N. C. Hawks Is on Committee To Arrange Alameda Carnival

FRANK J. MACCAULEY. | N. C. HAWKS.

Alamedans who are taking a prominent part in arrangements for the seven-day carnival.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19. — N. C. Hawks was appointed a member of a committee with Alexander Mackie and Harry Shermasky by the Alameda Improvement Club to make arrangements for the seven days' carnival in this city to commemorate the operation of the first electric train of the new Southern Pacific system.

Hawks has been a booster for improvements ever since his residence in this city. He is now a library trustee, and was formerly president of the Alameda Improvement Club.

He was at one time president of the Pacific States Type Foundry and a California printer and publisher. He was the inventor of the point system in the making of type, but never patented the idea and realized nothing from his profitable invention which revolutionized type making.

Frank I. Macauley is one of the originators of the plan to celebrate the completion of the Southern Pacific electric system by a week's carnival and will lend his assistance to the arrangements for the big fete.

HENEYITES UNCOVER BIG FRAUD IN FAKE ELECTION

Berkeley Supporters of Prosecutor for Governor Test His Strength Privately and Are Badly Hoaxed

BERKELEY, Feb. 19.—The Heney Club and the reformers in Berkeley have been the butt of a large amount of good-natured joking for the past few days. The little private election conducted as a sort of a Heney boost, which turned out to be a Belshaw boost, has developed into a joke. Wholesale fraud in the counting of the "straw" ballot was discovered by W. R. Ellis, manager of "The Direct Primary Magazine," who originated the private election and established the polls. He is greatly angered over the results in his private election, and declares that he has been hoaxed by a clever but dishonest university student who was a supporter of Charles M. Belshaw for the position of governor.

Ellis announced a private election to gain an idea of Berkeley's choice for governor of California, with a side ballot on the question of annexation of Berkeley and Oakland. He declared that the vote would be safe-guarded in every way against fraud, and established eleven polling places in Berkeley, with clerks and printed ballots. The votes were to be counted in the evening in an open window of a Shattuck avenue store.

HENEY CLUB FORMED.

Many marveled at the idea of going to such an extent and making such a to-do over a whimsical desire to know what Berkeley thought about the gubernatorial fight. It leaked out, however, that a Heney club had been formed a few days before, and that the Heneyites planned to vote strong for the graft prosecutor. As nobody else would be in the field as a candidate, thus making the vote a scattering one for the fourteen other candidates, it would look like a big boost for Heney for governor.

Amazement held sway in the ranks of the reformers when the vote was counted. Charles M. Belshaw was elected at the private election, and Francis J. Heney came out second. It was a sad blow, but it had to be accepted.

Renewed excitement and hope came to the heart of W. R. Ellis yesterday when a charge was made that ballot-box had been stuffed. With the aid of Assemblyman C. C. Young, Professor C. W. Wells of the University of California and Professor George H. Boke of the Good Government League, he made a recount of the votes.

WHOLESALE FRAUD.

Then a wholesale system of fraud, perpetrated, according to Ellis, by one of his student assistants in counting the tally, was brought to light. Votes on which only the annexation section had been marked were fraudulently marked for Belshaw; votes marked for Heney were erased and re-marked for Belshaw; votes for Anderson and Curry and Mott were read off by the glad student for Belshaw. It was a landslide for Belshaw, all created by one lone university student.

When the recount was made Belshaw's 165 votes had been reduced to 48, and Heney's tally swelled to 230. But Ellis was not satisfied. He felt that something was not right about the affair, and he is still counting over his ballots, and showing the forged ones to all who show a little interest in the election. He refuses to divulge the name of the student who committed the deed, bringing his private election into such disrepute, but says he would like to bring him to justice.

Ellis is well known in Berkeley. He was a real estate man here for years, but when Bulgin, the tent revival exhorter, was in Berkeley, Ellis created a sensation by declaring himself converted before a large audience in the tent. He set himself to putting his religion into practice by bringing others to the path he had elected to follow, and since that time has been engaged in various reform movements. His magazine, the Primary, is a strong supporter of Heney.

SMALL VOTE CAST FOR SCHOOL BONDS

Alamedans Not Turning Out in Large Numbers to Cast Their Ballots.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—A light vote was cast in the city this morning for the $180,000 bonds for school purposes and a south side sewer. It will take a two-thirds majority of the votes cast to carry the propositions, each of which is being voted upon as a separate issue.

Although there are about 4500 votes in the city, according to the number cast this morning, not more than 1500 will be cast either to support or oppose the issue.

As San Francisco business men living in this city had a holiday this afternoon and many crossed the bay to Alameda, a heavier vote was expected to be polled between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock.

There is an election booth in each of the sixteen precincts in the city.

The polling places opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will close at 6 o'clock tonight.

The bonds are expected to carry.

New Books Are Added To Alameda Library

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Many new books have been added to the Alameda Free Public Library within the past few weeks, and the shelves present a crowded appearance with the recent acquisitions which are as follows:

Abbott—George Washington or Life in America; Everett—Life of George Washington; Guizot—Essay on the Character and Influence of Washington; Webster—Character of Washington; Winthrop—Washington's Birthday; Winthrop—National Monument to Washington; Holmes—Ode for Washington's Birthday; Holmes—Under the Washington Elm; Wiggin—Little George Washington, Great George Washington (From the Story Hour); Bowen—Inauguration of Washington, Cent.; Conway—English Ancestry of Washington, Harp.; Conway—Footprints in Washingtonland, Harp.; Conway—Washington and Frederick the Great; Curtis—Love Affairs of Washington; Harrison—Washington at Mt. Vernon After the Revolution; Herrick—Home and Haunts of Washington, Cent.; McMaster—Washington Inauguration, Harp.; Story—English Home of the Washington's, Harp.

BOY VICTIM OF SHOOTING MAY DIE

Charles Barromeo, Who Shot 6-Year-Old Angelo Fornichi, in Jail.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Angelo Fornichi, the 6-year-old boy shot by Charles Barromeo Tuesday night in Melrose is lying in a state of unconsciousness at the Alameda Sanatorium. His life is despaired of by his physician. Barromeo is occupying a cell at the Oakland city prison pending the result of the boy's injuries.

The bullet discharged from Barromeo's rifle entered the right temple of the young victim. He has only had a few conscious moments since the accident, which will probably prove fatal. Dr. Gregory of Melrose is in constant attendance at the bedside.

Barromeo, who is said to be of feeble mentality, says that he was cleaning his revolver in the presence of the boy and did not know that there was a loaded chamber. The reports made to the Oakland police who captured Barromeo after he had fled to San Francisco were to the effect that he became angry at the boy and discharged the gun.

Barromeo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barromeo of Park street.

Eagles Arranging For Their Big Show

The rehearsals for the Eagles' Big Show are going forward with renewed vigor, the many new members of the cast and chorus adding great strength so the musical numbers. This will be the largest chorus ever put on the Macdonough stage by local talent and will be trained to a finish. "Ladies' Night at the Club," the big first part of the program, is so arranged that all the chorus and principals are on the stage at one time and the very uniqueness of the act is what makes it a go. Another novelty to be put on will be the scenic and musical fantasy "Jungletown Pastimes," an act arranged by Harry Overman, the director of the Eagles' show. Miss Charlotte Burton will assume the leading role, assisted by such well known local celebrities as Sheriff Frank Barnet, Charles Hyde and others. The members of the Eagles' Aric are a hustling bunch and say they are going to outdo all amateur productions heretofore put on in Oakland. The tickets are in the hands of members, and as the prices of admission are to be only 50c, 75c and $1 they should have packed houses at both performances.

WHEELER'S FOLLY WILL AT LAST BE A HOME

White Elephant Mansion of Head of University to Be Completed.

RAISE OF SALARY MAKES USE OF HOUSE POSSIBLE

President Requested Regents to Finish and Furnish Big Residence for Him.

BERKELEY, Feb. 19.—The large white stone mansion on the university campus, known for the last eight years as "Wheeler's Folly," is at last to be finished and occupied. The residence, which has appeared to Berkeleyans as a good deal of a white elephant, was built for Dr. Wheeler, president of the university, about nine years ago, shortly after he had come from the East to assume his duties as head of the State University.

When it was near completion Wheeler asked that it be furnished. Nothing was done, and since that time the white building has remained boarded up and unoccupied.

Shortly before he left for Germany President Wheeler was given a raise of about $5000 a year in salary, making his total income $15,000, rating him one of the captains of finance among university presidents.

SALARY BIG ENOUGH NOW.

Dr. Wheeler explained as his reason for not occupying the mansion that his income was not large enough to furnish it and entertain therein in form and manner commensurate with the requirements of such a palatial home. The raise in salary, it is thought, will make this possible for him.

Work is now being advertised for by the university for the finish carpentry and cabinet work for the completion of the house. Bids are to be opened February 28 for this work. Bids will be opened on the same day, also, for the heating and ventilating apparatus which is to be installed in the new University Library, including the fans which will pump fresh air all through the building.

WHEELER CONDESCENDS.

The activity of the regents is thought to be the result of a request from Dr. Wheeler himself. Former President Roosevelt is expected back from Africa, and is expected in the West some time in midsummer. Dr. Wheeler will be back next month from Germany, and it is thought that he will make preparation to entertain the African hunter as the first guest of honor at the stone mansion.

Nearly $200,000 was expended on the building, but Dr. Wheeler refused to occupy it. Now that the regents plan to finish it, and have raised his salary, he has consented to live in the "president's house."

WOMEN ORGANISE FORESTERS' CIRCLE

Big Celebration Marks Foundation Exercises at Alameda Masonic Temple.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19. — The Collineaux Circle of the Ancient Order of the Companions of Foresters organized at Masonic Temple this week with twenty-four charter members.

A big celebration marked the event. The supreme officers from San Francisco and Oakland were in attendance and initiated the new members into the mysteries of the order after they had been duly sworn in. The initiatory work was done by the following supreme officers: Grand Sub-chief Companion Mrs. Annie McQuillian of San Francisco; Supreme Past Grand Chief Mrs. L. G. Miller of Piedmont Circle, Past Supreme Grand Chief John Faulkner of San Francisco.

OFFICERS CHOSEN.

The following officers were elected to serve the new order for the coming term and were escorted to their chairs by Supreme Guide Mrs. Ida Ainett of San Francisco:

Past chief companion, Mrs. Edith Collin; chief companion, Mrs. Ida Gammon; sub chief companion, Mrs. Flora Pinkerton, treasurer, Mrs. Ida Forester; financial secretary, Mrs. Henrietta Rosenberg; recording secretary, Mrs. Emma Flanders right guide, Mrs. Clara Norton; left guide, Miss Helen Norton; inner guard, Mrs. Emma Oltman; outer guard George Norton; organist, Mrs. R. Blake; physician, Dr. E. T. Hosford.

SCHOOL ORDERED TO BE FUMIGATED

Pupils Remain Away Because of an Epidemic of Ailments.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Residents in the east end of the city have become alarmed over an apparent epidemic of scarlet fever, measles and mumps in the Wilson school and the board of health has ordered the fumigation of the building. This work was done by Dr. Carpenter today when the pupils were absent from school.

Health Officer I. L. Stidham stated today that the alarm of parents was entirely unnecessary, as there were only a few cases of sickness in the school.

It leaked out today that half of the pupils in the school had absented themselves during the past few weeks on the admonition of their parents. The pupils are all expected to be at school Monday morning.

STREET STAKED OUT.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—City Engineer I. N. Chapman staked out Day street yesterday afternoon from Pacific to Atlantic avenues, preparatory to the grading, curbing and macadamizing of the thoroughfare by Hutchinson Company. The contract for the work was awarded by the city council at its last regular meeting Tuesday night.

COUNTY FAIRS EVERY YEAR ARE GREAT EVENTS

Thousands Flock There to Join in the Week's Festivities.

VALLEY NOTED AS HOME OF FAMOUS RACEHORSES

Close to Municipality Is Large Estate and Home of Mrs. Phebe Hearst.

Pleasanton the home of 2000 industrious people situated in the very heart of what is known as the Amador valley some twenty five miles east of Oakland is bustling with a certain amount of excitement brought on by the approach of that time when the district fair of the towns and communities in the central part of Alameda county and the eastern section of Contra Costa county is to be held The people, young and old are anxiously and joyfully awaiting the fall of the year when the festival will be held and all indications point to the fact that this year it will easily surpass the efforts of the committees in charge of the previous carnivals

It is conceded that Pleasanton is to be the scene of the fair this year in which Pleasanton Niles Irvington, Newark, Livermore, Dublin, Altamont, Sunol Concord, Danville, Antioch, Brentwood and Walnut Creek are to take part

During these fairs the people of the country for miles around congregate in the town appointed and for several days the festivities and jollification are the order of the day The spirit is not all of a frivolous nature, however, for the towns sending their representatives and their people in general make it a point of also providing for the maintenance of a booth graphically picturing the industries and opportunities of the respective sections

CENTER OF ACTIVITY

Pleasanton is a most unique town for the location of such a fair The access to the town is of the easiest to the communities in a wide radius around it and the facilities of the place are such that a most interesting and entertaining festival of the kind can be easily given

And again the 2000 people of Pleasanton are all splendid examples of that variety of energy and thrift which is conducive to the progression and prosperity of a flourishing community And Pleasanton is undoubtedly a flourishing community in more senses than one The town boasts of men on her assessment roll who are intent on making the section a better place in which to live and a more profitable town in which to carry on their business

Like Livermore farther up the valley some five or six miles away Pleasanton is the distributing point for a section rich in the production of the grape hay hops cattle and sugar beets

CLIMATE IS IDEAL.

The climate of the section is the best one could wish for The summers and winters change to a degree which is never uncomfortable and yet the sea breezes which are common in the bay counties visit here throughout the year

Pleasanton is a home town first and last The business men of the place have erected splendid homes for themselves in the broad shaded streets of the town and are living there with their families in the greatest peace and contentment All through the residence sections of the town examples of home building which compare most favorably with the cottages and bungalows of the larger cities of the county are to be found and new homes are being erected continually by the residents

BROAD SHADED STREETS

The pride of Pleasanton are the broad tree-shaded streets which predominate throughout the town In the early spring or summer no prettier town in the state of California can be found than Pleasanton and the sight which meets the gaze of the sightseers or automobile tourists is such that an exclamation is forthcoming on the beauty of the place As a town capable of giving the home seeker all the advantages and conveniences of a larger city Pleasanton is to be congratulated

The water system is municipally owned and is pumped from artesian wells to reservoirs capable of supplying the community with fresh, crystal water unequalled in purity in the country The section about Pleasanton is practically an underground lake A well was recently sunk a short distance from the town and at fifty-seven feet down the water was reached which gave 600 gallons a minute

FINE ELECTRIC POWER

The electric power of the town is furnished by the Livermore Water and Power Company which is at present rewiring the section and installing larger and more satisfactory street lights in all sections of the town The current furnished is an even and powerful one and Plesanton is seldom in darkness for a fraction of a minute even in the most stormy seasons when the wires are in danger of being broken down

The town is rejoicing over the very recent success of the sewer bond issue for the sum of $37 000 which was carried by a vote of 183 to 35 This money will be used immediately in the improvement of the present adequate system and make it capable of attending to the wants of a town three or four times the present size of Pleasanton

AS TO BOND ISSUE

The residents of the section believe themselves extremely fortunate in the success of the bond issue and attribute the victory in a large extent to the efforts of a progressive citizen Luther A Rood, who as editor and owner of the Plesanton Times devoted his paper to the fight to carry the bonds Rood took charge of the Times in June of last year and has raised the paper to a standard which has made it a pride to the citizens of the section

Along with the sewer bond issue a $5000 proposition was carried for a further improvement of the water system which will enable the town to place its water supply on a par with any town of the size or larger in the State

CONFIDENCE IN PEOPLE.

The officials of the town have the entire confidence of the people at all times They are men who have been selected to fill the offices they hold on account of their previous efforts as private citizens in the upbuilding of the community The board of trustees is composed of Charles Schween, chairman, Joseph Nevis Hugh Sinclair, Henry Reimers and C H Priest

Frank Nevis is the town marshal Joseph Neal, town clerk and Judge Palmer, town attorney

Pleasanton's school recently burned to the ground and it was but a few weeks before enough money had been raised for the erection of another larger and more modern building which is being constructed on the crest of a hill in a beautiful section of the town overlooking the valley Over $20 000 will be spent in the erection of this building and it will, when completed stand as an equal of any other like structure for educational poses in the county Dr W H Cope, is president of the board of school directors of the town

HOME OF MRS. HEARST.

Within a mile distance of the town is the beautiful country place of Mrs Phebe Hearst mother of the newspaper publisher Mrs Hearst has over 1000 acres here and on the crest of the tallest hill on the grounds stands Castle Verona, overlooking the entire valley

The Alameda Sugar Company grows the majority of the sugar beets used in the manufacture of the sugar in the valley about Pleasanton and Pleasanton was the shipping point last year of over 18 000 tons of the beets

On the outskirts of Pleasanton is one of the finest training race courses in the United States where Lou Dillon, Searchlight, The Limit, Bon Voyage and many other crack pacers have been trained The track was recently purchased by H E Armstrong and the new owner has erected a $7000 grandstand on the track The new grandstand has a seating capacity of several hundred and race meets are held here every year

PROMINENT IN CITY AFFAIRS.

Some of the men who have been instrumental in building up the progressive town of Pleasanton to its present healthy condition are

SALT LAKE ROAD TO BE REBUILT

Definite Decision of Company Is Announced by the Vice-President.

LOS ANGELES Feb 19—The Salt Lake Railroad will be rebuilt through Meadow valley wash and work is scheduled to begin almost immediately This definite decision of the company was announced yesterday by Vice President J Ross Clark upon his return from Salt Lake where he had been in conference with General Manager Bancroft of the Oregon Short Line General Manager Wells and Chief Engineer Tilton who have been investigating conditions in Nevada and Utah General Manager Wells is returning through Meadow valley and the engineers will start tomorrow surveying the new route through that dangerous region

"Whether the railroad will remain permanent in the wash after rebuilding depends entirely upon the final report of the engineers who are now going over the grade said Clark "but for the present it offers the only possible hope because exceedingly heavy construction work will be required for other routes There are many bridges and stretches of undamaged track in the valley that can still be used This will be done and will enable the officials to save a large amount of supplies and material

AMERICAN CODE OF HONOR IS LOW

Professor Meyer Declares That Treating Is Bad For Students.

CHICAGO Feb 19 — The code of honor among American students is lower than in Germany according to Professor Eduard Meyer of the University of Berlin

The professor deplored this situation yesterday in an informal talk at a reception given him by members of local chapters of fraternities in Evanston

"I believe much of this can be traced to the practice of treating among American students gathered in bodies for various purposes Professor Meyer said The German student does not know what the word treat means If he wishes anything he purchases it and pays for it I believe the American student is the loser by not following the same plan

JUDGE DUNNE CRITICIZED IN GRAND JURY REPORT

Police Court Magistrates Also Draw Down the Wrath of the Departing Inquisitorial Body

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 19 — After having filed its final report with Superior Judge Van Nostrand, the Walter A Scott grand jury was dissolved by that judge yesterday afternoon The report contained much censure along with its recommendations and was directed against the police judges justices Superior Judge Dunne and Clerk McComb also against nearly all of the last term's county officials

The condition existing in the police courts, city prison, county jail and relief home were strongly condemned and in most cases relief measured suggested

In regard to the conditions in the police courts the report declares

Serious complaints have been made as to the dilatory methods pursued in some of the courts, and it has been urged that frequent and unnecessary continuances are granted in many cases thus delaying their trial and final adjudication.

"It has been stated that the judges knowingly lend themselves to such tactics, the object being to wear out witnesses and to finally dispose of the case by a dismissal of the complaint

"We must indeed report that the methods of the police courts are too slow Trials are not expedited as speedily as the charter demands "

ARE UNDER PROTECTION.

"It would seem as if there were a well-organized gang protecting such people, and as if they work in dark and invisible paths leading right up to the judge's bench "

Speaking of the investigation of McComb's office, the grand jury says

We find that he has conducted the duties of his office in utter disregard of the laws and of the rights of litigants and that particular charges against him are the mismanagement of the funds entrusted to him in his official capacity

Proceedings to have McComb removed from office were commenced yesterday A complaint was filed against him with the County Clerk by Assistant District Attorney Cotton containing specific allegations of the charges of irregularities made by the grand jury

WAS NOT IN OFFICE

Personally Sheriff Dolan is a genial affable man continues the report but he was seldom found in his office when your committee called and the committee never called except during office hours

"If the law requiring a public officer, such as the Sheriff who is paid $8000 a year of the people's money, to have office hours, he should be compelled to obey the law, and in that way do something toward earning his salary and give a much needed example to his deputies A Sheriff is the last man that should give a bad example in that respect or shirk the performance of his official duty

"The Sheriff's deputies—looking sleek and well-fed—were seen idling around the entrances of saloons and cigar stands during office hours We recommend that the Sheriff be required to keep the office hours posted in plain letters at the entrance to his office

SHOULD INCREASE FORCE.

"We recommend that the police force should be increased by at least 150 policemen

The condition of the present City Prison is quite unsatisfactory—at the present time the City Prison is located in the building used as the Hall of Justice, on Eddy street

"It is entirely inadequate, both in size and in accommodations, for the care and the safe keeping of prisoners It is poorly ventilated and poorly lighted The cells are too small, and although we found the officers in charge making every effort to keep it clean it seems to be almost impossible to make it so

CONDEMNS COUNTY JAIL

"The county jail as at present conducted is a nursery of corruption and a school of crime, and this is no particular reflection upon the present Sheriff, except that he has not given any evidence that he thinks anything is wrong, nor has he used the power which the law has conferred upon him to change the order of things Separate buildings, grounds and discipline should be provided for first offenders They should not be compelled to associate with the vicious and confirmed criminal

We found three prisoners in the county jail who have been there for several years without the proper legal commitment Their names are John Black, charged with assault to commit murder April 15, 1904, Frank Darland, charged with robbery, October 20, 1903, and Harry Squires, charged with arson December 1, 1905

Father Ciprian Of Chicago Passes Away

HILTON RESTRAINS RAILWAY BUILDERS

Alameda Man Resorts to Law to Stop Work of Construction.

A temporary writ of injunction was granted to George E Hilton last evening in the Superior Court, restraining the city of Alameda from further assisting contractors of the Southern Pacific company in their attempt to grade over property in the Encinal city which Hilton claims to own The temporary writ will remain in effect until the merits of the case are set forth on next Friday

The injunction is not directed against the Southern Pacific company nor its contractors and therefore so far as they are concerned there is nothing to prevent them from becoming aggressive again if they so elect On the other hand there is nothing to prevent Hilton from resorting again to his shotgun to keep them off the property It is understood however, that the Southern Pacific will not attempt to do anything more pending the injunction proceedings.

Hilton claims that the railroad company's title to the land is fictitious and that in granting it a franchise through the property the city of Alameda acted without authority

Hilton began the construction of a house on the right of way after the municipality granted the franchise and when a road gang of the company attempted to put a line through he dispersed it with a shotgun Then the city stepped in and tore down that part of the structure that Hilton had built

CONNERS FACING END OF CAREER

Democratic Chairman Will be Compelled to Fight to Keep Prestige.

ALBANY, N Y, Feb 19 -- William J Conners of Buffalo, chairman of the New York State Democratic committee, is facing a crisis in his political career. A special meeting of the State committee to be held in this city Thursday next promises to develop into a bitter struggle for control of the Democratic organization and Conners' opponents are confident they have votes enough to oust the present chairman

Since the organization of the Democratic League at Saratoga last September, there have been many predictions that Conners' days as chairman were numbered The revolt has caused Mr. Conners to cut short his stay at Palm Beach, Fla, and hurry north to prepare his defense

Charles F Murphy, the Tammany leader, who is expected to muster the New York committeemen against Conners, will be among the early arrivals here for next week's important meeting.

THERE was a time when social history included only a record of dances, receptions, balls, the lighter side of life generally. Nowadays no social history would be complete if it did not represent the efforts of society women everywhere along lines of social uplift. It is a good sign of the times that women of social prestige, of powerful influence, are everywhere leading the way. One reads in a recent foreign letter:

"The influence of King Edward and Queen Alexandra on the social, industrial and charitable side of London has been of great benefit to the people. Since the new monarch has ascended the throne, he and his queen have put new life into London. The king is much among his people. It is doubtful if England has ever had so popular a Queen as Alexandra. Her influence is felt almost everywhere. Hardly a week passes that she is not a visitor to some of the hospitals, the bazaars and to many of the schools.

"Buckingham Palace has been the scene of more royal festivities and splendor within the past five years than had taken place in that historic castle in the twenty years previous. It is for her charities that Queen Alexandra cares most, and by way of her philanthropies she has won the affection of a great people."

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING IN THE EAST.

In our own country, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and Mrs. Clarence Mackay are taking the leadership in the great suffrage movement. Miss Mary Harriman is in the heart of settlement work in great New York.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman has made an offer to the state of New York of ten thousand acres of the famous Harriman estate in Orange county to be used forever as a great public park.

Mrs. Russell Sage offers Yale University the gift of $650,000 to meet the entire cost of securing a beautiful thirty-acre park.

In our own city the efforts of prominent women, those whom one will meet most often in social affairs, seems to be definitely worth while along many lines. The great success of the recent Kirmess, under the able leadership of Mrs. Mark Requa, means an unusual experiment, marking a long step in advance. As a result of the Kirmess, the first clinic is to be immediately established in West Oakland, and the result of the experiment will be awaited with unusual interest by a public which gave the Kirmess such generous support.

MRS. HEARST TOOK THE LEADERSHIP.

We are very far from the center of things, but we seem to have kept pace with the social and philanthropic trend of the times. The leadership was taken by Mrs. Hearst, who traveled far, lived in Washington, and who knew what the great cities of the world were doing for the uplift of dependent classes. It was she who generously established our earlier kindergartens, who made settlement work possible on both sides of the bay. She planned the clubs for the girls at Berkeley, which took the place of the dormitory system, and almost every philanthropic experiment on the coast has been the better for her helpful assistance. The public school system is almost ready now to take on the kindergartens, but have been dependent on the faithful care of our most prominent women. Mrs. Wheaton was president for many years of the Central Kindergarten, and she has always had such faithful assistants as Mrs. Thomas Crellin and Mrs. E. B. Beck. Almost every prominent family in the Lakeside district has helped in kindergarten work, and the condition of the treasury was always a personal case to every one.

The first free clinic for the poor was established years ago in Oakland, and was supported by the efforts of Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Mrs. M. W. Kales, Mrs. James Moffitt, Mrs. J. M. Driscoll and other prominent families.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Isaac Requa was elected president of Fabiola Hospital, and before that it owed its establishment to the efforts of Mrs. Everson, Mrs. Little and others. Mrs. John Yule carried the burden as president for years.

Mrs. Remi Chabot helped Mrs. Yule with wise council and real help, and now, once again, the Fabiola burden is to be carried by Mrs. Chabot, who has been again elected its president. The S. T. Alexanders, with Miss Ethel Moore, have done wonderful work along settlement lines, and the finest cottage system in the United States is due to the Mary R. Smith endowment.

The Ladies' Relief Society stands for a philanthropy of much dignity, of real helpfulness, and the socities for the protection for animals are everywhere flourishing, and doing good work. The same may be said of the many children's homes, where little helpless boys and girls are protected and made as happy as it is possible for a child to be without his own mother's love and care.

There are the many aid societies, the Providence Auxiliary, the members of which include for the most part women well known in the social world. Really, when women do so much for charity, one ought not to begrudge them an occasional afternoon of bridge!

It is true, too, that many women think their own special philanthropy the best in the world, and for that, too, they may be forgiven. For unless one believes with all one's heart in the great need of one's cause, there is neither the enthusiasm nor the incentive to good work.

And how generous women are in promoting good! They do give generously of their time, and they do go without things often to promote a charity in which other women are interested. They cannot always afford it, but they do their best, in a gracious way, and no one can possibly realize how many calls are made in a very personal way on some leading society women.

We help along each other's philanthropies as best we can, and the world grows better day by day because of women of heart, of soul, of conscience.

MRS. FRANK C. HAVENS PLANS TO ENTERTAIN.

Already many people are looking forward with interest to the closing of Lent, and to the coming of the spring days, for which are scheduled social dates of interest. They are of special brightness after the forty days of Lent, which has meant for many people life along quiet lines.

There is always the interim after Lent, the time between Eastern Sunday and the early summer days, when people begin to go to the country.

Some of the most enjoyable social dates of the year are always scheduled for that time; one has had a rest from matters entirely social, and one enters into the spirit of things with renewed enthusiasm.

The first of the after-Easter dates will be the large reception for which Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Havens are planning to send out cards. They have settled upon the date for the Friday after Easter, and their friends are looking forward to the evening with much enthusiasm.

Mr. and Mrs. Havens will entertain their friends at the Claremont Country Club at one of the largest entertainments of the season. Mrs. Haven's strikes a unique and most original note in entertaining. She is always frankly glad to see her friends and the welcome so generously given pervades the spirit of the atmosphere. All social events must take on something of the character of the hostess, and so one finds some of them suggestive of Klondyke days, and some of them so full of a stiff dignity that one goes around unconsciously expressing a sense of one's own importance; or else one is impowered by the importance of one's hostess, and the latter's entertainment marks a sad day in the calendar of her friends.

It is a great gift of fate to be able to give generously along every line of one's self, of one's home, of one's bounty, and fate has been good in that fashion to both Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havens.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE TO HAVE A HOUSE WARMING.

You and your friends are cordially invited to the HOUSE WARMING
of the
WOMAN'S EXCHANGE
in their new location
573 to 575, Fourteenth street, between Clay and Jefferson, on Monday, February the twenty-first,
From eleven to four o'clock.

The reception bids fair to be one of the largest of the season, since the Woman's Exchange has held the center of interest for so many years here. Its work is done on the right principle, that of helping others to help themselves.

Mrs. W. E. Sharon has been the able president of the Woman's Exchange for many years, and it has been the means of helping many women to find a sale for their handiwork. The Exchange has been perfectly fitted up, and that wonderful kitchen will be the despair of all homekeepers who will gaze upon its many up-to-date arrangements and conveniences on Monday. For a wonderful kitchen must always mean much of a thrifty homekeeper.

The reception will be one of the largest of the Lenten "at homes," and it will be an afternoon interesting in many ways.

MR. AND MRS. YALE'S DAUGHTER IN THE ORIENT.

Mrs. Nettie Yale Bailey, who, with her little daughter, Yale Bailey, is now in Japan, is on her way for an extended visit to her sister Enid, wife of U. S. Consul Wilbur T. Gracey, at Tsingtau, China. Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Gracey are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Yale of Euclid avenue, Vernon Heights, Oakland, and were born and raised in this city. Tsingtau, a seaport on the Yellow Sea, is in the German protectorate, a few hundred miles north of Shanghai, and is both a naval and military station, and a summer resort for the people of Shanghai, owing to its superior sea-bathing facilities and climate. It is a distinctly German city, with excellent water supply and sewer facilities, electric lighting, schools, hospitals, etc., and the government buildings which have been erected are the finest and most extensive in China. The streets and roads have been laid out by the military authorities and are splendidly kept up. A railroad runs from the city back into the interior and the Chinese settlements are all outside the city. German is the language spoken and there is only one other American resident aside from Mr. and Mrs. Gracey. The American consulate is a very handsome residence provided by our Government for its representative and the Graceys maintain quite a complete establishment with an abundance of servants, horses, carriages, etc., and entertain extensively. During the month of July of last year, when on Independence Day they entertained the governor of the province, the admiral and officers of the German fleet, and the officers of the army stationed there, and later in the month gave a ball to the admiral and officers of the visiting American fleet and local German officials, they had some 750 guests at their house, about 400 of whom dined there, the others coming to "tiffins," teas, etc. Tsingtau has a fine race course, polo and golf grounds, tennis courts, etc., and there is much gayety in the summer months when men-of-war and cruisers of foreign nations visit the port, and the Shanghai people come for sea-bathing. Mrs. Bailey and her daughter will remain in Shanghai a short time on a visit to Mrs. Taylor and will then go by coast steamer to Tsingtau, where they expect to remain some months.

EBELL CLUB LADIES ENJOY A LECTURE.

One of the largest and most representative audiences of the season filled the large assembly hall at the Ebell Club on Tuesday afternoon to listen to the second of a series of lectures by Mlle. Soulas.

The subject for the series is "The Historical Chateaux of France," and one is being led in the most delightful fashion possible through the wonderfully beautiful chateau country of France.

Mlle. Soulas is a most delightful story teller. She is very fascinating, very charming, very vivacious, and she brings a human interest to her story that is altogether picturesque. It is a record intensely human that she gives of these royal personages, with all the quaint stories about them. Her lectures are interspersed with charming snatches of songs, with delightful little stories, that call out responsive ripples of laughter from the audience.

Mlle. Soulas' delightful lectures have heretofore been given in French, but she has learned English so rapidly that her lectures are now given in English.

She has all the vivacity of the delightful Parisienne and the minutes go by all too quickly during our delightful hours in one of the famous chateaux.

On Tuesday Mademoiselle Soulas took her listeners to Versailles, and from there to Trianon, and to Le Petit Trianon. One lived delightful days with poor Marie Antoinette, in the innocent days of merrymaking in the little Trianon.

One met again Madame de Pompadour, sweet Madame Lambelle, Madame de Maintenon and Madame de Levigne, whose delightful letters have been such a contribution to literature.

The chateau de Chambard was also one of the subjects for discussion, and the lecture was illustrated with specially well chosen stereopticon pictures.

Among the many guests of the afternoon were:

Miss Mary Alexander
Mrs. A. D. Thomson
Mrs. A. L. Adams
Mrs. Arthur Drake
Mrs. Minor Goodall
Mrs. C. D. Parcells
Mrs. Clarke Goddard
Mrs. L. F. Cockroft
Mrs. Huntington
Mrs. Stephenson
Mrs. Charles Woodbury

Mrs. Ralph Kinney
Mrs. Harry Carlton
Mrs. R. A. Perry
Mrs. D. B. Hunter
Mrs. J. T. Wright
Mrs. Thomas Pheby Morrison
Mrs. James Allen
Mrs. T. C. Coogan
Mrs. J. B. Hume
Mrs. Charles Cotton
Mrs. W. R. Davis
Mrs. E. M. Remillard
Mrs. Louis Ghirardelli
Mrs. Edwin
Mrs. J. C. Wilson
Mrs. Burt Hubbard
Mrs. Cora Jones
Mrs. Merritt Day
Mrs. C. C. Clay
Mrs. Wellman
Miss Emma Wellman
Miss Eva Powell

JULIET TOMPKINS WRITING NEW BOOK.

After spending some months in Europe, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins has returned to New York, where she is busy on a new book. In New York the writer is known as Mrs. Pottle, and before their divorce Mr. and Mrs. Emery Pottle were both popular members of the literary set in New York. The scene of Mrs. Pottle's forthcoming book is in New York, and she has given to her book the unique title of "The Top of the Morning."

THE MISSES MORRISON RETURN HOME.

The Misses Morrison returned to their San Jose home Sunday evening from a house party given in their honor by the General and Mrs. Dougherty, in their beautiful home in Fruitvale. A delightful dinner was given Saturday evening. The guests motored later to the "Kirmess" in Oakland. Sunday the General and Mrs. Dougherty gave a very handsome luncheon at the Claremont Club, Berkeley, in honor of Major-General and Mrs. Thomas N. Larry. Among the guests to meet them were: Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins, the Misses Morrison of San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. Vanderlyn Stone, Judge Houghton, Captain Wilcox, U. S. A.

MISS ZUMWALT HAS RETURNED.

Miss Stella Zumwalt is being welcomed back by her large circles of friends from a delightful four months' visit in the Hawaiian Islands. Miss Zumwalt was extensively entertained while in Honolulu, where she was the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell. Among the things she enjoyed were the fleet balls, driving, motoring, dancing and bathing. Mrs. Campbell entertained at a large party for her just before she returned.

MRS. GLASSFORD GREETED BY FRIENDS.

Mrs. Alexander Glassford, whose recent wedding to Lieutenant Glassford was a social event at Mare Island, has returned to the island, where she is the guest of her father, Rear-Admiral Thomas Phelps. Mrs. Glassford has been in the Orient while her husband was with the Pacific fleet. She has many friends here who knew her as pretty and popular Eleanor Phelps.

Ensign and Mrs. Glassford are to be week-end guests at the home of MR. AND MRS. METCALF JR. IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Metcalf Jr have reached Colorado Springs, and they are very comfortably established there. They will spend the spring months out in the Rockies, and Mr. Metcalf hopes to be able to return to the world of work before many months have passed. And his friends and relatives are quite sure that his hopes will be realized

MRS. JOHN SMITH ENTERTAINS.

On all sides lectures and musicales have been the order of the Lenten days, and not to be included in some of them is to be quite out of the social world.

Mrs John Francis Smith was the hostess at one of the most original afternoons of the week, entertaining her friends in a hospitable way in her Piedmont home.

One of the best-read and most charming lecturers that has come to this coast in many months is Mrs. Bingham, whose address recently before the Home Club created so much enthusiasm. Mrs. Bingham has traveled extensively in foreign lands, and is an exceedingly good student, and she has the rare gift of being able to impart what she knows in a most delightful manner. She gave the address of the afternoon for Mrs. Smith's guests, taking for her subject legends relating to great pictures

The legends began with pictures of Eve leaving Paradise, and Mrs Bingham's [illegible] in regard to this first mother were most comforting

There were delightful legends told, stories woven about the Madonna of the chair, about the lovely Madonna at Lourdes, and the wonderful pictures of St. Christopher in the Doge's Palace at Venice. The address was very instructive and specially interesting Mrs Smith was assisted in making her guests very welcome by her sister, Mrs. E. R. Folger. After the lecture, the hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by the Misses Mahia and Miss Anita Thomson

Among the guests who were so delightfully entertained were:

Mrs W. H. Sharon
Mrs Frank Havens
Mrs Wickham Havens
Mrs A D. Thomson
Miss Anita Thomson
Mrs Mahia
Misses Mahia
Mrs Albert Long
Mrs Henry Rosenfeld
Mrs Clifton Kroll
Mrs Harry Maxwell
Miss Mabel Gray
Mrs. Youngberg
Miss Mollie Conners
Mrs Doubleday
Mrs. Oscar F Long
Mrs Charles Smith
Miss Carrie Nicholson
Miss Bridges
Mrs Gordon Stolp
Miss Horton
Mrs Nicholson
Mrs. George
Mrs Frank Watson
Mrs Mauvais
Mrs Herbert Brown

SOME TALKS ON FOREIGN TRAVEL.

Mrs. Charles J Youngberg is the hostess on Friday mornings, entertaining her friends at a most interesting series of lectures on foreign travel at her home in Perry street. Miss Mabel Gray is the lecturer of the interesting hours on Friday mornings, and she is personally leading her friends in a wonderful expedition abroad

When Miss Gray first returned from Europe some years ago she had seen so much more than the ordinary tourist, and seen it in such a different way, that she gave the most fascinating addresses She has brought back from this recent trip much that is of interest from the Old World, and her messages to us are timely and instructive

MISS MAXWELL IN THE SOUTH.

Miss Gladys Maxwell is in Santa Barbara, where she is the guest of one of her school friends, Miss McDuffie. She is so bright and entertaining that she brings with her her own good times, and that makes her always one of the most welcome of guests

PRESS CLUB IS MAKING PROGRESS.

For a young club the Alameda County Press Club is scoring a remarkable record. Under the able leadership of Mrs J. Torrey Conner, whose literary work is so well known the club has enjoyed some most interesting meetings. Mrs. Osborne lectured on Stevenson at a large meeting, and a Spanish dinner given at the Forum was most successful in bringing together people very distinctly worth while.

One of the largest receptions of the month is planned for next Tuesday evening, the guest of honor to be Mrs. Frank Leslie. The Press Club will be indeed honored by the presence of so distinguished a guest, of a woman who has achieved great things Though she is a baroness now, and a woman of much social prestige, both in America and abroad, it is as "Mrs Leslie that most Americans know her

She is a most delightful woman, very charming, very fascinating, with a very sweet and magnetic personality, a woman whom it will be a pleasure and a privilege to meet.

The reception will be given on next Tuesday evening in the ball room of the Key Route Inn, which will be specially decorated in honor of the distinguished guest

A large attetdance is expected, and the reception promises to be one of the largest social dates of the month

The Baroness de Bazus (Mrs. Frank Leslie) was the guest of honor at an elaborate reception given this week by the Sequoia Club of San Francisco.

Among those who will be a receiving party to assist the president in welcoming the Baroness de Bazus and the other guests of the evening at the coming reception are: Professor and Mrs Soule, Mrs. Charles H Rowe, Miss Mollie Conners, Doctor Elbert Lawson, Joaquin Miller, Mrs. Augusta Fowler, Mrs. Florence Miller, Mrs. Radcliffe.

MRS. WARREN S. PALMER TO BE A HOSTESS.

Mrs. Warren S. Palmer is to be a hostess in the near future, planning to entertain at her home in Alameda in honor of Miss Renie Kelley, whose engagement to Mr. Edward Palmer was an announcement of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer recently returned from a trip to New York. Mr Palmer's business along railroad lines takes him out of town a great deal, and Mrs. Palmer accompanies him on most of his trips. When they are at home, their residence in Alameda is the scene of much social activity, for there is a large family connection centering about their home.

One hears that Miss Renie Kelley is a most charming young girl, convent bred and very attractive. Mr Edward Palmer is one of the graduates of the University of California who has pushed out in the world and is already achieving a success which means that he is following in the way led by his father, who is one of the most successful railroad men of the coast.

PLANNING FOR THE VAUDEVILLE.

The Young Men's Auxiliary of East Oakland bids fair to break the record for one-night entertainments in the vaudeville and concert they are planning for Monday evening. They have such a splendid object in view that they have enlisted the real interest of people worth while all over the city, and the club house, for which their entertainment is to be given, seems already an assured success

It is such a live issue of modern days to help young men, to plan to give them a good time, an interesting time, in the right way in the right environment.

Already the society, which is composed of seventy well-known young men of East Oakland, has the land in an exceptionally fine location. There remains to erect on it the club house, which includes a gymnasium, card room, pool room, library, assembly hall, all representing many special interests and activities. The young men who are to be the hosts of the evening are busy in many ways planning to make of this vaudeville evening a red letter occasion in the history of their club.

The decorations are to be specially attractive in the national colors, as befits the eve of Washington's Birthday, and there is to be the big "Liberty Bell," the symbol of that other bell which rang out the first defiant peals of our national independence.

The vaudeville program seems specially well planned, with character sketches, music, headliners from theaters, all to end with that charming play, "The Littlest Girl." The management, under the direction of C. J. Heeseman and D. H. McLaughlin, announce "a grand concert for a grand cause."

One hears that the dance program is most unique, and one is told that it is a secret till the important night.

Many leading women are always glad to be patronesses when there is a good cause to be helped along, and there could hardly be a better cause than helping to make fine citizens out of most promising young men. Among the patronesses for the Young Men's Auxiliary for Monday evening are:

Mrs. Remi Chabot
Mrs. Isaac Requa
Mrs. W. E. Dargie
Mrs. Charles King
Mrs. Mark Requa
Mrs. A. D. Thomson
Mrs. Edward Remillard
Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn
Miss Mollie Conners
Mrs. W. H. L. Hynes
Mrs. Charles Foster
Mrs. E. B. Sanborn
Mrs. Frank Shay
Mrs. Thomas Hogan
Mrs. P. Kisich
Mrs. Leon Maison
Mrs John Smith
Mrs M. J. Keller
Mrs W. E. Dean
Mrs James McElroy
Mrs. B. Humphreys
Mrs. F. Ench
Mrs Charles L. Smith
Mrs. Hugh Hogan
Misses Dunn
Misses Kane
Mrs. William H. Donahue
Mrs. Charles Heeseman.

One hears that the carefully planned entertainment has already scored a success, on which the young men will try to increase until the moment the curtain goes up on their entertainment.

Their friends send their way "the good-thought" for them in wishing them good luck.

FRIENDS WELCOME MRS. DOUBLEDAY.

The many friends of Mrs. George Doubleday (Alice Moffitt) are specially glad to be able to welcome her on her visit to her old home here. Miss Alice Moffit was always one of the best loved of the girls who grew up and spent grammar school and high school days together And she has the same characteristics now which made her so popular as a girl, loyalty to friends and relatives and a generous, unspoiled spirit.

The George Doubledays have a most attractive home in New York, a home brightened by three very charming children. New York is a long way off, and the mother of a household is not always free to take a long overland trip, so Mrs. Doubleday does not often come to the coast. Mrs. Moffitt goes East at intervals to see her daughters. Mrs. Doubleday has brought her three children with her, and she is planning to return to New York late in March.

Mrs. James K Moffitt (Pauline Fore) entertained on Wednesday at a tea in honor of Mrs. Doubleday. The guest list included, for the most part, Mrs. Doubleday's friends, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Moffitt senior, and by her sisters, Miss Natalie and Miss Genevieve Fore.

This is probably the last visit Mrs. Doubleday will make to the old family home on Twenty-second street, a home that has been the center for so many years of such an interesting family circle.

The beautiful new home of the Moffits on the Piedmont hills is approaching completion, and Mrs. Moffit, with Mr. and Mrs James K. Moffitt, will take possession of it early in the spring.

MISS FLORENCE PARDEE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Florence Pardee was a Tuesday hostess, entertaining a number of her young girl friends at a most delightful Thimble Bee. A thimble bee is not so strenuous as an afternoon at bridge and seems a specially appropriate way to entertain in Lent. The girls of the Pardee household certainly lead the way in the line of entertaining their friends, for they plan many delightful reunions, as informal as they are enjoyable. Among Miss Pardee's guests were Miss Muriel Steele, Miss Anita Thomson, Miss Carmelita Glenn, Miss Helen Glenn, Miss Loretta White, Miss Wachter and many girls from Miss Pardee's sorority at Berkeley.

So, after all, Lent is not proving either dull or stupid this year, for there are lectures, musicales, receptions and thimble bees to interest one. Many hostesses are repaying obligations by means of their card clubs, adding a few extra guests to a luncheon, or to a bridge afternoon of more than the ordinary degree of importance. Life is all the better for that lighter side which makes it more cheerful.

MISS CRELLIN TO GIVE A LUNCHEON.

Miss Mona Crellin will be a luncheon hostess of next week, and will entertain a party of friends at her home on Alice street. The luncheon will be given in honor of Mrs. Coffman, and it will be followed by an interesting afternoon at bridge

PLAN TO BE AWAY DURING LENT.

A good many people are planning to be away during part, at least, of the Lenten season. Among those who sailed for the Hawaiian islands last week on the new Matson steamer Wilhelmina were Captain and Mrs. Matson, Miss Lurline Matson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bresse, Miss Metha McMahan and Mr. and Mrs. Alice Morrison.

Mrs Bresse has had a severe operation, from which she has just recovered, and the trip was undertaken partly to assist her convalescence.

Mrs. James Otis and her two daughters are at Passy, just outside Paris, where they have been having a delightful time, unmolested by the high waters.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preston are spending their honeymoon at Portola, the Preston place near Woodside.

MRS. CAMERON CONVALESCENT.

Mrs. George Cameron (Helen de Young) was operated on for appendicitis on Wednesday of last week and is recovering rapidly. Mrs. Cameron has suffered from chronic appendicitis for some years, but has hesitated to have the operation which has just been performed. She had a glorious time at the Mardi Gras ball and the next day went under the knife. Her room at the hospital is filled with flowers by her many friends.

BRIDGE PARTIES OF THE WEEK.

There have been few bridge parties this week, but much quiet playing of single table games, which are, after all, the most fun. Mrs. R. P. Schwerin entertained half a dozen tables on Valentine's Day at a pretty Valentine party. The prizes were attractive waste paper baskets

Most of the bridge clubs are meeting just the same during Lent. On Monday a number of clubs meet every week at the Francisca Club and on Monday of this week Miss Ellen Barry of Fort Mason entertained a number of the younger girls at the Town and Country Club. It is quite amazing how bridge is being taken up by many in the younger set and many of the young women play very good games.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Helen Lloyd is the fiancee of Richard Edwin Thompson, Jr, and is being feted extensively She is the beautiful daughter of Mrs Horatio Nelson Lloyd of Berkeley and is one of the most attractive girls in the younger set. Her fiance is equally well known in social circles here and in army circles, in both of which he is popular The wedding is scheduled to take place this summer.

Mrs Joseph Anderson is a bride of a fortnight who has returned from her honeymoon trip and is now ensconsed in a handsomely appointed home in Forty-first street. She was formerly Miss Grace Wright and, having spent much of her girlhood in Oakland, has a wide circle of friends. Her husband is a young business man of Berkeley. The wedding was solemnized in the First M. E. church, Rev. William C Poole officating.

Miss Frances E. Barrett is a member of the younger set of Oakland. She is talented musically and has many friends in the musical set. She is a member of several of the smart dancing clubs and entertains frequently

Miss Ida Hilgate is also a member of the younger set and often entertains at her home in Market street.

LEAVING FOR FOR EUROPE.

Mrs. Will Ralston and Mrs. Lucie May Hayes leave soon for Europe, where they will make the Mediterranean trip and will spend the spring months in Italy, going on later to Dresden, Munich and Paris, and from there sailing for New York.

MRS. CALHOUN TO TRAVEL.

Mrs. Patrick Calhoun and the Misses Martha and Margaret Calhoun will leave for the East the first of the week and will divide the Lenten season between New York and Charleston. The Calhoun girls are exceedingly popular and with their mother will be much missed.

SUING OF WIDOWS RECALLS TWO DEATHBED ROMANCES

Action Begun to Recover $35,000 Fees From Mrs. Sarah Smith; Sister Would Break Will

With the filing of two suits yesterday, one in Chicago and the other in Denver, Colo., there were made public two strangely similar tragic romances of wealthy Chicago men who married on their death beds in order that the women they loved might inherit their wealth.

Alleging that he played an important part in the tragic romance of John R. Smith, a wealthy mine owner, and the latter's wife who fell heir to an estate of $400,000 on the death of her husband two hours after their marriage, Attorney Seth F. Crews has brought a suit for $35,000 solicitor's fees in Chicago against Mrs. Sarah Smith, the widow. The case was called yesterday in the Circuit Court before Judge Pinckney. Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Sarah Peterson, was married to Smith September 25, 1908, at St. Luke's hospital, Chicago, where Smith was dying from pneumonia.

Attorney Crews declares that he was consulted a few hours before Smith died to give an opinion as to whether a marriage could be contracted between the dying man and his sweetheart which would be recognized as binding by the courts.

He claims that on his advice a clergyman was secured and the marriage ceremony was performed after he had satisfied himself that the wealthy bridegroom was perfectly rational and his mind unaffected. Following the death of Smith, Attorney Crews states that he acted as the widow's attorney in the probate court, where the will was approved. Mr. Crews says he has so far received $1000 for his services.

Claiming that the woman who married her brother on his death bed was either not well enough acquainted with him to know how to spell his name or else tried to conceal his identity in applying for a burial permit, Mrs. C. J. Crothers of Bath Beach, N. Y., has begun a suit in the courts of Denver, Colo., contesting the will of her brother, William Harfield Jackson, a wealthy Chicago man, who died in Denver January 21. Mr. Jackson left a fortune of $150,000 to his nurse, who was Miss Helen C. Buchler, a Chicago nurse, whom he married two days before his death.

Following the wedding Mr. Jackson, who was in the last stages of tuberculosis, made his will, bequeathing his entire esate to his bride. Jackson brought the nurse with him from Chicago when he made his last trip in a vain effort to save his life. It is said he gave as his only reason for marrying, when he knew that death was at hand, that he wanted the nurse to inherit his property.

Ambassador's Wife Much Embarrassed by Visitors

Mrs. David J. Hill, wife of the Ambassador to Germany, who, with her husband, are said to be considerably embarrasssed because of the unusually large number of Americans sent by President Taft for presentation at the Kaiser's court. The marshal of Emperor William's court has hinted that the number of Americans presented this season is too large. Ambassador Hill shifts the responsibility to the shoulders of President Taft's administration and says he has been merely obeying orders. Mrs. Hill recently was hostess at the largest ball of the Berlin social season. Six hundred guests were present.

Shows Court How To Make Goo-Goo Eyes

CHESTERTOWN, Md.—Judge Dabler, of Circuit Court No. 2, was not certain that Mrs. Mary E. Francis had made "goo-goo" eyes to James M. Phillips, the handsome young boarder, so he refused to grant a divorce to either Luther Francis or his wife, and compromised with a separation decree. The whole question at issue during the trial was what constituted goo-goo" eyes.

When the husband testified he told how upon one occasion when Mrs. Francis was playing the piano she gave the loving look to Phillips. When Francis was asked to illustrate he extended his fingers to the railing of the witness stand and gave an imitation of playing a piano. At the same time he cast languishing glances at the very proper judge, and in a cooing way, murmured "goo-goo."

Mrs. Francis in testifying in her own behalf told the judge that her husband was unduly jealous. She explained the piano incident by saying that she was playing the "Merry Widow" waltz, and it amused her so much that she looked at both her husband and the handsome boarder. She also said that her husband was a cold and indifferent man, and that she left him when he did not show her the proper amount of affection.

A son said that while he never saw anything wrong, he felt bitterly against Phillips, because he followed Mrs. Francis around too much.

Dies Calling for Her Missing Son

NEW YORK.—Calling to the last for her missing son, in a vain search for whom she has expended her fortune during the last eight years, Mrs. Caroline C. Stobel, mother of August C. Stobel, who disappeared suddenly from his home years ago, died yesterday in her home at No. 443 East 142d street.

Mrs. Stobel was the widow of William C. Stobel, a wealthy tailor who died ten years ago. Not long after her husband's death came her son's disappearance, and six months after that the death of her son Herman. A few years later her daughter Lulu died, and later her son William, so that she was left alone.

Living in the hope that her son August might some day be found, and brooding continually in that hope, she spent all her available money in the employment of detective bureaus, but without success. No trace of the missing man was ever found, and it is not known whether he is alive or dead.

WIDOW OF FIREMAN SEEKS DAMAGES FROM THE CITY

Contends Husbands Death Was Due to Bad Condition of Streets

CHICAGO.—A dramatic story of an injured fireman who responded instinctively to a gong in a hospital while in a semi-delirious condition, and plunged to the floor, thus aggravating his injury so that he died shortly afterward, was told yesterday in Judge Ball's court, where the widow of the dead fireman, Bartholomew Cloonan, is suing the city for $10,000 damages.

The attorneys of the widow, Mrs. Josephine Cloonan, claim that the fireman's injury was caused directly by the poor condition of the streets at the intersection of West Twenty-Second and South Loomis streets, where Cloonan was hurled from his engine while responding to a fire call.

The accident occurred in the spring of 1906, and a month later Cloonan died in Mercy hospital. Attorney Richard E. Burke for the plaintiff contends that a big rut, three feet long and almost as wide, was in the street at the time of the accident, and that the engine lurched so heavily on striking the rut that Cloonan was pitched from his seat, the rear wheels of the wagon passing over both his legs, causing compound fractures.

Ill-Advised Marriage Declared a Cause For Much Insanity

TOPEKA.—"People spend more time picking out a suit of clothes or a hat than they do in selecting a wife or husband, and as long as this continues the number of insane persons will increase," said Dr. L. L. Uhls, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Osawatomie.

"The way to prevent insanity is to make a careful examination into the hereditary tendencies of the man or woman. Find out what is in the blood. By careful selection the number of insane could be reduced many fold. But the ordinary way is for a man to see a pretty girl, be struck at once and determine to make her his wife. It is much the same with the girls.

"The result often is children with bad blood which finally results in some form of insanity. Fully 80 per cent of the insane cases in the state are from hereditary causes, and most of this could be prevented."

Preparations for Wedding Of Miss Drexel Completed

MISS MARGARETTA DREXEL, whose wedding is to be a great function in the Quaker City Smart Set.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Last details for the coming marriage of Miss Margaretta Drexel, the fair youngest daughter of Anthony Drexel and Viscount Maidstone, are almost complete.

The above picture is one the little bride-to-be has had taken as a gift to her fiancee, and is declared by her friends, one of the most striking likenesses of her since her convent days.

The wedding, though it is to be a large one, will be as simple as possible in deference to the wishes of Miss Drexel who cares little for society.

After the ceremony the young nobleman and his bride will cross the water for a protracted stay in Europe visiting, while abroad, his home estates in England.

FEMALE RAFFLES ABROAD IN SAN FRANCISCO.

A female Raffles is operating in San Francisco's smartest society. At a recent very smart tea a coat and a set of blank lynx furs were missing when the guests departed. At a recent dinner party one of the guests found her fur-lined black velvet carriage shoes missing at the time of her departure and a pair of coarse black cloth, red cloth-lined "Arctics" in their place. At a recent ball a well-known Burlingame matron laid her costly point lace and mother-of-pearl fan down upon a table for a moment while she put a few finishing touches to her raven locks in a mirror, and when she turned back to the table the fan had mysteriously disappeared. Another matron at the recent Mardi Gras laid a long pair of new white kid gloves on a table while she turned to the mirror for a parting glance, and when she turned back to the table her' gloves had departed. So the watchword now is "Look out for your buttons." And the woman with sables holds on to them as she threads her way through the crowd.

THE FIRST WEEK OF LENT.

The first week of Lent has not been as quiet as was anticipated. Across the bay things have moved on much in the same way as all winter with the Schumann-Heinck concert to give distinction to the week as the single large affair. To have seen the crowd in the St. Francis ballroom one would never have believed that it was the first week of Lent, for the attendance was the largest of the season at any of the concerts and afterward every table in the white and gold room at the St. Francis was occupied by supper parties. Many dinners preceded the concert and every boxholder entertained a party.

Among those who gave dinner parties followed by box parties were Mr. and Mrs. William Mintzer who entertained Mrs. J. G. Kittle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Babcock and Allen Kittle. Mrs. Agnes Lane Leonard entertained Mrs. Foute and Miss Augusta Foute in Mrs. Hearst's box. Mrs. Henry Scott entertained Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Grant and Mrs. Louis Parrott. The C. O. G. Miller box was occupied by Mrs. William Sherwood, H. M. A. Miller, Miss Mary Dunham and Charles K. Field. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin entertained the Peter Martins and the Gus Taylors. Mrs. Fred Kohl entertained Miss Helen Chesebrough, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Ames, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Drown.

Among others present were Mr. and Mrs. John Drum, the latter wearing a pale blue satin gown under gold panels embroidered with gold and laced under the arms with gold ribbons; Mr. and Mrs. William Geer Hitchcock, Mrs. Hyde-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gerstle, Dr. Annie Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, Miss Agnes Tillmann, Mrs. Doe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mendell, the latter wearing a handsome white crepe brocaded in gold; Mrs. William Mayo Newhall, Miss Marian Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eyre, Judge and Mrs. Slack, the Misses Slack, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coryell, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry, Princess David, Miss Helen Gray, Mrs. Harry Gray, Miss Cecil Cowles, Mrs. Eleanor Martin, J. Downey Harvey, Mrs. J. Mervyn Donahue, the Misses McKinne, Admiral and Mrs. Sebree, and Mr. and Mrs. James Tucker.

Madame Schumann-Heinck was in excellent voice and gave an attractive programme with three operatic numbers, including a Wagner aria from Rienzi, the aria from Lucrezia Borgia which the singer must love as she so frequently gives it as an encore and a recitative and aria from Gounod's Sapho. The most enjoyable number was made up of German Lieder by Brahms, Shumann and Shubert, though many thought the finest single number was Hugo Wolf's "Heimweh." The audience was appreciative and the concert of very high grade.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK.

Besides the dinners which preceded Tuesday evening's concert, there were a number of other dinner parties while enlivened the week. On Monday evening Mrs. Horace Pillsbury entertained at a large Valentine dinner which had been postponed from the Monday evening preceding. After dinner bridge was played. The same evening Mr. and Mrs. William Mintzer entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Philadelphia who sailed the following day for Japan on the Chio Maru. Mr. and Mrs. Mintzer's other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tubbs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dimond, Mrs. Philip Lansdale, and James Otis.

Mrs. H. M. A. Miller's Cliff House dinner which was to have taken place on Saturday evening, the twelfth, was postponed on account of the sudden indisposition of Mrs. Miller who overtired herself settling her house at Ross, where the family is going to spend the spring and summer.

SPRECKELS FAMILY IN MOURNING.

The death of the aged Mrs. Claus Spreckels puts in mourning again the various members of that large clan. All of the grandchildren were devoted to their grandmother and her death will absent from what social gaiety remains this spring Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, Mrs. Harry Holbrook, and Mrs. Jack Spreckels, besides, of course, the various daughters-in-law. Mrs. Harry Holbrook has been going out a good deal this winter and has been looking very charming in a brown velvet gown, trimmed with sable and gold lace and very becoming to Mrs. Holbrook. At the Mardi Gras ball Mrs. Holbrook was one of the very prettiest of the young matrons and her box was thronged with men who wanted dances. The Holbrooks have moved into their own home in Pacific avenue which was building at the time of the earthquake but which was completed only last fall. It is a handsome brick and stone house with an unusual entrance. The Hamiltons are building a home in San Mateo county where they intend to pass most of their time. Heretofore the two married daughters have been living in the big John D. Spreckels home in Pacific avenue which has not been regularly occupied by the J. D. Spreckels since they went to San Diego some few years ago.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR THE COMING YEAR

Mrs. Annie Little Barry Is Made President Without Any Opposition.

INTERESTING TALK ON RELICS OF CALIFORNIA

Would Preserve Mortar and Pestle of Esutdillo Family.

Reports of the various literary clubs were read at this morning's meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Adelphian Clubhouse in Alameda, after which reports of district chairman for the past year were submitted to the retiring president, Mrs. Cora E. Jones

The reports which succeeded the reading of the minutes were of a purely formal nature, touching on the work of the various affiliated clubs, their pursuits and meeting days. Mrs. H. A. Hebbard of the History and Landmarks Committee, gave an interesting talk on the various California relics which have been brought to the notice of the women's clubs during the past year, touching in particular on a stone mortar and pestle used by the Estudillo family of San Leandro more than one hundred years ago. Its true value, she said, has been overlooked of recent years and the lower and larger stone is now in use in the foundation of a house. She suggested that it be taken out, however, and duly marked and placed on exhibit with a number of other landmarks which are being collected by the federation

NEW OFFICERS.

Mrs Annie Little Barry of Berkeley, a member of the Twentieth Century Club of the college town was yesterday afternoon elected president of the Alameda District California Federation of Women's Clubs to succeed Mrs. Cora E. Jones, who has served two terms Mrs Charles Leonard Smith of the Ebell Club was elected vice president, and again the balance of power in the executive board is retained by the bay cities

There was no opposition to the election of Mrs. Barry, her name having been decided upon by the "talent" who prognosticated several weeks ago that she would be the unanimous choice. The nominating committee was in session the entire day and it is believed that the day did not pass without several conflicts of feminine wills, as again and again, emissaries were sent from the caucus room to the general auditorium with messages and queries The election of Mrs Smith to the vice-presidency was entirely unexpected, the name of Mrs J C. Lynch of Ebell having been cast for second place by the wise ones.

THOSE SELECTED.

The full complement of officers elected follows.

Mrs. Annie Little Barry, president.

Mrs. Charles L. Smith, vice-president.

Mrs. C. M. Stocker of the Casa Guide Circle (Berkeley), corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Kate Smith and Mrs. Fisher Clarke, auditors.

Mrs. J. E. Higgins of the Alameda Adelphian Club, State credentials committee.

Mrs. Cora E. Jones. State nominating committee.

YESTERDAY'S LATE SESSION

The afternoon session yesterday was characterized by two sensations The first was when Rev. William Rader of Calvary Presbyterian Church San Francisco stated that women were not, except in rare instances fitted for public work, that the place of woman was in the home, where her duties were near at hand and in which she would find her ideals This statement was particularly ironical as the entire session following Rev Rader was devoted to a conference on civics, participated in by two men and a majority of women.

In the conference Mrs. J E Thane, leader made the startling statement that graft prosecutions occupied too prominent a place in the daily newspapers

"Publicity is a necessary help toward killing or correcting most evils, and it is the sensational method of exploiting such things that is alone condemned.

"Supposing," she concluded, "we ask that if the graft prosecution must be printed that it be published upon the inside pages, and the news of the world and state alone be placed on the front page."

The assembled clubwomen applauded vigorously at the suggestion voiced by Mrs Thane, and will take action at a later date.

The Oakland Club was not a little flurried to find that but two of its delegates were seated, the women having neglected to obtain their credentials from Mrs Leon Hall, the president The members who were disgruntled because no Oakland Club woman was named for the nominating committee which elected yesterday's officers, found in this oversight the explanation of the alleged slight put upon the club and immediately saw that their delegates were accredited and duly seated, a trifle late, but with due decorum.

MRS. CHENEY SPEAKS.

Others who spoke in the conference on civics were Mrs. May Cheney, District Attorney Donahue, Dr. Norman D'Evelyn, Mrs. Sarah C. Borland, Mrs. E L. Baldwin of San Francisco, Mrs H N Rowell, Mrs A J Foster and Mrs I N Chapman

Mrs Cheney dealt with the subject of playgrounds from the standpoint of conservation of the child's vitality. "If the boy does not play with zest the man will not work with zest," she said, "and his elders must teach him to utilize the spirit of play."

Mrs E. L Baldwin told of her experience in juvenile court work.

Mrs. A J. Foster talked briefly of "Our Merchant Marine," "The Attitude of Clubwomen Towards Tradespeople," "The Passage of the Open Garbage Wagon Through the Streets" and "The Free Dental Clinic," the latter being suggested by the discussion of medical inspection in the public schools

"Take care of your boy at night," admonished District Attorney Donahue in discussing the history and growth of probationary work in California. He predicted the abolition of capital punishment in this State within a few years

Officers Elected By Women's Clubs

President, Mrs. Annie Little Barry; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith; recording secretary, Miss Alice Porterfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. M. Stocker; treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Cary; auditors, Mrs. Kate Smith, Mrs. Fisher Clarke; state credential committee, Mrs. James E. Higgins; state nominating committee, Mrs. Cora E. Jones.

THINKS HER BOY WILL BE SAVED FOR HER

Is Certain That the Tug Nina Is Still Above the Water.

WASHINGTON, Feb 19. — Hope of again seeing their loved ones, who in the service of the country, left Norfolk, February 6, in the little United States navy tug Nina bound for Boston, which has been missing, still lingers in the hearts of the parents, wives and kin, even though officials of the United States navy have given up the vessel as lost

"I have not given up hope of seeing my boy again as I believe the Nina has been driven father out into the ocean than had been expected," said Mrs. N. A. Fowler, mother of Clarence Fowler, chief boatswain's mate of the Nina, at her home here today. "His wife is still at Norfolk awaiting his return."

Boatswain Croghan's father, who lives here, says he will not give up hope of seeing his son again.

Must Lay Sidewalks Within Thirty Days

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19. — Launching a campaign for the repair of broken sidewalks and the laying of walks where none exist, Councilman Fred Krumb has today completed a partial list of the property owners who are opposing the general order sent out by the council some time ago These persons will be served with notices to repair sidewalks or lay new ones within 30 days.

At the expiration of that time, if the order has not been complied with, the work will be done by the city and the cost of the improvements together with the expense of advertising will become a lien upon the property.

Councilman Krumb will present the list to the street committee at its next meeting.

THREE ALAMEDANS CALLED TO REST

George Tyroll, Mrs. H. Phelan and Mrs. T. Montercaid Are Dead.

ALAMEDA, Feb 19—The death toll in this city numbered three yesterday. George Tyroll, formerly a deputy assessor in San Francisco, Mrs. Harriet Phelan and Mrs. Tomasito Montercaid answering the final summons. Tyroll was 79 years of age. He died at his home, 2236 San Antonio avenue, after a short illness. He had resided in this city for 20 years and had many friends among the pioneer residents of San Francisco. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Clarisse Tyroll, and a son, E. A. Tyroll.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the mortuary chapel of C. H. Wever on Central avenue. Cremation will follow at the Oakland crematory.

Death summoned Mrs. Harriet Phelan after an extended illness. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. F. G. Sargent, a well-known resident of this city. The funeral of Mrs. Phelan will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from her late residence, 2116 San Antonio avenue Deceased was 76 years of age.

Mrs Tomasito Montercaid died at her home, 1611 Webster street, from where the funeral services will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock, followed by interment in Mountain View cemetery. She was a native of Chile and 75 years of age. She had resided in this city four years.

A daughter, Mrs. M. Manger, of this city survives the deceased.

Will Begin Attack On Baldwin Estate

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Action said to be preliminary to a series of attacks upon the heirs of "Lucky" Baldwin's $25,000,000 estate was taken in Superior Judge Rives' court today when heirs of the late A. M. W de Temple applied for the appointment of Walter P. Temple to be administrator of the Temple estate The petition recited the fact that an interest in the Merced Rancho, estimated to be worth $250,000, was the principal asset claimed The Merced Rancho is part of the Baldwin estate. It is alleged that the late A. M. W. de Temple was defrauded out of this and other large tracts.

Jail Employe Rides Into Horse and Wagon

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19 — Colliding with a horse and wagon being driven by Leslie Tudor of Oakland, E. L. Ward, veteran janitor of the Alameda City Hall, was thrown to the street from his bicycle and painfully injured He narrowly escaped being trodden on by the animal Ward was riding with his head bowed down so as to afford as little resistance to the wind as possible and did not see the horse and wagon coming in his direction. He was taken to a physician and an examination revealed a badly wrenched rib and contusion of the side. The accident occurred at the corner of Oak street and Encinal avenue.

RESUME ARGUMENTS ON THE INJUNCTION

Slander Suit Proceedings of Dr. Hyde Taken Up Again.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19. — Strychnine far in excess of the amount given usually in medicinal doses was found in the stomach of Chrisman Swope and in the contents of Margaret Swope's stomach, according to a report credited to Dr. Ludwig Hektoen and Dr. W. S. Haines here this afternoon.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb 19. — Walter S. Haines, the scientist, arrived here this morning from Chicago and went before the grand jury to tell his story of the examination of the visceras of Colonel Thomas H. and Chrisman Swope, and the contents of the stomach of Miss Margaret Swope.

At Independence, Missouri, this morning, arguments were renewed upon the injunction to restrain the attorneys of Dr B. C. Hyde from taking further depositions in that physician's slander suit

MYSTERY IN CASE OF STRUM'S HOME

Children Missing With a Big Amount of Money in Their Keeping.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19. — A wire from the chief of police of Pittsburg, received by Captain of Detectives Anderson this morning indicated that he can not find the relatives of John Sturm, to whom three children were sent and who are claimed to be missing, with $7500 in their possession. There is no such number as the address given, and people of the name of Sturm cannot be found.

The police here advance the theory that the father may have been laboring under a hallucination. He declares that the children, Paul, aged 14, John, 12, and Mary, aged 9, were due here five days ago, and that they have been staying with an aunt and were to be sent to California where he had settled.

More Arguments in Injunction Hearing

Question of Restraining McCarthy Appointees Submitted to Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Further argument was heard this morning before Superior Judge Sturtevant, in connection with the injunction asked for by the present board of education restraining the McCarthy appointees from taking office.

No new points were made by counsel on either side, and the matter was submitted. Authorities are to be handed to the court by the attorneys on Monday.

Boycott on Saloons Employing Asiatics

San Francisco Labor Council Adopts Stringent Set of Resolutions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—If the various unions affiliated with the San Francisco Labor Council obey the resolution adopted last night by that organization none of their members will be permitted to work in a house where Asiatics are employed.

The resolution followed the voting down of a recommendation that no more saloons where Asiatics are employed be unionized, and it was adopted on the plea that it was not fair to single out the saloons for boycott on account of employing Orientals when other business houses were permitted to employ them.

The resolution follows:

"Resolved, by the San Francisco Labor Council, That all unions be advised not to unionize or permit their members to work in houses where Oriental labor is employed."

King Arthur Knights Plan Entertainment

BERKELEY, Feb. 19 — The Knights of King Arthur, the boy's society affiliated with the North Berkeley Congregational church, have planned an entertainment for the evening of March 4 in the Hillside club house. Professor H. C. Biddle, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of California, will lecture on the uses of liquid air, and will conduct several practical experiments with the substance.

At the conclusion of the lecture the club members will present a farce, "Dutch Justice," and this will be followed by selections by a quartet composed of Minor White, Henry Ashmon, Edwin Harrison and Chandler Harrison.

PHILADELPHIA TIED UP BY ANOTHER BIG CAR STRIKE

Sprung Suddenly by Men This Morning

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—A street car strike was suddenly declared here today by the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes. The strike followed the discharge last night and today by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company of several hundred men "for the good of the service."

C. O. Pratt, national organizer of the association, claimed that 700 men had been dismissed, but this was denied by the company, which declared that not one-fifth of that number had been discharged. The union men declare the company is trying to break up their organization and is forcing the issue. There are about 6000 motormen and conductors employed by the company, which controls every street car line in the city. The union claims an organization of 5000, but company officials say that not more than 1500 are affiliated with the Amalgamated Association.

FICKERT MOVES TO DISMISS THREE INDICTMENTS

Claims He Is Unable to Find Evidence to Warrant Trials of Defendants.

LAWLOR REFUSES TO ENTERTAIN THE MOTION

Continues Cases of Drum, De Sabla and Martin for Four Weeks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—District Attorney Fickert this morning formlaly moved for the dismissal of the cases against Frank G. Drum, Eugene De Sabla and John Martin, who are under fourteen indictments in connection with the alleged bribery in the so-called gas trust. The cases have been on the calendar in Judge Lawlor's court since the finding of the indictments, somthing nearly three yearsago, and no attempt has ever been made to try them, nor have they ever been set down for trial.

In moving for their dismissal the district attorney remarked that he had been unable to find sufficient evidence to convict, and that he considered it right and proper that the cases should be stricken from the calendar.

LAWLOR DENIES MOTION.

Judge Lawlor promptly denied the motion and the matter was continued for four weeks.

Only once since the finding of the indictments have the defendants been forced to appear in court and that was on the day that bail was offered before Presiding Judge Coffee in May, 1907.

Attorney J. J. Barrett has appeared monthly since then, and in each instance continuances have been had.

Young Boy Victim of Shooting Dead

Borroemeo, Who Fired Shot, Will Be Charged with Murder.

Egidio Sernichi, a 6-year-old boy who was shot last Wednesday by Charles Borroemeo at his parents' home in Melrose, died this morning at the Alameda Sanitarium, supposedly from the effects of a fractured skull. Borromeo, who did the shooting, will be formally charged with the murder.

The boy, who is the son of Louis Sernichi, a gardener employed by F. M. Smith, was playing with a dog at his father's home, 5262 Tenth street, Melrose, when Borromeo, who is employed in the Pelligrini wine factory, in the lower part of the building, attempted to stop him and on the child's refusal to leave the dog alone Borromeo picked up an old-fashioned revolver which he had just been cleaning and shot the boy in the head.

After the shooting Borromeo went to see his mother at 1820 Park street, Alameda, and later fled to San Francisco, where he was arrested by the San Francisco police and brought back to Oakland by Detective Hodgkins.

The man claims that the shooting was accidental and that while he fired the gun he had no intention of harming the child. He will be held, however, until the extent of the child's injuries are learned.

File Property List In Contest Over Will

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—A list of the property involved in the estate of the late Egbert J Benedict, whose will is being contested by his father, Courtland S. Benedict, pioneer merchant and banker, was filed this morning. The widow of the deceased, Mrs. Emily J. Benedict, will appear in court next Friday to show cause why her bonds should not be increased from $10,000.

BURGLAR CAUGHT BY GIRL HAS RECORD

Police Think Covington Is Responsible for Many Thefts.

IDENTIFIED BY WOMAN WHOSE GEMS WERE TAKEN

Man Was Arrested After Struggle With Miss Eleanor Hart of Berkeley.

BERKELEY, Feb. 19. — That Arthur Gunn, alias Arthur Covington, the burglar who was captured through the heroic and fearless action of Miss Eleanor Hart in seizing the man when she found him in her room, is responsible for a series of daring burglaries committed in Berkeley in the past two weeks is the belief of the local police. The burglaries, which have baffled the detectives here up to now, all bear a certain resemblance to the method of work used by Gunn, and although he steadfastly denies complicity in any but the attempt on the Hart residence in Atherton street, the police hope to connect him with the others.

Evidence that they are on the right trail was produced today when Mrs. A. Eckhard of the Brooks apartments, identified Gunn as the man who was seen in the hallway of the apartments a week ago, just before the theft of nearly $200 worth of jewelry from the rooms of Mrs. L. Blanck, one of the lodgers there. The police also believe that Gunn was connected with two burglaries in South Berkeley, and with the burglary of the home of J. T. C. Nash of Cedar street, in North Berkeley, all of which have occurred within the past ten days.

CAPTURED BY GIRL.

Gunn was captured through the fearlessness of Miss Hart Thursday evening after he had entered three residences in the exclusive residence distric, just south of the University of California campus. He has been charged with burglary in the second degree and will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Edgar Monday morning.

A rigid investigation of his record is being undertaken by the police. He explained to the detectives that his home was in Los Angeles, but with the evidence that he has been operating in Berkeley for some weeks which they believe they possess, they are searching to find his place of concealment in Oakland or Berkeley in the hope of recovering some of the valuables taken and thus proving conclusively his guilt in the other cases of which he is suspected.

It is thought that if the secret place in which he hid the gems and other valuables can be found, it may be possibid to unearth what is known in police parlance as a "fence."

LOOKING FOR FENCE.

A "fence" is a pawnshop used entirely by thieves to dispose of stolen goods, and the proprietor, by changing settings of jewelry, changing numbers on watches and other means, succeeds in making the identification of the jewelry impossible. On several occasions, when one of these "fences" has been discovered by the police, light has been thrown on a whole series of burglaries which have baffled the police.

Miss Eleanor Hart, in spite of her unpleasant experience in grappling with the thief, has suffered no ill effects from her adventure. Although of slight build, she is athletic, and in the struggle with the man, succeeded in tripping him as he broke from her at the top of the stairs, thus causing him to roll the full length of the staircase. In the struggle her hands were bruised and the nails torn and injured from her efforts to hold him by the rough suit of clothes he was wearing.

SCHUMANN-HEINK SCORES TRIUMPH AT YE LIBERTY

House Is Crowded and People Throng the Stage When the Great Diva Appears

By JOE ROSBOROUGH.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink fairly soared through a colossal program yesterday afternoon at Ye Liberty Theater—great enough to tax even a Wagnerian voice of her magnitude to the straining point, yet with apparently more ease than last Sunday, when she sang the same program in San Francisco

She ranged from a delicate lullaby of Carrie Jacobs Bond to the towering Waltrante scene from "Goetterdaemerung," and then, as though to demonstrate how simple it was, she gave us Nevin's 'Rosary," following "Liebesfeir' of Felix Weingartener.

As this is the second time I have heard her this week, one cannot help being reminded of Dr. Ludwig Wullner, who so recently quickened the pulse of our musical community to the importance of correct and intense interpretation She possesses it to a marked degree, second only to Wullner, but is his superior in voice. With Wullner everything contributes to the expression—the pose, the gesture, the face; with Schumamn-Heink it is the power of mind and voice regulated by a marvelous temperament under absolute control. Wullner is a dreamer and a missionary in the world of music—of that world, yet he moves in it a figure significant, solitary and apart

PULSATING AND HUMAN.

Schumann-Heink is real, pulsating and human. Her heart goes out to yours—you sympathize, you feel, you are conquered. All that is best in womanhood and motherhood as well contribute to her wholesomeness and stability She stands in a class alone, and is today not only acknowledged as the greatest contralto living, but by many the greatest singer of them all.

Again, like the Sembrich concert, the stage took care of the overflow from the audience and some hundred belated admirers of the great diva congregated there, while every seat and box in the house was filled.

She gave but three encores, yet was called out again and again after each series, and we were finally rewarded by the famous drinking song from "Lucretia Borgia"—never better sung, displaying her remarkable echo tones, with the crescendo and decrescendo faultlessly executed.

HER ENGLISH SONGS.

Her English songs were a revelation Here her pronunciation shows a marked improvement over the broken German accent of say five years ago, while the pianissimos in a voice of such volume are of a rare quality, melting with exquisite shading into a trifle more than a mere suggestion of a tone These were beautifully executed in Carrie Jacobs Bond's "His Lullaby" with an added pathos of the tenderest feeling.

In Chadwick's love song, "Danza," she found a bit of humor which kept the audience tittering, and so delightfully was it sung that she was compelled to repeat it.

Her last number, the prison scene from the opera, "Le Prophet," was in direct contrast to the group of English songs that had preceded it and was indeed a splendid display of her power of emotion and the nobility and magnitude of her great tones.

By way of variety this time a woman presided at the piano, in the person of Mrs. Katharine Hoffman, an excellent accompanist, who seemed to be in absolute sympathy with the singer, recognizing at all times the varying moods and intensity of the contralto's art.

California to Row Against Stanford In Spring Regatta

There will be an inter-collegiate regatta between Stanford and California this spring, according to a decision reached last night at a meeting of the California boat club. The regatta will take place either at Sausalito or on the estuary and will probably be held during the Easter holidays It was decided to substitute a four-oared shell for the customary eight-oared barge. No professional coaches will be employed by either university. The California crew will also meet the University of Washington in an eight-oared race some time in May.

Work is now being rushed on the new baseball field at the State University campus, which will be completed in time for the late practice games for the spring season.

Stanford has set the date for the big high school track meet which will be held on the campus under the auspices of the Stanford Interscholastic Association, April 23d. From all indications this meet will surpass all previous ones in the number of participants and in general interest. Communications have been received from many hogh schools which have not been previously represented in the meet to the effect that they will enter the contests this year.

RED MEN ENTERTAIN.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—Pawnee tribe, Independent Order of Red Men, entertained its guests at a grand ball in Encinal hall, Thursday night. The hall was well filled. The occasion was the celebration of the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of the lodge.

Woman "Spotter" for Burglar Spouse Guilty of Complicity

After deliberating nearly four hours a jury returned a verdict last night in the criminal department of the Superior Court finding Anna Feleagel guilty of complicity with Henry F. Lewis in the burglary of the residence of Dr. James Fer Don in this city on the evening of December 24, 1908.

The woman is Lewis' wife and the testimony adduced at her trial showed that she acted as "spotter" for her husband, selecting houses he was to rob. They secured about $3000 worth of clothing and jewelry in the Fer Don burglary and Lewis is now serving a term of twelve years in the penitentiary at Folsom for his participation in the crime.

Detectives Kyle and Drew of the Oakland Police Department and Detective Proll of the San Francisco force worked up the cases against Lewis and his wife. Sentence will be passed upon the woman the fore part of next week. The case will be appealed.

STAYS UNDER WATER 3 MINUTES AND 6 SECS.; NEW RECORD

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 19.—After seven unsuccessful attempts, Bert Swan, a water marvel, broke the world's record for remaining under water last night by lying at the bottom of a tank of water for three minutes and six seconds. The previous record was two minutes and 38 seconds, held by A. Enid, made in a Philadelphia swimming pool.

How to Have Prosperous-Looking Interiors

Rooms—like people—have an individuality of their own—a certain "character" by which they are judged. A cheerful, prosperous-looking room gives a cheerful and prosperous feeling to those who occupy it. And the secret of cheerfulness and that "prosperous air" in interiors is largely a matter of woodwork that looks bright and new.

The problem of securing this air of newness is easily solved by using

Buswell's Stains and Finishes

(Made in Oakland for 20 Years)

They transform the dreariest rooms into beautiful interiors.

Battered wainscoting, scratched baseboards and old floors take on an attractive freshness, and your furniture, vases, lawn seats, etc., can be finished to match or in contrast.

And don't forget the carriages, implements, barns, etc., about the place.

Our name on every can is a positive assurance that the product will "make good."

They last long and look well as long as they last, leaving a surface in good condition to receive a new finish — not quickly checking, marring, cracking or losing "tone" as inferior finishes do.

Come in and let us tell you which one will cover your woodwork to best advantage, and get a set of color cards and combinations.

PEACE MAY COME TO ASTOR MENAGE

Wife of Multimillionaire Does Not Apply for Final Decree.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—It was expected that the application of the attorneys for Mrs. John Jacob Astor for a final decree of divorce from her husband, John Jacob Astor, would come up yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Mills at White Plains, but none of the attorneys appeared.

The time limit within which Mrs. Astor may apply for a final judgment following the granting of the interlocutory decree three months ago expires on the last day of this month. Judge Mills, when asked if he had heard from the attorneys for Mrs. Astor, said that none of them had been before him, and that he had not received any word when they would apply to him for the decree.

The failure to secure a final judgment has led to the presumption that there may yet be a reconciliation between Colonel and Mrs. Astor.

Morphine Concealed Under Postage Stamps

CHICAGO, Feb. 19. — The United States postal authorities are investigating the smuggling of drugs to prisoners at the Bridewell by placing morphine and cocaine under postage stamps on letters.

Superintendent Whitman of the house of correction had known for some time that the inmates had been receiving drugs, but could not discover the method.

Finally his attention was attracted by the fact that most of the letters coming to the Bridewell were addressed to less than a score of the prisoners and that they carried in every instance two one-cent stamps He took a letter, and on tearing the stamps, morphine and cocaine in small tablets or powder were found under them.

The stamps were glued only at the edge, leaving room for an average dose of the drug.

Uncle Sam Accused Of Cheating Railways

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Officials of the Western railroads are openly charging the Postoffice Department with sharp practice in order to reduce the basis of pay for transporting mails in the Fourth district. In order to keep down the average amount of mail transported daily over the various routes, the postoffice officials, it is declared, send out enough postoffice supplies to last six months just prior to the beginning of reweighing.

It is further charged that the largest number of mail sacks required to carry supplies westward are being concentrated at various cities, from which they are being forwarded to Washington by freight. This fact, taken in connection with the fact that the Government has chosen the three slackest months of the year in which to reweigh the mails, has caused a feeling of bitter resentment on the part of railroad officials.

Dog With Six Legs, Two in the Middle

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Six legs proved too much for a puppy born eight days ago and owned by D. Sternsehr of 2263 Pacific avenue, Alameda, and the animal succumbed yesterday. The puppy had but one pair of forelegs, but as the doggie was a dachshund of long and snaky proportions, Dame Nature evidently had its needs in view, for she placed a pair of legs just amidship, and also provided the pup with the usual pair of legs aft. The body is in alcohol and may be seen at the office of Dr. J. A. Hill.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF EXPLOSION IS DEAD

Chinaman Employed by Trojan Powder Works Dies of Injuries.

WILL HOLD INQUEST ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Coroner Will Inquire Into Causes for the Fatal Accident.

SAN LORENZO, Feb. 19. — With the death late last night in the County hospital of Eng Sing, the Chinaman employed as a mixer in the Trojan Powder Company's plant, the list of those who me ttheir end in the terrific explosion which occurred Thursday morning, is swelled to nine fatalities.

Eng Sing was the last of the four men who were removed to the hospital after the explosion, the other three, two white men and a Chinaman, having died on the same evening of the day on which they were taken to the county institution. All of the four were terribly burned. The Celestial who died last night was the less badly injured of the four and it was thought for a time he might recover. He was unconscious for some time prior to his death. Internal injuries were the direct cause of his end. The other three who died at the hospital since the explosion are Elmer Goulding, Henry Onraet, and Kee Eng Woo. Those killed outright in the catastrophe were Alfons Zoos, Reuben Tharp, James McCarthy, John Lewis and Suey Chang.

WILL HOLD INQUEST.

At an inquest to be held next Wednesday afternoon by Coroner Tisdale an effort will be made to ascertain, if possible, the cause of the explosion. More than a score of the employes of the powder plant will be summoned to appear as well as the officials of the concern, and it is possible that more light will be thrown upon the case.

Officials of the company still say that they know of no cause for the explosion, except that a drying room might have become over-heated. The rumor that an employe set off the explosion by dropping a cigarette spark into the drying powder is laughed at as absurd because of the rigidly enforced rules at the plant that no employe is permitted to smoke. Because of the danger incurred by others, the violators of this rule were always promptly reported to headquarters, declares Superintendent M. J. Martina, and their summary discharge was the result. For an employe to have attempted smoking in one of the dryers would have resulted in his being mobbed by the other employes in that department whose lives he jeopardized.

THARP'S FATHER COMING.

The relatives of Reuben Tharp, the young chemist of Raway, N. J., telegraphed yesterday that the father of the young man was on his way here. Because of the terribly mutilated condition of the body and the fact that after the explosion it passed through the fire which practically destroyed what was left of the plant after the explosion, it is hardly probable that the remains can be taken east.

The mutilated bodies of the five men killed outright in the explosion were removed to Hayward late Thursday night, and the three who died in the hospital on the same evening were taken there yesterday morning. The body of Eng Sing, the last of the explosion victims, was loaded into a morgue wagon this morning and it will be deposited beside the remains of the other eight victims whose lives paid the forfeit to their dangerous calling.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funerals of the explosion victims.

Carpenter Is Hurt In Auto Accident

While crossing the street last night at the corner of Fourteenth and Washington streets Frank E. Smith, a carpenter residing at 1537 Curtis street, was run into by an automobile driven by John Jackson, chauffeur for Dr. C. T. Rodolph, and sustained a severely bruised shoulder and sprained ankle as a result of the accident. He was taken to the Receiving hospital, where treatment was administered.

Smith states that he did not see the car, which was running with little noise, until it was too late to dodge the vehicle. The chauffeur was turning the corner at the time and going at a slow rate of speed, which fact is all that saved the victim from serious injury. He was taken to the hospital by the police, and later removed to his home.

A STARTLING STATEMENT

New York Medical Authorities Claim Dyspepsia to be a Pre-Disposing Cause of Consumption.

The post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that some cases of consumption are due, at least indirectly, to unchecked dyspepsia, especially when the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and brain. The weakened, irritable stomach being unable to digest food, the body does not receive the required nourishment, and the victim becomes thin, weak and haggard. As a result, the body becomes a fertile field in which the germs of disease may lodge and flourish.

Therefore, the person who permits dyspepsia to progress unhindered is guilty of contributing toward the development of one of the most insidious and fatal diseases known to mankind.

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no offer could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Oakland only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Owl Drug Co., Inc., 10th and Washington, 13th and Broadway, 18th and San Pablo.

Wedding to Take Place at Easter Is Announced at Card Party

MISS ETHEL DE WALD, whose engagement to William C. Winter was announced today.

At a card party given today by Mrs. Edward George DeWald at her handsome home in Wayne avenue, Peralta Heights, the engagement of the hostess' daughter, Miss Ethel Mary DeWald, and William Clement Winter was announced. The wedding will take place about Easter.

Twenty-ight guests were told the secret at the luncheon which followed the session at cards. The table was entirely in pale pink, roses being the flowers employed in the artistic scheme of decoration. The center piece was a huge gilt basket piled high with the fragrant blossoms. The place cards were hand painted cupids of palest pink, bearing folded hearts, which when opened disclosed the names of the engaged pair. The candelabra were shaded by delicate pink covers, which cast a rose colored glow over the table.

The bride-elect is well and popularly known in the younger set. Since coming here with her parents from Dayton, Ohio, three years ago, she has made many friends in the younger set.

Winter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Winter of this city.

GIRLS ARE TREED BY A WEE MOUSE

Stenographers Take to Chairs to Escape the Small Invader.

A cute little mouse invaded the stenographer's room in the office of the district attorney yesterday afternoon and for a few moments the confusion and fright it created among the young ladies employed there was something awful to behold.

Typewriters were reeling legal documents off by the yard at the speed of about a yard more or less a minute, when suddenly one of the young ladies uttered a piercing shriek and almost tumbled her machine over in her wild scramble upon the seat of her chair. This was the cue for the other stenographers to follow suit and their cries created a stampede in the offices below.

All of the force of lawyers were aroused to action led by Deputies District Attorney Smith and Rogers. They piled up the stairs into the stenographers' room, armed with law books or anything else they could lay hands upon, to assail the enemy.

Miss Riley and Miss Judge were perched high upon their chairs and in a corner of the room stood Miss Asmussen, all of the trio frightened into utter helplessness.

The rescuers divined at a glance the cause of the commotion and down upon their knees they went after the little rodent. Every nook and cranny of the office was searched for the intruder, but without success.

Desks were moved about, wastepaper baskets emptied of their contents and even the stairs leading to the room carefully inspected but the mouse was nowhere in evidence.

"Guess those shrieks fixed him, all right," remarked Deputy Rogers, as he rose off of all fours and brushed the dust from the knees of his trousers.

"Guess so," observed Deputy Smith.

Reassured, the young ladies returned to their work but the horror of the situation still lingers with them.

Baldwin's Old Clerk Found Dead in Bed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19. — J. C. Cavalier, for many years a clerk in the Baldwin Hotel, San Francisco, was found dead in bed this morning in his little house on a secluded part of the Santa Anita ranch.

Cavalier had been a favorite of "Lucky" Baldwin for four decades, and as a faithful retainer had been brought south to enjoy life on full pay. When the old turf king died, he refused to be comforted, and he had grieved ever since.

One of Baldwin's last orders was that Cavalier be given the use of a cottage and kept on the pay roll of the estate so long as he should live.

The deceased was a Frenchman, seventy-five years of age, and was an erratic character, like his master. Heart disease caused death.

DEATH OF FORMER BASEBALL FACTOR

Eugene F. Bert Succumbs to the Effects of Lung Affliction.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Eugene F. Bert, former state senator and for many years prior to the fire president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, died yesterday after an illness of many months. Bert, who was for years a prominent figure in politics and sport in this city, declined greatly in health since a mysterious shooting affair in the fall of 1905, in which he was seriously wounded. Several days ago he was taken to the Central Emergency hospital suffering from a severe hemorrhage.

The deceased was the son of F. W. Bert and brother of Mrs. Albert Whitmap, F. W. Bert, Jr., and Frank W. Bert. He was born in San Francisco forty-four years ago and was a member of Mission Parlor, No. 38, N. S. G. W.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1 o'clock from the chapel at 2196 Geary street. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Native Sons' parlor of which Bert was a member, and following the ceremony the remains will be taken to the Odd Fellows' cemetery for cremation.

Sub-treasury Looter Beyond Law's Reach

CHICAGO, Feb. 19. — When the Federal Grand Jury adjourned at noon yesterday making certain the immunity from criminal prosecution of the man who stole $173,000 from the sub-treasury on February 18, 1907, secret service men watched telegraph offices, telephones and messengers in a vain attempt to intercept a "flash" given the lucky thief telling him of his safety after three years of keen anxiety.

Now that the danger of prosecution is over, it is believed that the $1000 bill man will be less careful and will start out to spend some of the $173,000.

George W. Fitzgerald, the deposed paying teller of the sub-treasury, under whose regime the robbery occurred, blamed lax methods for the loss.

A CAMPAIGN OF HOPE.

In almost every city and town in America strenuous and original methods of fighting tuberculosis have been introduced. Memphis, Tenn., puts up big cards in public places and also in the street cars, which tersely advise "Don't Give Consumption to Others! Don't Let Others Give Consumption to You!" with a brief explanation as to the meaning of the warning; in Indianapolis, Ind., the grocers and butchers who observe the health regulations are given certificates of merit; in New York a visiting nurse goes from house to house and illustrates the need of fresh air and sunlight by a series of attractive colored pictures; Washington, D. C. has arranged a splendid outdoor camp at Starmount, near Washington Grove, Maryland; New Orleans, Louisiana, has installed a permanent educational exhibit in the State museum; while the consumptive citizen of San Francisco is turned over to the Anti-Tuberculosis Society "to be cared for until cured."

These are but few of the big things that are being done everywhere in this splendid campaign of hope. The Woman's Home Companion for March discusses this work and gives full information to any town or city which wishes to join; just how to go about it, whom to write, and what is most needed. If the public response continues as it has begun, we may expect to see the scourge of consumption utterly forgotten in two generations.

HOSTESS TAKES PLACE OF MAID

Aristocratic Girls do the Work in Place of Servants Who Quit Positions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The domestic problem was happily solved at a dinner party given Tuesday evening at the home of Colonel and Mrs. J. Walker Benet in Benicia barracks, when, the second maid having departed in a high dudgeon and a hurry, the daughter of the household, Miss Laura Benet, and her guest, Miss Margaret Thompson, offered their services in her stead to insure the success of the evening.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the colonel and his wife little suspected the identity of the two charming French maids who, in short skirted black dresses, with dainty aprons and caps of lace and ribbons, waited on the table as quietly and faultlessly as though they were professionals.

The dinner was a formal one to six or seven guests and was given to celebrate the arrival of the new post surgeon and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Niedmain.

When at the last moment hostilities were declared in the servants' quarters and one of the maids departed, the two girls undertook to carry out the role of maids for the lark of the thing and for the purpose of seeing how long they could conceal themselves under their disguises. Accordingly, arrayed for the fray, they stood in the background as the guests took their places around the festive board.

The dinner progressed more smoothly than usual; there was not a single hitch in menu or service, and Mrs. Benet's two new maids were voted treasures not usually found at the barracks.

The affair was nearly over before Mrs. Platt, wife of Captain William P. Platt, stationed at Benicia, took sufficient notice of them to recognize them in their becoming costumes. She kept her own counsel, however, and the remaining guests went away blissfully unconscious of the state of affairs, while the two girls declare it was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable dinners they ever attended.

FEDERATION WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

Organization to Promote Uniform Legislation Plans to Expand.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The officers of the National Civic Federation of which Seth Low, former head of Columbia University, is president, have prepared plans for starting in every State of the union branch organizations to promote uniform legislation. This work is to be conducted simultaneously from five centers—New York, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Atlanta. Each State branch will be made up of representatives of agriculture, labor, banking, manufacture, the bar, the colleges, insurance and transportation.

President Low has called a meeting of the national executive committee of the federation for March 3, to consider the question of national incorporation for companies doing an inter-state business.

WEST SIDE CLUB COMING TO FORE

Broadway to Market Improvement Club Endorses Sewer Project.

At a meeting of the Broadway to Masket Improvement Club in the rooms of the Merchants' Exchange last night, the proposition of laying sewers along Jefferson, Grove, Castro and Fourteenth streets recently advanced by the city council was heartily endorsed and the resolution commending the movement taken by the body as a whole.

Though the youngest of Oakland's many improvement clubs the West side organization is coming to the fore on several projects of a civic interest and in addition to their fight for the installation of sewers in the district between Broadway and Market streets it will take up the repairing of streets and sidewalks.

A committee has been appointed to visit the Market Street Improvement Club at its next meeting and the delegation in all probability will be headed by C. D. Munroe, president, and R. S. Kitchener, a foremost worker in the club. It is the argument of the body that the city council is at present spending large sums of money for the improvement of East Oakland to the practical exclusion of the districts west of Broadway.

RAT POISON IS TAKEN BY WOMAN

Wife of Army Bugler Makes Desperate Attempt to End Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Her mind weakened by illness, and in a fit of despondency, Mrs. Robert Ashton the wife of a bugler stationed at Fort Miley, swallowed a quantity of rat poison at an early hour this morning. Steward Malone, with the park ambulance, made the long trip to Forty-third and Cliff avenues, where the cottage of the Ashtons is located, but the husband refused to let the woman go to the hospital.

Malone treated her there and discovered that the rat poison had contained strychnine. An army surgeon was summoned from the barracks, and it is thought that Mrs. Ashton will recover.

Special Trains to See Fight At Richmond.

On February 22d special trains will leave San Francisco commencing 10 a. m. and Oakland 10:30 a. m. and run every forty minutes until 2 p. m. to the Nelson-Wolgast fight. Trains will return immediately after the fight as soon as filled. For further information see Southern Pacific Agents, Broadway and Thirteenth Sts., Oakland.

SKATER IS INJURED.

¶ It is a piece of property that appeals to the seeker of high-class residential realty, and is the only tract with a view of Lake Merritt now selling at "opening sale" prices.

¶ In order to bring it to the attention of Oakland and San Francisco people we have concluded to hold a reception on the tract Sunday next, to which all of the readers of THE TRIBUNE are invited.

¶ There will be no refreshments and no music or entertainment of any description. We are holding a reception to SHOW THE PROPERTY, and purposely eliminate all social features, so that everyone will feel free to attend and be under no obligations.

¶ There, arrange to come out.

THE ADVANTAGES OF BUYING NOW

¶ We opened Grand Avenue Heights two years ago, and have sold to the Oakland people $200,000 worth of lots.

¶ During these two years we have spent approximately $200,000 in improving the property and more than $100,000 worth of residences have been erected by those who purchased.

¶ The streets, sidewalks, sewers, gas, electricity, water and telephone service have been installed—the property has been transformed from a succession of hills with nothing but a glorious view to a fully developed and completely improved neighborhood.

¶ We sold $60,000 worth of lots in forty-eight hours two years ago before a dollar's worth of street work had been started. The price sold it.

¶ And yet we have not raised prices since then.

¶ Now then, if our clients who know this property were so willing to purchase it two years ago without improvements, how much more is it worth today completely improved, at a cost of approximately $200,000?

¶ Lots alongside those we sold for $1500 two years ago can be had for $1500 today.

HERE ARE SOME THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

¶ You get a two years' advantage of the market if you buy now. You take over two years' profit that will otherwise go to us.

¶ It is like buying 100% stock at par with a 20% dividend attached, because on March 14th (three weeks from next Monday), we are going to raise these prices at least 20%.

¶ Therefore, it behooves you to see Grand Avenue Heights at once in order that you will have time to think over the advisability of buying before March 14th.

¶ You get property that overlooks the new city parks of Oakland that adjoins Adams Point, the finest residential district in this vicinity, and is within a short distance of the theaters and the shopping center.

¶ You get the advantage of all improvements and the wonderful development of two years without extra cost.

¶ It is bound to increase in value, because there is nothing else like it in this part of the State. You deal with a concern you KNOW you can depend upon.

BEGIN INQUIRY INTO CAUSE OF FATAL RIOT

Grand Jury to Fix Blame for Outbreak at Prison.

SEVERAL MEMBERS OF MOB MUST TESTIFY

Twelve Convicted Prisoners Are Hurried Away to Prevent More Trouble.

CAIRO, Ills., Feb. 19.—The Grand Jury commenced today to investigate Thursday night's rioting. Sheriff Nellis declares he knows the identity of several members of the mob and that they will be compelled to testify.

Surrounded by a hundred infantrymen, twelve convicted prisoners, who were sentenced yesterday by Judge William Butler to various terms in the Chester prison, were hurried out of town today to the penitentiary. Among them was John Pratt, the negro purse snatcher, whose arrest resulted in an attempt to force the jail and lynch him yesterday morning, with the result that one of the mob was killed and four others injured.

The fourth militia company, ordered out last night by Adjutant General Dickson, arrived here at noon by special train.

OFFICIALS APPREHENSIVE.

Last night passed quietly and without disturbance. The officials are apprehensive of what tonight and tomorrow may bring forth, however, when thousands of laboring men will be free to roam the streets until Monday morning, as the shops and factories here close at 12 o'clock on Saturdays.

The militia was scattered about the city with orders to break up any crowd that may collect.

Animosity toward Sheriff Nellis has died out to a large extent since the coroner's autopsy last night disclosed that young Halliday's death was perhaps instantaneous.

The saloons remain closed.

DENY INDICTMENT OF B. T. PERRY

Officials Say Announcement Was Premature and Erroneous.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The announcement of the indictment of B. T. Perry, a promoter in connection with the alleged defalcation of William J. Dowden, a former collection teller of the Crocker National Bank, is announced as premature by the officials concerned.

The federal grand jury is said to have returned an indictment yesterday, which was placed on the secret file, but neither the secret service department nor the United States attorney's office will give out any information as to who is concerned.

It is rumored about the postoffice building here that a mistake has been made and that the statement that Perry has been under the eye of the federal authorities is erroneous.

Dowden left here two months ago after resigning his position at the bank and on several occasions it has been said he left a shortage of $30,000, which the bank officials decided to "charge up to profit and loss."

Seek Missing Heir to a Large Estate

Stating that his brother has been made the heir to an $80,000 estate by relatives in the East, R. H. King, residing at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, requested Captain Peterson of the Oakland police force this afternoon to locate Albert W. King, who two months ago was employed in this city as a grocery clerk, and has since disappeared. King worked for several concerns in this city, and was well known among retail clerks here.

Two months ago he dropped from sight and nothing further has been heard from him, until the news came today of his being left the estate. The missing man was 38 years old, five feet four inches in height, and of dark complexion. The police are working on the case.

STATE BREVITIES

SACRAMENTO—The Appelate Court has handed down a decision affirming the verdict of a jury and the judgment of the Superior Court of San Joaquin in awarding $159[illegible]50 damages to J. L. Tackett against Henderson Brothers Company, maria Cay Sanborn and others, as the result of the death of Tackett's 11-year-old son Millard M. Tackett, who was killed by an electric wire at Lodi.

SACRAMENTO—The governor's office issued requisition for the return to this State of Frank Nailor a young man who gave himself up to the police of Chicago for forgery committed at Ventura, and for Jose Ratily now under arrest in Denver for omitting to provide for his minor child in San Francisco.

Interesting Numbers on Bill For Y.M.A. Vaudeville Show

MRS. HUGH HOGAN, one of Oakland's prominent women, who is assisting in making a success of the Y. M. A. vaudeville.

All Oakland is interested in the Y. M. A. program, which will take place at Maple Hall Monday evening, February 21, 1910, and a crowded house is expected.

The managers, Mr. C. J. Heeseman and Mr. D. H. McLaughlin, are old favorites with the public and their names are attached to a program which means everything that is up-to-date in concert and vaudeville. Both these gentlemen have appeared many time times before theater patrons and always in something "new and catchy." Their entrance on Monday evening will be the signal for an outburst of applause.

George Walker, in his inimitable impersonations, will put another rung on his ladder of fame and Roy Folger will do things to the piano that will make the audience forget the name of Paderewski.

The elaborate preparations are now complete and the director management and hard working patronesses await success. A few reserved seats are yet obtainable and should be attended to immediately as a big gathering is expected.

The financial success of this affair means a great deal to the Y. M. A. and everybody who is in sympathy with the uplifting of young men should show appreciation for all that is being done by that tireless worker, Rev. Dr. O'Reilly. He has well earned the good will and esteem of the city and it is safe to say he will not be disappointed at Monday night's result.

RIVAL CLUB WILL BOOST WEST END

New Organization Is Formed to Work for Improvements in Alameda.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 19.—As the outcome of some friction existing between George Fulton and the Alameda Improvement Club, a movement has been set on foot by the former to organize a West End Improvement organization, and has gained as charter members, Charles Bond, George Masters, J. J. Searles, W. B. Hamma, Sam Skelly, Al Fisher, and Ed Fisher.

When the Alameda Improvement Club, of which Fulton was an officer refused to back him in his attack on the electricity commission which he said had failed to connect the electric lights in his home until several days after the office was notified, Fulton, incensed, tendered his resignation to the club. A committee waited upon him and an effort was made to conciliate him. Fulton has never attended the meetings of the club since that time about six months ago.

Another reason given for the formation of the new club is that the Alameda club which is located in the west end has the interests of all the city at heart, while the new organization will simply boost for the western portion of the city.

That this new organization is necessary for the development of the west end is stated by Fulton who points out the instance of the south side sewer proposition, for which bonds are being voted today in Alameda. It was proposed to empty the drain from this sewer at the extreme end of the city, but the west end residents rose up in arms and registered a strong protest with Mayor W. H. Noy and the city council. The Alameda Improvement Club went on record as favoring this project.

"It would have been ruinous to our residential district to have the sewer empty into the bay," said J. J. Searles, a charter member of the new club. As the result of the opposition, the course of the sewer was changed and it will empty into the north side sewer, if the bonds carry."

That the organization is not intended to clash with the Alameda Improvement Club is the statement made by all of its members.

SAN FRANCISCO BREVITIES

50,000,000 TONS OF COAL IN SIGHT

Manager Birch Tells Senate Committee of Cunningham Group.

WASHINGON, Feb. 19. — Manager Stephen Birch of the Guggenheim-Morgan Alaska Syndicate, who was before the Senate committee on territories today for cross-examination told the committee that there were fifty million tons of coal in prospect in the Cunningham group of mines in Alaska, which he considered worth, in the ground, $25,000,000 if it could be taken out.

Senator Frazier called attention to the fact that the Guggenheim-Morgan option on these claims called for the payment of only $250,000.

In another connection Mr. Birch dwelt upon the difficulty of mining in Alaska, and said without a railroad the coal would be utterly valueless.

Both Mr. Birch and John N. Steele, general counsel for the syndicate, stated that when, in 1907, the syndicate had procured an option on the Cunningham deposits they were unaware that there was any question of fraud as to the title to the claims. So far they had expended no money on the Cunningham property, but were ready to take up their option as soon as the government granted patents to the claims.

BEATEN BY THUG NEAR HIS HOME

Edward T. Sarnhan Is Beaten Into Insensibility by Footpad.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Beaten into insensibility by a thug whom he scarcely saw, and left lying unconscious upon the pavement for hours, Edward F. Saruhan, of 142 Henry street, was found lying in a pool of blood about midnight, within a stone's throw of his home.

It was 9:30 when Saruhan left his house to go to a drug store at Eighteenth and Castro streets. He stopped at a candy store on the return trip and was proceeding on Henry street, between Noe and Castro, when a man suddenly dashed from behind some trees, struck him with some blunt instrument on the head, and felled him senseless to the sidewalk. The blow laid open the forehead, and the falling to the street caused a gash in the back of the scalp. Robbery was the motive, and when Saruhan had been conveyed to his home it was found that $9 in cash had been taken from him.

LEG BROKEN BY IRON BAR.

Seven Bandits Caught Red-Handed Trying to Loot City Bank.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 19.—Cal Perry, city marshal of Blancard, a town seventy-five miles south of here, was shot and seriously wounded early today in a battle with seven robbers, who had blown up the vault of the town's bank. The robbers escaped on hand cars.

The explosion set off by the robbers aroused the citizens and it was not long before Marshal Perry had formed a posse and was leading it toward the bank. There followed a lively exchange of shots and Perry fell.

After the wounded marshal had been cared for the posse took up the chase again. Word was telephoned along the line and another fight seems probable.

No money was secured from the bank.

BAIL IS REFUSED IN THE CONBOY CASE

Former Captain of Police to Wait Second Trial in County Jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Every effort on the part of counsel for former Captain Michael J. Conboy to secure his release on bail today met with defeat, and Judge Dunn has taken the matter under advisement. Attorney Robert Ferral urged the fact that the ten jurors who stood for conviction held out for a manslaughter charge, which, he averred, was a bailable offense.

The court remarked that he would release the defendant if the district attorney positively co-operated in the request, but this Assistant District Attorney McNutt would not do.

"Ordinarily I don't think the defendant should have been at large on bail," said the court. "As a matter of law I think the evidence warranted a verdict of murder in either the first or second degree. I think there is evidence there from which it might be inferred that there was willful, premeditated murder."

The court will communicate with the district attorney and has taken the matter under advisement. The case was continued for one week, and it is expected the second trial will go on two weeks from Monday.

NILE CLUB SENDS OUT UNIQUE CARDS

Members Are Called Together For February Jinks on the 25th.

Notices of the February jinks of the Nile Club have been sent out to members, calling them together the evening of February 25. The notice is worded in the usual original style of the club and is as follows:

"Harken, ye farmers of the Nile, seed sowers, tillers of the fruitful places, hear what your king, the great Rameses Steenth, surnamed Cap, has done. Sitting in his privy council he summons forth from the tombs of Ptolemy Three Silent Ones, keepers of the keys to dungeons dark of Dignity and Decorum; and thus he speaks: 'Prepare ye a jinks in the hall of the Pharoahs ere the full moon staggers down the west on the night of the 25th instantly, and being silent mutes, they bow their heads without reply and sad at heart return.

BEGINNING OF PROGRAM.

"Together they descend, muttering the pungent curse the while as only deaf mutes can, into the very bowels of the tombs, and there dig up an old sarcophagus more ancient than the rest. They fall upon it, and with lusty blows remove the lid. Aha! What's this?—a paper yellow, dry, of thin papyrus, clasped most tightly to the mummy's musty breast. This priceless scroll they bear in savage glee to the great and only Horwinski. (Come, and you shall hear the weird translation.)

"A roll of music, too, they find—the ancient dirge that wailed and filled the hollow caverns when the dead were sealed away. Some four or five of these sad requiems will gladden(?) all your hearts, for Willard Batchelder, the musicker, brings those, a band of lusty youths, who will interpret all these various measures, the silver tones of bells, the bleat of sacrificial sheep, the plaintive notes of pent-up, eager bulls.

AND THEN SOME POETRY.

"And poetry they find that comes up from the heart like bubbles in a glass of beer; ah, strangely beautiful the lines, and who shall count those verses by Von Strick?

"Again they search and find within the mummy's pistol pocket there described the one lost art of photographing colors, and Lawrence Scammon says he's on to that dark secret and will show you Nature's true kaleidoscopic tints and hues without the aid of any dye or pigment.

"Still feeling cautiously within the two front pockets of the mummy's pants they soon bring forth some yellowed stones like modern marbles, yet with corners on and dotted o'er with many spots—a curious drawing, too, they find, of ancient wheel that's turned by hand. With these, some solemn games have been devised until the orchestra shall play the overture. So come by eight o'clock to watch the wheel go round, and stay until the undersigned have made their good-night bow.

"THE SILENT THREE.

SECOND OF THREE WIVES SUES FOR ALIMONY

S. P. Conductor Barely Escapes Jail for Failure to Support Child.

HE HAS TWO CRIPPLED SONS TO PROVIDE FOR

Court Gives Him One Week to Pay Divorced Spouse $35 for Support.

If there is another man within the jurisdiction of the superior court of Alameda county in a worse marital plight than William H. Hughes, a well known railway conductor, as the result of a divorce suit the records do not disclose his identity. To add to his troubles he is threatened with imprisonment in the county jail for failing to pay to his divorced wife, Ida, $35 as alimony and for the support and maintenance of his minor child by her. He managed this forenoon to stave off this entanglement for a week, at the end of which time Judge Ellsworth will determine what shall be done with him.

Hughes has been married three times. His first wife died, leaving him two crippled minor sons, both of whom were in court today, to support. His second marital experiment was a failure altogether, Mrs. Hughes No. 2 securing a divorce from him after a child was born. This is the woman who is now after him for not paying to her the money the court ordered him to pay in the decree. She was in court to press her claim and carried her baby in her arms.

TOOK A THIRD BRIDE.

Last November Hughes voluntarily added to his responsibilities as the father of three helpless children and the partial support of his divorced wife by taking unto himself another bride. Mrs. Hughes No. 3 was conspicuous in court by her absence.

With his remarriage after divorce Hughes ceased to pay to the former surviving Mrs. Hughes her monthly allowance of $35, partly because he lost his position with the Southern Pacific company and on account of his annexation of the present lawful Mrs. Hughes.

Hughes excused his negligence by saying that his divorced wife and child were living with her parents and needed no money and that it took all the money he could get together to care for his crippled children and his third wife.

He admitted that although he drew $140 from the railway company when he was suspended not a dollar of it did he give to the divorced Mrs. Hughes. Most of it he spent in furnishing a home for his bride and caring for his unfortunate boys.

ALL ENTITLED TO AID.

The court said that of course the cripples and Mrs. Hughes No. 3 were entitled to his solicitation and support, but not altogether to the exclusion of the divorced wife and her child. Hughes had displayed great culpability in not doing something for them when he had this last bunch of money.

Judge Ellsworth was of a mind to send Hughes to jail there and then but his attorney, Louis Glickman, made such a strong plea for time that the court relented and put the matter over until next Saturday with the admonition to Hughes that he bestir himself in the interim and show his good faith in the matter of the alimony allowance.

Lieutenant Tried by Naval Court Martial

Mystery Shrouds Proceedings Against McIntyre On Colorado.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19. — Lieutenant Frederick W. McIntyre, formerly chief engineer on the cruiser Colorado, is on trial before a naval court martial on board the Colorado in the bay today.

McIntyre is accused of responsibility for the explosion in the Colorado's boiler room that killed two men and injured others, when the Pacific fleet was four days out from this port on its recent cruise.

The utmost secrecy surrounds the calling of the trial. It is known, however, that the charges now before the naval judges were contained in the report of the court of inquiry that investigated the disaster when the fleet lay at Honolulu.

Lieutenant McIntyre is represented by civilian counsel. He was detached from the Colorado before the fleet sailed, but it is contended that he is primarily responsible for the accident because, it is alleged, he failed to keep the boiler tubes clean while he was in charge of the engine room.

The trial of McIntyre has added to the excitement in naval circles because of the large number of explosions on torpedo boats and ships of the fleet, and because of the crippled shape in which the West Virginia and Maryland returned to this port at the end of the voyage.

Pretty Bride-to-Be Is Motif For Linen Shower at Her Home

GIVE BERKELEY PEOPLE HEARING ON CHARTER

M. J. Laymance Wants the City Council to Rescind the Freeholders' Election Resolution

Editor TRIBUNE: Knowing your paper is active in supporting everying for the betterment and improvement of the City of Oakland, its growth and its prosperity, and its loyal support in the last annexation election and bond issue, and its loyal support to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, I address you this letter from the fact that I think a serious mistake has been made by the City Council in passing a resolution at the last meeting, calling for the elecion of fifteen freeholders for a new charter.

ANNEXATION ELECTION.

A large committee of citizens of the City of Berkeley have been actively engaged in securing signatures, calling for an annexation election, to annex Berkeley to the City of Oakland, and have been in conference with a committee appointed by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. The Berkeley committees now have signatures sufficient to call for an annexation election. We are all in favor of a new charter. I do not believe there is a taxpayer or voter in the city of Oakland who does not want a new charter, but if Berkeley is annexed to the city of Oakland, then Berkeley should have proper representation in the freeholders who shall frame the new charter. Some of the brightest men in the State of California are at the State University and are residents of Berkeley, and recently participated in the framing of a new charter for the city of Berkeley, which is recognized the world over as being a model charter.

BERKELEY'S REPRESENTATION.

It is important that when the election of freeholders to form a new charter is called that Berkeley should have proper representation, according to her population, on the board of freeholders.

If the City Council and city administration are in good faith and desire the annexation of Berkeley, they are pursuing a course which is going to give the annexation of Berkeley the hardest blow that can possibly be given, because one of the strong contentions of the citizens of Berkeley is that they were to have the say in the framing of a new charter for the city of Oakland.

The board of freeholders should consist of the very best citizens of the city of Oakland and the city of Berkeley. It should be a large representative board and above all and everything else, should be non-political in its character.

I is very essential that all the citizens of the city of Berkeley and the city of Oakland and that each portion of the city and its diversified interests should be properly safe-guarded.

The university of the State of California is the pride, not only of the cities of Berkeley and Oakland, but of the whole State of California, and every precaution should be taken that all protection should be drawn around this great university that can possibly be done.

Therefore, Mr. Editor, I take the position that the City Council should immediately rescind the resolution passed at the last meeting and that no freeholders election should be called until after it has been decided whether or not Berkeley will be annexed.

Very truly yours,

M. J. LAYMANCE.

UNCLE SAM IS A BUSINESS MAN

America Has Established Successful Ventures Abroad

While multitudes of people, including our Solons in Congress, have been talking and writing at recurrent intervals about the advisability and practicability of Uncle Sam's owning and operating public utilities—for every year sees some project looking toward the extension of government control considered and side-tracked—the old gentleman has quietly gone ahead and acquired, either by purchase or establishing them himself, cable, telegraph and telephone systems, steamship and railroad lines, postal savings banks, cold storage plants, packing houses and numerous other business undertakings.

OWNS TELEGRAPH.

In the Washington-Alaska telegraph system the United States government owns and operates one of the most intricate commercial cable and telegraph systems in the world.

Conservative men and engineers declared it would be impossible successfully to construct and operate a telegraphic system over the wild and trackless country it traverses, but Uncle Sam was undaunted and resourceful and, despite the unpropitious physical conditions, now operates 5050 miles of land lines, cables and wireless in this system.

CABLE IN ICE.

Uncle Sam is not to be outdone when nature interferes with his plans. When the cable under Norton Sound was destroyed by icebergs, which constantly crunched against it, and things looked serious, he erected wireless towers on the opposite shores of the sound, 107 miles apart, so now the system in its totality comprises elements not elsewhere combined in a single system—submarine, land and wireless methods, all united as one competent and harmonious system.

Not only in the far North has Uncle Sam shown his ability to overcome adverse conditions in establishing telegraphic communications, but in the tropics he is operating cable and telegraph systems, and in the Philippines he has 6951 miles of cable and telegraph lines in operation. The telegraph lines reach into the remotest provinces and to all the principal islands of the archipelago and bring them all within half a day's communication of Manila.

3 CENTS PER WORD.

The rate for telegrams throughout the system is three cents a word, irrespective of distance. Thus the person living on a remote island pays no more than does the one living in Manila.

The difficulties which the government has encountered and overcome in establishing this means of communication in the Philippines are almost inestimable. The line running from Zamboanga to Jolo was such a hopeless task to keep in repair on account of the coral beds cutting the strands of the cable that in 1905 Uncle Sam installed a wireless plant there and with his usual foresight anticipated an increase of business. At the time the wireless towers were erected he built telegraph and telephone lines radiating to many towns.

In Porto Rico, too, the government telegraph service extends to every town, either directly or by telephone, and in addition many of the larger barrios and important sugar mills are connected with the main lines. The government receives messages over the 'phones and transmits them by telegraph at low rates. So profitable an investment has the whole system been from the start that recently Uncle Sam reduced the price of telegrams.

PANAMA RAILROAD.

When the United States government undertook the management of the Panama railroad and its connecting line it saw great possibilities of developing it into a good paying investment. That its sagacity was not unfounded is proved by the fact that last year the sea-to-sea railroad at Panama showed an increase of $902,537 in its earnings over those of the previous year, or 24.8 per cent. The railroad, before government ownership, was a rather dilapidated affair, totally inadequate for the demands upon it, and great quantities of merchandise were piled up at both ends of the line.

There has been a transformation since the hustling American arrived, and yards, docks and warehouses, with mechanical contrivances for loading and unloading have been constructed, with the result that consignments are handled at a lower rate than is charged by any transportation company in any port of the world, while the rapidity of transferring cargoes from steamship to railroad is not exceeded in any country.

The Panama railroad steamship line, with offices at 24 State street, New York, is conducted in a thoroughly modern way. All officials of the railroad and steamship lines are employes of the United States government, their salaries are fixed and they do not profit by the increased earnings of the company.

In Puerto Rico, too, Uncle Sam stepped in and helped, for twentieth century business was trying to deal with the fourteenth century roads, and the problem of transportation was a very serious one. Three years ago, under authority of the United States government, the insular government issued $1,000,000 worth of bonds to construct wagon roads throughout the island, and now Uncle Sam owns and maintains 510 miles of highway in Puerto Rico. Roads have been built all over the country, with splendid bridges spanning the rivers.

While financiers have been discussing the feasibility of such a chain of federal banks Uncle Sam has turned every post office in the Philippines into a savings bank, and has there demonstrated not only the practicability of such a system, but has stimulated habits of thrift among the natives, and last year these banks had deposits amounting to $500,000.

To the unenlightened it would seem like a gentle prevarication to state that Uncle Sam since June, 1902, has been the proprietor of a fashionable health resort but it is nevertheless true, for the government operates a most attractive one at Benguio in the Philippine Islands.

Durable Dane Likes Immense Edifice at Richmond

BATTLING NELSON [illegible] ring [illegible] he beat Jimmy Britt [illegible] the Goldfield [illegible] the third [illegible] present on [illegible] at Colma [illegible] arena [illegible] fields [illegible] box office [illegible] $150,000 [illegible] the [illegible] well at that.

The Goldfield [illegible] it was [illegible] fact it was [illegible] opinion of many the only [illegible] ever beat it was [illegible] which was built for the Gans-Herman contest. The arena just being completed at Richmond has struck the fancy of all who have seen it and everywhere one goes there is nothing but praise for the management of the building.

FINE ARRANGEMENTS

It is said that the seating [illegible] arranged that the fans will have an excellent view of the ring [illegible] portion of the place [illegible] be almost impossible for any one to obstruct the view. The town of Richmond [illegible] fight [illegible] yesterday [illegible] test [illegible] agents [illegible] passing out [illegible] taking in the money.

Hester announced last night that the [illegible] tered [illegible] $500 and that the indication [illegible] advance sale going to $1500. If this is so and there seems little reason to doubt the [illegible] man the management of the affair will come out ahead of the game.

Last night Hester and Tom Jones patched up their little differences over the moving picture business. Hester gave Jones $100 for a third interest in the pictures. This leaves Nelson one third and the club two thirds. Now all that is left is the fight itself and in the [illegible] of the writer this is to be one of the sort that the fans dream about.

MEN IN FINE SHAPE

To talk of the training of the two men now seems just a bit absurd, for they have both shown evidence of great condition and there is not the slightest doubt but that they are confident as it is possible to be. Of course Nelson will enter the ring to more confident of the two, the champion always [illegible] in any contest.

Wolgast will not be one of the [illegible] frightened half beaten fighters that usually oppose a champion of great reputation, however, for he has had one scrap with Nelson and he has never been of any opinion except that [illegible] he says that had he had five more rounds he would have put the [illegible] to sleep. The styles [illegible] who are to oppose [illegible] indicates that [illegible]

Boilermaker Shows Buoyancy of Youth

HONEST [illegible] follows there is [illegible] but Jim Jeffries really does look fine. After having read so much of the big fellow in the eastern papers I really expected to see a man [illegible] who had [illegible] some [illegible] pounds but who [illegible] if in doing it that he would look drawn and tired and anything but the clean-[illegible] fellow that he was.

When Jeffries came bounding [illegible] the stairs of Chick Wright's billiard parlor yesterday afternoon he did so with the step of one who had not lost his spring and youth. Take in [illegible] weighing about [illegible] pounds and have him bound up two flights of stairs and see how he will puff and blow.

Did Jeffries? I should say not. Jeffries [illegible] all afternoon at the Wright parlor and although he played for more than two hours he never once sat down. To one who has watched men play pool and billiards this will appeal as an indication of condition for it is seldom that a man will play even one game without sitting down for a rest. In the game with Jeffries was Clarence Kolb, [illegible] Clark and others and every one of them took a turn at sitting down with the exception of Jeffries. Jeffries did not stand because he wanted to show condition; he did so unconsciously and without any reason for it.

LOOKS GREAT

For me to tell you, Mr Reader, that Jeffries is in good condition would be folly of the first degree for there is no way of my knowing whether or not he is, but there is one thing he certainly looks great and if the [illegible] he is really right now for the fight. Sam Berger was asked about the stories that had come from the East at times regarding the condition Jeffries was in and the way he had aged in his reducing process.

"I will explain that to you in a minute," said Sam, "by telling you of a fellow we met at Spokane the other evening. This fellow came to me and asked for an introduction to Jeffries. He informed me that he was a sporting editor and I asked him if he had ever seen a boxing contest. He replied that he had not. I then asked him if he had ever seen a fighter in training and he replied that one he has seen a fighter train on the stage and that he had read lots about the way men train. We met Jeffries shortly after that and the visitor stood with his mouth open gazing at the big fellow as if he were Jack the Giant Killer. The next day a story was published to the effect that Jeffries would never be able to get into condition again and that he looked old and haggard. Can you beat that? That is the sort of thing we have had to contend with all through this trip and it is the reason for the fool stories that have come out from time to time."

The story that Sam tells in a way corroborates the statement made by the writer some time ago that the foul dispatches about both Johnson and Jeffries come from newspaper men who did not know their business. Sunday afternoon the fans will have an opportunity to see Jeffries in action at the baseball grounds in Valencia street and at that time the boxing may show whether or not Jeffries has come back to his former condition.

RICKARD ARRIVES

Tex Rickard arrived last night from Ely, Nev., and will today meet with Jack Gleason and decide on the location for the big fight. Judging by the way Tex talked last night it would seem that Ocean View or Richmond would be the ultimate location. He went on record again as saying that he would not stand for being "sidetracked" in the promotion of the contest for the sake of getting permit in San Francisco.

Rickard took occasion to say that during his time in Nevada he had spent something like $200,000 in San Francisco and that he did not consider himself a rank outsider. Gleason and Rickard will make the rounds of the various battle grounds today and tomorrow it will be announced where the fight will take place. Of course Tex still says Salt Lake has the best [illegible] but we are now sure that he is simply letting down easy the Salt Lake people.

NO FOULS PROBABLE

Both men have informed the writer that under no circumstances do they want to win the contest on a foul and [illegible] sure sign that [illegible] Nelson never entered the ring with a man for whom he has had such a grudge and Wolgast has talked just enough to show that the fruits of victory will not be sweetened alone by the winning of the championship but also by the fact that he has conquered the man who has belittled him and tried in every manner to make him small in the estimation of the people. Nelson claims that Wolgast has acted in a nasty manner about [illegible] South and [illegible] With [illegible] that the contest is to be one in which many old feelings are to be settled and one between two recognized tough ones the fans should get all they ask for in the matter of good hard fighting.

Has-Beens Will Cross Bats With Never-Sweats

The Has Beens and the Never Sweats, composed of the employes of the Oakland Bank of Savings, will cross bats at Freeman's Park Saturday, February 26, at [illegible] p. m.

The bank boys have developed a number of stars who bid fair to eclipse such men as Bill Lange and Hans Wagner and as there exists considerable rivalry between these teams the game should be one of the best pulled off in the local [illegible] this season.

Among the notables in the line up will be Slats Moor and Tim [illegible] the opposing twirlers, while Curly [illegible] and Skinny Watson will be the receivers. High Brow Allardt will be [illegible] up around the short field while Strong Man [illegible] will vie with Crab Adney who is also a talented singer in holding down the difficult station at third.

The initial bags will be well taken care of by [illegible] Broderick and Charley House. [illegible] in the outer garden [illegible] will be found such stars as [illegible] Caldwell [illegible] and [illegible] of Imperial City fame.

OAKS ARE GETTING READY FOR PRACTICE

Team Will Be Quartered at Hayward and Training Will Begin March 1

Plans for the coming training trip of the Oakland Coast League baseball club to Hayward are being [illegible] next Monday Manager Wolverton will establish himself [illegible] Hayward [illegible] able to [illegible] the work of getting the grounds in proper shape for training [illegible] the team will [illegible] Hayward again and will use the grounds of [illegible] Hayward [illegible] practice. There is still some trouble from seepage water on the grounds but Manager Wolverton hopes to have this remedied so that the outfielders will have better footing than they had last spring.

Regular practice will commence on March 1st and all the candidates for places on the team have been ordered to report at that time. The majority of the Eastern contingent will come to the Coast on the White Sox special which is due in Oakland from Chicago on the evening of February 28. Carl [illegible] and Pfeister Dunk are coming out on their own hook [illegible] of the men are in the South [illegible] others are [illegible] Oakland [illegible] there will be over twenty men in the training squad when they all are assembled.

GAMES WITH WHITE SOX

Exhibition games are to be played by the Oaks with the White Sox on Sunday morning and Thursday afternoons during March at Freeman's Park, commencing March 6. Other exhibition games will probably be played with some of the State League teams, St. Mary's College and others. Manager Wolverton says he is in favor of playing games almost every day during the training season as he considers this the best practice the men can get.

"Babe" Danzig, the big first baseman turned over to the Sacramento club by the Boston Americans, today came to terms with Manager Charles Graham and wired that he was ready to report at once. Danzig is in Oswego, N. Y. The new Kripp ball park will be formally opened March 9 by a game between the Senators and the Chicago White Sox.

NATIONAL SCHEDULE

The National League last night adopted a playing schedule calling for 154 games for the coming season but it was accomplished only after a majority of the magnates had expressed their opinion that newspaper criticism over the delay was causing unfavorable publicity.

After a two hours session the board decided that it had jurisdiction of the Murray case and accordingly notified the Philadelphia club that it must explain within 15 days why Murray's contract was broken.

San Leandro Nine to Play Crack Amateurs

On February 27 the crack Lash's Bitters team will journey to San Leandro to hook up with the home team. Last year the Lash's played Napa, Modesto, Newman and such clubs and always made a creditable showing. This will be the second game of the season for the team from Cherry Villa as they open Sunday, February 20, with the Yosemite club of San Francisco. These two games will start the 1910 ball rolling and games will be played every Sunday on the home grounds. The ball grounds have been plowed and rolled and will compare favorably with any Coast league diamond.

February 27 a game has been arranged with Ireland's Coast League Stars. Dick Egan, Cincinnati's great second baseman, will play shortstop for the stars. Following is the lineup for February 22:

San Leandro—Peterson, pitcher; Westpal, catcher; C. F. Zamloch, first base; E. Murphy, second base; W. Orr, third base; P. Merritt, shortstop; C. E. Zamloch, left field; J. Cooper, center field; D. Houghton, right field; Hollis and Christenson, subs.

TURRET GALLOPS OVER FIELD IN DERBY TRIAL

By LEI DEMIER.

In spite of the heavy morning rain the track was good, fast time being made in all six races. The running of the Derby Trial attracted a large crowd to the Oakland track yesterday. A field of ten of the best three year old [illegible] the post at [illegible] call. Miss [illegible] declining the issue at the last minute and was excused from taking part.

After the good drubbing by the layers the day before, the public got in their stride and connected with them on several first and second choices which caught the judge's eye during the afternoon's sport.

The Derby Trial was the fourth race on the card and Turret was made the top heavy favorite, being backed with confidence from even money to 4 to 5 and the money still poured in on the chances of the Cunard gelding until well after post time. Starter Holtman, on account of Starter Richard Dwyer taking sick just before the race, dispatched the field away to a perfect start. Turret came from far behind his field, made up ground quickly and catching the leaders in the run for home breezed over them as if they were all tied, winning with his mouth wide open. Chester Krum lay up close all the way and got up in time to beat out the tiring Dal Coni. The latter set the pace until the stretch turn and was all in at the finish. Virgie Casse, which was touted by the smart set to be the one [illegible] one, ran a very disappointing race, showing little or no speed in any part of the journey.

El Molino, which ruled favorite the other day, won the day's opener as his rider pleased. The gelding jumped to the front at the rise of the gate and held his field safe all the way. Rustling Silk, which had been played on several occasions for the real thing, lay off the early pace, came on when ready and was an easy second from Beda. Duke of Milan, who has been breaking watches in his morning workouts, was installed favorite, got off with the leaders but on entering the last turn he waved the distress signal and fell back beaten.

The best race of the day's sport was the close finish between Radation and No Quarter in the second race. Through the masterly ride of Jockey Taplin the followers of H. G. Bedwell cashed their bets on the bird with sharp claws. Radation [illegible] gradually [illegible] on the last turn and [illegible] yards from the [illegible] out an E. Smith [illegible] getting the verdict by a nose. [illegible] the [illegible] for third money. [illegible] in the [illegible] Jockey Taplin [illegible] up again in the third race [illegible] desperado in a [illegible] over the [illegible] eighth affair. He [illegible] the Mackenzie [illegible] behind the leaders [illegible] first part and [illegible] quickly at the [illegible] there on it was [illegible] winning with plenty of daylight between him and French Cook. The latter bumped Sir John at the start, throwing him off his stride, but Walsh nursed him along and got up in plenty of time to beat out Ask Ali Ben for the small end of the purse. Silk Spring had all the early speed but played it up in the final strides.

The short end players were again in line when [illegible] crossed the plate a winner at [illegible] of [illegible] who had the leg up on [illegible] went up and claimed [illegible] on [illegible] whom he claimed [illegible] in the early stages of the running. The claim was not allowed but later Mat Reis, rider, was fined $50 for [illegible] this field by the judges. Peggy O'Neil which had Jockey Johnson on her back staggered in third. There were several good things in the race but none of them could get near the winner.

Jockey Page broke the hoodoo on Phil Mohr, the winner of the closing race. The gelding broke well [illegible] far out of it [illegible] He came from many lengths back and [illegible] getting through and just got up to get the decision from Independent. The latter ran a much improved race showing a world of speed. Babe Neely, which met with bad racing luck the other day, held on long enough to be third. Kid North, which was played for solid amounts, got off very badly but ran a smart race.

"Rod" Mackenzie and his Canadian following did not wager on Desperado, but strung with Sir John.

"Canada" Jack Adkins is as busy as a hunting dog trying to get tops for Rod Mackenzie.

Rowing at Columbia In Danger of Dying

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Rowing at Columbia University is in jeopardy. Only the pleading of the president and many of the undergraduate crews prevented the athletic supervisors from abolishing the sport at their last meeting.

Because of lack of interest it has been threatened to place a ban on the sport. But the statement of the crew officers that they hoped to bring out a creditable number of men for crew work before the end of February prevailed and after a conference it has been announced that the aquatic sport has been put on two weeks probation.

Then if the interest displayed is not sufficient Columbia will withdraw from the intercollegiate regatta and rowing will follow the path of football as a thing of the past at Columbia.

whether you take treatment or not. I want every one afflicted to come to my office, where I will explain to them my method of curing these diseases. I invite in particular all those who become dissatisfied with treatment elsewhere. I will explain to you why you have not been cured and will demonstrate to your entire satisfaction why I can cure you safely, quickly and permanently. My counsel will cost you nothing, and my charge for a perfect cure will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred. I will do by you as I would want you to do by me if our cases were reversed.
I CURE VARICOCELE, LOST VITALITY, BLOOD POISON, STRICTURE, SKIN DISEASES, SORES, HYDROCELE, SPERMATORRHOEA, LOSSES, DRAINS, LOST VIGOR, PILES AND DISEASES OF BLADDER, KIDNEYS AND PROSTATE GLAND

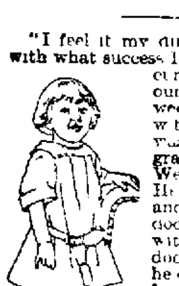
A SINGLE SET OF CUTICURA CURED HIM



"I feel it my duty to let you know with what success I have used the Cuticura Remedies. When our baby was seven weeks old he broke out with what we thought was heat but which gradually grew worse. We called in a doctor. He said it was eczema and from that time we doctored six months with three of the best doctors in Atchison but he only grew worse. His face, head and hands were a [illegible] [illegible] was no [illegible] the suffering for him. We had to tie his little hands to keep him from scratching. He never knew what it was to sleep well from the time he took the disease until he was cured. He kept us awake all hours in the night and his health was not what you would call good. We tried everything but the right thing. Finally I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies and am pleased to say we did not use all of them until he was cured. We have waited a year and a half to see if it would return but it never has and today his skin is clear and fair as it possibly could be. I hope Cuticura may save some one else's little ones suffering and also their pocket books. John Leason, 1403 Atchison St, Atchison, Kan, Oct 19 1909."

Oregon Judge Warns Divorce Law Breakers

PORTLAND, Or, Feb 19.—Presiding Judge Morrow of the Oregon Circuit Court issued a declaration of war against all divorced persons who enter the married state again before the expiration of six months provided for in the law. He states that the law is being defied by many divorced couples. It is his intention to put an end to the practice and to prosecute for contempt of court the first lawbreaker who is brought to his attention.

I have a blacklist already in process of preparation," says Judge Morrow, "[illegible] several who have recently broken the law in this respect. At the head of the list is the name of Ben Holladay. He was divorced in this court only a few weeks ago and directly afterward he went to San Francisco and was there married again. CHANGES MADE IN ELECTRICAL FORCE

General Shake-up Is Made by the McCarthy Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 19.—The promised reorganization of the Department of Electricity took place yesterday at the meeting of the joint boards of Fire and Police Commissioners. Chief W R Hewitt was dropped as head of the department and made chief operator.

W H Urm was appointed his successor as chief electrician with the $250 salary.

Other new appointments were made as follows:

George M Fisk, chief inspector, $150; E C Loomis, assistant chief inspector, $1[illegible]; [illegible] Murdock, foreman wireman, $1[illegible]; B Altmann, foreman of fire alarm construction, $135; J R Smith, wireman, $11[illegible]; [illegible] Elkins, hostler teamster, $[illegible]; Laura McDonald, telephone operator, $[illegible]; Miss Alward, relief telephone operator, $80.

Miss McDonald succeeded Cecile Sol[illegible] [illegible] dropped from the roll. Josephine Vincent and Ethel Clancy, also telephone operators, were reappointed to their positions, while John Quinn was also retained in his place as helper-messenger.

The position of assistant chief electrician was abolished, the incumbent Arthur Kempston being replaced in his former position of inspector.

The following eleven civil service employes [illegible] special [illegible] as follows: Archie Thomp[illegible] [illegible] to be assistant foreman; Harry P [illegible] instrument maker; [illegible] shop foreman; [illegible] Haskell and [illegible] Douglass, linemen, to be wiremen; J I C [illegible] lineman, to be overhead inspector; J H Blakely, operator, to be repairer; Charles Allen, [illegible] operator, to be underground engineer; [illegible] inspector to be operator; [illegible] clerk and W W Sullivan lineman were ordered dropped from the [illegible] active employes.

As the result of the reorganization of the working force a net saving of $[illegible] a month in salary expenses will be effected.

Would Establish U. S. Employment Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb 19.—Employment for the unemployed is the subject of a bill that has been introduced by Representative Garner of Pennsylvania who proposes through the medium of the post office department to bring the employer and the employe in touch so that the labor market may be normal at all times.

He proposes to authorize postmaster general to establish in the department and in every post office in the United States an information labor officer whose duty it shall be to supply daily to employers lists of persons wanting work and to the latter lists of employers wanting laborers.

Each county seat is to be a distributing center for the county in which it is located, applications for labor and for laborers being sent from there daily to all points in the county.

INVESTORS IN EUCALYPTUS LANDS.

An unsurpassed opportunity to secure from twenty-five acres up of eucalyptus in the famous Santa Maria Valley, where the fertile soil and its proximity to the coast make ideal conditions for the growth of these trees.

The first year you plant the trees, the second and third years you care for them, the fourth year you pay one-fourth of the purchase price of the land and one-fourth each succeeding year for three years. The land is limited to a few hundred acres in quantity and first come first served. A snap like this has never before been offered in California.

Get in on the ground floor and secure a grove worth while for little money.

STOCK MARKET IS WEAK AT CLOSING

Prices Go Downward and Earlier Gains Are Mostly Wiped Out.

NEW YORK Feb 19—The opening stock market today showed some hesitation under the influence of lower prices for Americans in the London market Changes here were mixed and generally restricted to small fractions United States Rubber advanced 1½ and Erie first preferred and Colorado Fuel large fractions

Active trading for Union Pacific and United States Steel imparted a strong tone to the whole market and prices advanced except for Reading which met enough stock to keep it close to yesterday's last price The trunk lines stocks followed up their rise of yesterday

The market sold off a fraction later United States Steel was run up 1¼ and Union Pacific touched 189⅜ The market closed weak The realizing movement which forced Reading 2½ under last night turned prices downward Earlier gains were mostly wiped out Southern Pacific the Union Pacific stocks St Paul Rock Island and Atchison lost 1 to 1⅜

Cotton Market Once More in a Turmoil

NEW ORLEANS Feb 19—Cotton futures took another marked slump shortly before 11 o clock this morning and broke about $2 20 a bale below the close of yesterday

NEW YORK Feb 19—Cotton—Liverpool due 3 lower on October and 6½ to 7 lower on other months Opened irregular at 8 to 11 lower closed easy at a net decline of 1⅛ to 18½ on near and 16 to 17 on late months Spot cotton quiet 21 lower at 7 89d Sales 5000 American 4000

Port receipts estimated today 8000 last week 9443 last year 14 984

Brought into sight for week 145 939 against 220 325 last year in sight to date 8 400 000 against 10 780 068 last year Northern spinners takings 1 593 393 against 1 950 314 Spinners takings American for the week 29 812 against 314 576 last year Takings to date 6 457 185 against 7 365 172

Austin Tex reports no indication of increased acreage in Texas in fact a far greater acreage will go into small grain and feedstuffs and only the new acreage will prevent a decrease in cotton Weather will be generally fair today and tomorrow over the cotton belt except unsettled west Texas Temperature will rise slowly

Journal of Commerce says The market is more interested in the March and May situation just now than in anything else It is recognized that May offers an opportunity to squeeze the shorts because cotton cannot be bought in the South and delivered here except at a very great loss At the same time the market seems to take it for granted that the spot interests will protect the May shorts instead of taking their money There is a long interest in March that will undoubtedly receive the cotton

NEW YORK Feb 19—The cotton market was almost as excited and demoralized at the opening today as it was during the break of last January in consequence of the sensational decline in the Liverpool market before the American markets opened for business

The market started weak at the decline of 10 @30 points with May contracts selling down to 14 16c or nearly a cent a pound below the recent high level under heavy liquidation and stop loss orders

The big break in prices forced further extensive liquidation with May contracts touching 14 04c

A rally of 10 or 12 points occurred in the last few minutes and the closing tone was steady at a decline of 15@35 points with May quoted at 14 19c

Today's liquidation is believed in local circles to have represented the holdings of large interests which had been partly carried over from the break of last January and partly accumulated since May sold at 13 50c during the middle of last month

WHEAT EASIER ON HEAVY OFFERINGS

Market Opened Steady to Firm But Later Sagged Prices Going Lower.

CHICAGO Feb 19 Initial firmness in the wheat pit today was displayed by an easier tone in the first hour as a result of increased offerings Opening prices were generally steady to ¼ up but the subsequent sag May fell off from $1 13½ to $1 13@1 13⅛ Crop damage reports made their appearance again but failed to prevent the decline May opened at $1 13¼ to $1 [illegible] up

The market dragged still lower in the first half of the session May touching bottom at $1 12⅞@1 12⅞ Those who sought to cover at that point found little wheat for sale and a brisk demand set in which carried prices up from 1⅛ to 1⅜c The close was strong at near the top with May at $1 14@1 14¼ 1c higher than yesterday

Quantities of long corn were thrown into the pit shortly after the opening and caused a decline of from ⅛c to ¼c A poor cash demand added to the heaviness of the market May fell off from 66⅝c to 66 c in the first hour Opening figures for May were 66½@66⅝c a shade to ⅛c up

The late strength in wheat gave an upward trend to corn prices in which all the futures joined May traveling up from 66⅛c to 66⅝@66⅞c The close was strong near the high point with May at 66¾c ⅛@¼ higher than yesterday

Trade in oats was of small volume bearish sentiment ruling Opening prices for May were 47⅜@47½c unchanged to a shade lower

Realizing sales in the provisions pit coupled with a slight decline in hogs gave an easier tone to the market Opening prices for May were Pork $23 67 lard $12 72½ ribs $12 42½

The closing quotations were as follows

Wheat May $1 14@1 14⅛ July $1 04⅝ September $1 00¼@1 00⅜

Corn—May 66¾c July 67⅝@67¾c September 67⅝@67¾c

CHICAGO Feb 19—Gossip on wheat last night inclined to the bear side but there were a few large traders who expressed rather bullish views although they said that prices might go a little lower The market has had a two days break with May off 2¼c and July 1⅜c from the top point of Thursday With the public buying extensively on crop damage reports the large traders believe that the market is not going all to pieces until crop reports improve Reports from Kansas City said that commission houses there were filled with buyers who were reporting severe crop damage One of the largest traders in St Louis said that he was buying wheat on crop damage and reminded his friends here that July wheat sold at about $1 30 last year on crop damage and prospects were just as good for injury this year It was said that a good part of the Lewis wheat went overboard here and in Minneapolis early and was probably taken back on the losing break It was also the gossip that Patten Milliken of St Louis and a number of local traders bought July on the break and a few of them took May The short interest has been increased by the break

Corn bulls said that heaviness of the cash market disappointed them and that until liquidation in May corn was over and there are indications of a permanent falling off in receipts and an improvement in cash demand they did not advise purchases The bears were very radical last night and said that lower prices were pending and that the only thing that would save the market was the disposition on the part of the pit element to oversell There was a good many lines of short corn put out on the break It was said that Clement Curtis bought over one million July and Barrell bought about one million May and July Bartlett Patten's selling was estimated by pit traders at over one million Those who have been most bullish took profits early advising their clients to do so as they might have an opportunity to get their corn back lower —Inter Ocean

AN AFFIDAVIT THAT SWOPE WAS NOT MARRIED

Declares That Mother Married Deceased Before the Civil War.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 19. — When Elmer Swope of Martinsville, West Virginia, who asserts he is a son of the late Thomas H. Swope, whose death is under investigation by a grand jury in this city, appears in Kansas City to press his claims to the Swope fortune, he will be confronted with an affidavit sworn to in 1895 by the late philanthropist in which he states he never married.

This document was unearthed yesterday evening in the records of the Title & Savings Trust by an attorney for the Swope estate. It is properly recorded in the office of the registrar of deeds in the Jackson county court house.

It follows:

Book B. 596. Page 21. Thomas H. Swope.

Affidavit, filed 17 June, 1896: State of Missouri, County of Jackson ss.:

Thomas H. Swope, of lawful age, on oath, says that he has never been married. Thomas H. Swope.

Commission expires 23d September, 1897.

Elmer Swope asserts he is a son of Thomas H. Swope. He declares that his mother married the Kansas City philanthropist shortly before the civil war. This affidavit, the Swope attorneys say, will effectively disprove any claim of relationship he might make.

KIDNEYS WILL BE REGULATED

Pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out feeling and many other symptoms of clogged, inactive kidneys simply vanish.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder or urinary disorder, or feel rheumatism coming, begin taking this harmless remedy, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a 50-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the out-of-order kidneys, bladder and urinary system, cleaning, healing and strengthening these organs and glands, and completes the cure before you realize it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

SUICIDE'S LAST REQUEST IS "PUT MY PICTURE IN"

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 19.—"I am tired of living. After I am gone, please put my picture in the paper. I am a deserter out of the army. My right name is Lyle Commerse of Louisville, Ky. I have a mother and five sisters in my home town. Good bye.

(Signed) "HARRY SULLIVAN."

"P. S.—Don't forget to put my picture in the paper."

Leaving this letter and his photograph on a post card, Lyle Commerse of Louisville, Ky., committed suicide here by taking carbolic acid. Commerse was noticed by a patrolman acting in a peculiar manner, and thinking him a highwayman, ordered the man to halt. Instead, Commerse ran a few rods, and darted into a saloon. Going to the lavatory, he drank the contents of a two-ounce bottle of carbolic acid.

The patrolman was in close pursuit, but by the time he could summon aid, the man was too far gone to be revived.

MYSTERIOUS GIRL CAUSES DOWNFALL

George M. Peper, Arrested in East, May Face Charges in Oakland.

George M. Piper, former well-known hardware salesman of this city, and dean of the knights of the "iron grip" on this coast, was arrested in Hartford, Conn., yesterday, while the local police were preparing to scatter circulars bearing his description broadcast, in the hope of apprehending him.

Piper's downfall, which has taken the form of a series of spurious checks issued both here and in other cities, is said to be traceable to a mysterious blond woman with whom he has been touring the country for some months past. During his last visit here he cashed a number of his checks, using his former friends who, knowing of his sterling reputation as a business man, willingly advanced large sums on the worthless bids of paper.

Among the most notable of Piper's victims in this city was Mayor Frank K. Mott, who had known the salesman when he was in the hardware business here. Piper cashed a $300 check with the Mayor and the paper was returned marked worthless. The Smith Hardware Company also cashed one of the checks for several hundred dollars.

Chief of Police Wilson is in receipt of the information that there is a charge pending against Piper in Hartford and he has requested the officials there that if they failed to convict him to hold him for extradition to this city.

Piper is 50 years of age and has a wife and family. The blonde with whom it is said he has been traveling back and forth across the continent is many years his junior. To satisfy her whims the man has sacrificed the friendship of which he was once so proud and the reputation for stability which he formerly enjoyed.

John D. Spreckels Is Sustained by Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19. — Probate Judge J. V. Coffey yesterday afternoon issued a formal order sustaining the demurrer of John D. and Adolph B. Spreckels in their suit against their brother, Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels, to have the will of Claus Spreckels declared void because of its trust feature to convey real property.

The order is the sequel to the decision of Judge Coffey rendered on last Tuesday and ends the controversy so far as the court is concerned until Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels take some step to have the order set aside.

Attorney W. I. Brobeck was present in court on behalf of John D. and Adolph B. Spreckels while Cushing & Cushing were there for the other two brothers. The later attorneys made a number of objections to the order but they were overruled.

There were no indications yesterday of when the will of Mrs. Annie C. Spreckels will be filed for probate by Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels as her executors.

The fact that the latter two sons aided the mother in forming the San Christiana Investment Company about a year ago and to which she deeded all of her real property, amounting to about $4,000,000, continues to make lawyers think that Rudolph and Claus A. Spreckels and their sister, Mrs. John Ferris, received during the lifetime of their mother, deeds from the investment company for equal shares of the realty, and that so far as the latter part of the estate is concerned it will be but confirmatory of these transactions. If this turns out to be correct, it will plainly show in the opinion of members of the bar that the two brothers and sister in connection with the mother took every possible step to prevent on the death of the mother, the other two sons from sharing in the valuable real estate.

STRUCK BY AUTO.

Frank E. Smith, 63 years of age, residing at 1257 Curtis street, was knocked down by an automobile driven by John Jackson and owned by Dr. F. B. Rudolph last evening about 6 o'clock at the corner of Fourteenth and Washington streets. He sustained lacerations of the shoulder and a sprained wrist, and was treated at the Receiving Hospital. His injuries are not serious.

SON'S WIDOW SUED BY MERCHANT PRINCE

C. S. Benedict Demands Share of $1,000,000 Estate of Former Wife.

DECLARES A STRONGER MIND DICTATED WILL

Hints of Sensational Features Masked Behind the Lawsuit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—An estate valued at $1,000,000 is the bone of contention and his daughter-in-law is the defendant in an action brought by Courtland S. Benedict, pioneer merchant and banker, to break the will of his son, the late Egbert J. Benedict, who died in this city on February 3.

Undue influence exerted upon his son's mind, weakened to incompetency by excessive use of intoxicants, is the chief allegation of the elder Benedict's complaint. Mrs. Benedict, it is declared, will fight unyieldingly against her father-in-law's attack.

COUNTS OF BILL.

Egbert J. Benedict, according to the complaint, was joint heir with his father of the estate of his mother, the late Sophie Judson Benedict, daughter of James Judson and niece of Egbert Judson, founder of the Judson Chemical Works. It is alleged that for reasons not set forth in the complaint the father turned his share of the estate over to his son, who was married in 1905 to Emily W. Gilson. The father has also married again.

When the will was read following Egbert Benedict's death two weeks ago it was found that his widow was named as the sole heir and was appointed administratrix. As one of the heirs to the original bequest from his deceased wife, Courtland Benedict asserts he is entitled to a share of the son's estate, and he has brought the suit on this contention. Young Benedict, it is alleged, drank to excess, was irresponsible and was swayed by strange influence, exercised by his wife, to omit his father from the will.

SWAYED BY OTHERS.

The complainant founded the Hastings Clothing Company and is a director in the San Francisco National Bank and the Western National Bank. Attorney Sullivan makes the following statement of the case:

"Young Benedict's mother died in 1904. The following year he was married to a woman fifteen years older than himself, and now at his death she is named as his sole heir, and his father, to whom part of the estate rightfully belongs, is ignored. We can prove that he was not in full possession of his faculties and was moved by a stronger will to do this."

INCOME OF ESTATE.

The defendant daughter-in-law, who has apartments at the Fairmont, had the following to say concerning the action of the elder Benedict:

"My husband inherited his estate solely from his mother," declared Mrs. Benedict, who was on the verge of tears during the interview. "My husband and I loved each other devotedly. It has been but ten days since he was buried, and I have not let my mind dwell on business affairs, but only on his memory.

"The filing of this suit is a surprising blow to me, for my husband's father and I have always been on the best of terms and he always professed the highest regard for me."

THE OTHER WIFE.

In response to the question as to whether the wife of the elder Benedict was on friendly terms with her the widow of the son avoided making direct answer.

"That is a point I would rather not discuss," she replied. "I know there will be false witnesses and that I shall not be fairly treated, but I am resolved to do what is right in this matter—to do what is right as my conscience dictates and as I know my husband would have wished. What hurts me most is the indignity thrust upon my husband's memory by maligning, slanderous stories."

Mrs. Benedict, who is a dark-eyed, dark-haired, prepossessing woman of middle age, has been prominent in social circles and has taken an active part in charitable work during recent years.

Goodfellow Ranches Sold to Southern Man

FRESNO, Feb. 19. — Two tracts of land in Fresno county, aggregating 2634 acres, two and a half miles southwest of Firebaugh, have been purchased by J. H. Bohun of Los Angeles from W. S. Goodfellow and Charles P. Ellis of San Francisco. One tract, containing 7714 acres, and the largest under single ownership in that section, was sold for $170,368, and the other brought $28,800. The purchaser immediately transferred a half interest in both to W. H. Joyce of the southern city.

All the land is level, adapted to the cultivation of grapes, alfalfa, citrus fruits and grain and has an abundance of water. It is to be subdivided and highly developed.

Harmon May Become Democratic Nominee

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—"Governor Judson Harmon will be the next Democratic nominee for President and Governor Marshall of Indiana will probably occupy the second place on the ticket."

This is the forecast of Colonel John W. Tomlinson of Birmingham, Ala., who is now in New York. Colonel Tomlinson is a member of the Democratic National Committee.

"I don't think Bryan will be a candidate," continued Colonel Tomlinson, "although of course he has to be taken into account. Neither is Mayor Gaynor a probable candidate."

Dunnigan Boasts of Having Giant Citizen

WOODLAND, Feb. 19. — Dunnigan, a little railroad town north of Woodland, has at last attained distinction. It is the home of the tallest man in California, outside of a circus or museum. He is J. C. Harrison, the station agent for the Southern Pacific Company at that point, and he stands seven feet two inches in his stocking feet. He arrived recently from his former home in an Eastern State and is accompanied by his wife. He is built on the plan of James J. Jeffries, but is more massive, and presents a rather formidable appearance. He will probably not be frequently transferred by the Southern Pacific, as there is too much remodeling necessary, to make an office fit him.
